Fidel Raps Top Communist For Creating Chaos

Hits Personal Aims

Castro charged that Escalante, a top planner in Cuba's march toward communism, had sought through personal ambition to model Cuba's new monolithic political party along his own sectarian lines.

The Cuban leader denounced his Communist aide in a radio-television address to the nation before a considerable number of ranking government members in the studio audience.

Castro did not specify that Escalante had been dismissed from his top posts but indicated he had, saying: "We have come to explain the separation of this companion whom we consider culpable."

Escalante, 53, founder and former editor of the Communist newspaper Hoy, only two weeks ago was named to the 25-member national directorate of the Integrated Revolutionary Organizations—ORI.

Abused Confidence

Last year he was given the job of welding all Cuban organizations, including Castro's 26th of July Movement and the Popular Socialist (Communist) party, into a single party to be known as the United Party of the Socialist Revolution.

It was in carrying out this task, Castro charged, that Escalante "abused the confidence entrusted in him and tried to create an apparatus to pursue personal ends."

Castro again denounced the so-called personality cult. He charged that Escalante had much to do with fostering a spirit of sectarianism which, Castro said, has led many to believe that the only ones who can be given important posts are "the old and militant revolutionaries."

"The boastfulness of the old Communist militants and the belief that those revolutionaries who don't belong to them are not able to occupy important posts is an

Rusk, Gromyko Aim To Avoid Berlin War

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko announced in a joint statement today that their Geneva talks have uncovered some points of agreement as well as of differences over Berlin.

It was understood from American sources that one of the points of agreement is that neither side wants to become involved in a war over Berlin. But neither side, it was reported, made a change in major policy.

Leave for Washington

The statement was issued just before Rusk and leading members of the American delegation took a plane for Washington to report to President Kennedy that the Berlin dispute remains highly dangerous though unlikely to explode in the foreseeable future.

Canadian Foreign Secretary Howard Green submitted a draft declaration to the 17-nation disarmament conference calling for action by no later than Wednesday on outlawing weapons of mass destruction from outer space.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has claimed that Russian scientists have created a global rocket invulnerable to antimissile defenses that can evade American radar detection installations by attacking from any direction.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union in their proposed disarmament plans included provisions reserving outer space for peaceful purposes.

Must Give Notice

Under Green's declaration the orbiting or stationing in outer space of devices for delivering weapons of mass destruction would be prohibited.

A nation would also be obliged to give advance notice to the United Nations of the launching of space vehicles and missiles.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home gave strong support to the Canadian proposal. He then left for home, but said he would come back any time his presence is needed.

Rusk and Gromyko in their joint statement on their Berlin talks said they had made some progress in clarifying points of agreement as well as points of difference. They added that they agreed to "resume contact in an appropriate way" after reporting to their governments and consulting allies. These discussions are expected to continue through ambassadors in Moscow and Washington.

Rusk and Gromyko did apparently give each other the impression, however, that each believes it is important to continue discussing the dispute in order to keep it from getting out of hand.

American informants said that while neither minister gave ground, the talks were profitable. Gromyko reportedly left Rusk in no doubt that the Soviet government presently prefers to continue the discussion rather than force a new crisis. This could lead to a slow easing of East-West tensions over Berlin.

Other foreign ministers who came here two weeks ago to get the 17-nation disarmament conference organized also are leaving this week. Ambassadors and special disarmament negotiators will carry on. U.S. officials estimate the conference will continue for months or even years.

The conference is expected to concentrate first on attempts at accord on limited arms controls that could pave the way for a

Rocky Proceeding On Albany Plan Despite Protest

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Rockefeller administration moved ahead today with a massive plan to take over $20 million worth of property in downtown Albany to make way for state office buildings, despite opposition of the city administration.

The State Commission on the Capital City announced Monday a plan to condemn nearly 100 acres in the heart of downtown Albany and remove the 3,650 buildings on them.

Cites $500,000 Loss

The city protested it would lose $500,000 a year in property taxes if the plan were carried out. A Court fight was promised.

Mayor Erastus Corning II said the huge acquisition was "absolutely unnecessary."

The 40-block area includes 3,300 dwelling units occupied by 6,800 persons and more than 350 business places. It includes an area from the Capitol south to Lincoln Park, and points like a thick finger east to a slum area near the Hudson River a block short of Broadway. On one edge only the Executive Mansion and a Roman Catholic cathedral will remain.

Approved by Commission

Central Office Is Proposed for CS

Kingston's civil service recruiting difficulties are due largely to "inadequate salaries," a recent management survey report issued by the New York State Department of Civil Service reveals.

Rules of the city's Municipal Civil Service Commission, it notes, have been brought up to date, and the local commission, including 150 employes in the school district, now has nearly 550 classified employes under its jurisdiction.

Dissatisfaction with recruitment "on an over-all basis despite the large number of applicants attracted by some examinations," was expressed in the report which also proposed that the city have a centrally located civil service office.

Lists Are Small

"The high incidence of failure on these examinations coupled with few applicants for the others," said the report, have resulted in small eligible lists offering appointing officers a limited field for selection.

The city's most acute recruiting problems, it said, "were encountered in connection with technical water and sewage positions." To meet recruiting difficulties in the water department, the commission has extended recruitment for such positions as reservoir operator and water plant operator to include applicants on a countywide basis.

Activities Reviewed

The report presents findings of a survey of all phases of civil service administration in the city. Facts were presented to the state commission by the Management Survey Unit after a survey made last January. It reviews the local commissions activities since January, 1961. The local commission which had worked some two years on revision of its rules recently completed the project.

A review of nine open-competitive examinations completed since the previous survey indicated the following recruitment patterns:

1. Four examinations; fireman, motor equipment operator water meter reader and weights and measures inspector, attracted 71 candidates ranging from 29 for motor equipment operator to nine for weights and measures inspector.

2. Nearly half the candidates taking the above four examinations failed. The incidence of failure ranged from 80 per cent in the weights and measures inspector examination to approximately 30 per cent in the motor equipment operator examination. However, the lists contained

Many Defy Edict, Everything Quiet

ALGIERS (AP)—A protest strike gripped Algiers today, called by European settlers in mourning for the 41 Europeans killed when French troops fired into a crowd demonstrating in support of the Secret Army Organization.

Public transportation was at a standstill. Most European stores were closed. No newspapers appeared. Banks failed to open. The big outdoor market was silent and deserted. There were reports that electricity would be cut.

130 Others Wounded

Hundreds of Europeans strolled the streets and most of them seemed to head for the street corner in front of the main post office where the shooting broke out Monday. In addition to the 41 settlers killed, about 130 were wounded. Army casualties were one killed and six wounded.

Some strollers placed modest bouquets of flowers on the blood-stains in the streets. Debris still littered the sidewalks. Lost shoes and berets lay untouched. Passing automobiles had turned some blood pools into long streaks of red on the street pavement.

Only a few policemen and soldiers were visible. Reinforcements had been sent in Monday after the secret army called for a demonstration and a march on the encircled suburb of Bab el Oued. Authorities banned the demonstration but the crowds gathered anyway in a gesture of defiance.

Shock Turns to Hatred

The clash appeared to have drastically altered relations between the citizens of Algiers and French troops.

Initial shock turned to hatred among the European inhabitants. Many shook their fists at the soldiers and screamed over and over: "All we want is to remain French"

Spokesmen of the Secret Army Organization, which called the ill-fated demonstration, predicted grimly that President Charles de Gaulle's government "will regret this day." But De Gaulle in a televised speech from Paris warned the secret army it could look forward only to punishment for its campaign to sabotage the cease-fire agreement between France and the Algerian nationalist rebels.

Owen Gets Hard Labor, Pay Cut In Court-Martial

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—A five-officer military court convicted Pfc. Bernis Owen, 23, of Seadrift, Tex., today of disrespect in calling an order of his commanding general a "hilarious climax to a chain of injustices."

Maj. Thomas N. Fuller, president of the special court-martial, announced the decision after a secret ballot which required a two-third majority to convict Owen.

Penalty Considered Heavy

The panel returned from its closed quarters where it considered punishment and handed Owen a sentence of six months at hard labor and loss of two-thirds pay for six months, a heavier penalty than had been expected. The court-martial is subject to appeal and automatic review by a higher Army board.

Capt. Edgar Nash, head of Owen's four-man defense staff, pleaded with the court to consider Owen had a good record and that he had no intent of being malicious.

Blames Newsman

The defense contended Owen told a New Orleans newsman who interviewed him by long distance telephone that the statement could not be used unless the newsman first cleared it with military authorities.

The order banning protest demonstrations, issued last week by Maj. Gen. Harley B. West, commander of the post, followed a series of meetings by several hundred reservists.

The prosecution introduced a signed statement in which Owen acknowledged making critical remarks, but the soldier added the United Press International newsman promised to get the comment cleared by military authorities.

Says He Gave Warning

Legislature to Act Wednesday

Added $2.5 Million Asked for Schools

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Eleventh-hour changes added another $2.5 million today to the Diefendorf plan for increasing state aid to education. The plan is scheduled to begin moving through the Legislature Wednesday.

Action on the education program, which will mean an additional, $231.6 million a year in school aid, is scheduled as the finale of the 1962 Legislature. The session is expected to end by Friday.

Takes in 3-Year Span

The school plan would take effect over the next three years, raising total state aid to schools to more than $1 billion by the 1965-66 school year. There would be an increase of $116 million in in the first year, beginning this September.

The $2.5 million-a-year extra agreed upon Monday was the result of a decision to guarantee all sckool districts an increase of at least 7 per cent, compared with the minimum of 5 per cent contemplated originally.

Mostly for Upstate

Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino said the $2.5 million would go mostly to Upstate central school districts.

Approval of the Diefendorf plan by an overwhelming and probably unanimous vote is expected when it reaches the floor.

The Legislature has an extensive workload remaining, in addition to school aid. Calendars contain hundreds of bills, including several controversial ones.

Debates Last Long

The Assembly failed to complete its agenda last night because of prolonged debate on several bills, including one that would have denied unemployment insurance to persons who had retired voluntarily and were receiving pensions. The measure was defeated after Democrats attacked the measure as unfair to retired persons who wanted to remain in the labor market.

The Republican sponsor, R. Watson Pomeroy of Dutchess County, said that employers should not be taxed to pay jobless benefits to persons who had no intention of ever working again. The benefits are designed to support workers who have lost one job and are seeking another.

After that and other debates, Carlino told the members that there had been "extended and uncessary debate" in the last two weeks.

He recommended that assemblymen exercise "some measure of restraint" in debate if they wanted to meet the adjournment schedule this week.

Supervisor Group Plans to Publish Factual Brochure

The preparation and publication of an 85-page informational and industrial brochure about Ulster County has been announced today as a project of the Industrial Development Committee of Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

The brochure consisting of 16 phases will outline pertinent information about the county including industrial land available, population figures, water sources, all types of facilities, and tax rates. Listing of industrial sites will be in a later edition.

A spokesman for the committee said that 85 per cent of the information for the brochure has been compiled. Each of the 20 town supervisors were sent forms on which they could list available industrial sites and available industrial buildings.

Food Concern Replies

The committee also announced that it has received a reply to its letter sent in February to General Foods Corp., White

GE Workers Are Back on Jobs at Syracuse Plants

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Workers at General Electric Co. plants here returned to their jobs today after a one-day walkout a union claimed as a protest over grievances.

GE said, however, that grievances were an "excuse" for the walkout, which followed the firing of the union business agent.

GE and the International Union of Electrical Workers also disagreed on the number of employes who struck.

The company said about 2,700 of 5,200 employes failed to return from a noon break Monday.

John Stanley, business agent of Local 320, claimed that 3,500 to 4,000 went out.

The company said Monday night that 450 of 750 second-shift workers also did not return from lunch.

Stanley, fired by GE Thursday for alleged disloyalty to the company, said many non-union employes as well as union members left their jobs. The local claims about 4,500 members.

A GE spokesman said he could not verify whether any non-union employes participated.

Stanley predicted Monday that the walkout would probably last only one day. He insisted the strike had absolutely nothing to do with his discharge.

The company said six grievances, dealing with job classification, "obviously were saved up until it suited Mr. Stanley's purposes...."

Stanley was fired from his part-time job as an assembler after he published in the union local's newspaper what GE called "unfounded accustations damaging the reputation of the company and its products."

Gambling Raids Net 48 in Westchester

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—A task force of more than 170 state and county law-enforcement officers has struck at 41 locations in Westchester County in what an official describes as the biggest gambling crackdown in the country's history.

Records Note Multi-Operation

In raids Monday that touched at 10 communities in the county, a New York City suburban area, the officers arrested 48 persons, confiscated $12,000 cash and found records indicating a multi-million-dollar operation in bookmaking, the numbers game and a baseball pool.

Despite elaborate safeguards to maintain secrecy, the raiders found five New Rochelle locations deserted when they arrived. State Investigation Commissioner Myles J. Lane declared: "It looks as though there was a leak."

The raiders moved into position during the morning and began their sweep at 12:30 p.m. They hit barber shops, candy stores, private homes, restaurants, tailor shops, diners and shoe repair shops.

Six-Month Probe

Dist. Atty. Leonard A. Rubenfeld called the crackdown the largest ever mounted in the county. He said it resulted from a six-month investigation and was aimed against "organized gambling" syndicates.

Rubenfeld said the communities involved were Greenburgh, Mount Vernon, Ossining, Peekskill, Port Chester, Mamaroneck, New Rochelle, North Tarrytown, White Plains and Yonkers.

A similar commission-led raid was conducted in 1959 in more than 20 central New York counties.

EN ROUTE TO COURT MARTIAL—Pfc. Bernis Owen, 23, is flanked by military men as he walks toward court building at Fort Polk, La., for his court martial. Charged with disrespect, conduct bringing discredit to the armed forces and conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline, Owen, a reservist from Seadrift, Texas, was sentenced to hard labor for six months and a two-thirds pay-cut for that period. GOP Moves to Add 11

Judges' Bill Bogged By Partisan Dispute

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Judicial Conference's plan for 38 additional state and county court judges remained dead today, but Republicans moved to increase judicial manpower on a piecemeal basis.

The conference, which is the administrative agency of the state court system, has said its entire bill must be passed if crowded court calendars were to be cleared.

23 Would Go to N.Y.C.

The bill, however, was bogged down in a partisan dispute over who would occupy the new judicial posts.

The conference bill calls for 31 additional State Supreme Court justices and 7 additional county court judges. Seventeen of the Supreme Court and 6 of the County Court posts would go to New York City.

Robert F. Wagner, Democratic mayor of New York City, has refused to participate in the political trading that has been traditional when judgeships are created. Republicans, who control the Legislature, insist on such trading before authorizing judgeships because, otherwise, no Republican could be elected to court posts in heavily Democratic New York City.

Goes to Assembly

Republicans in the Senate, meanwhile, passed legislation to add 11 Supreme Court justices in the 10th judicial district—Nassau and Suffolk counties. The vote was along party lines, 33 Republicans to 25 Democrats. The measure was sent to the Assembly.

Supervisor Group Plans to Publish Factual Brochure

The preparation and publication of an 85-page informational and industrial brochure about Ulster County has been announced today as a project of the Industrial Development Committee of Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

The brochure consisting of 16 phases will outline pertinent information about the county including industrial land available, population figures, water sources, all types of facilities, and tax rates. Listing of industrial sites will be in a later edition.

A spokesman for the committee said that 85 per cent of the information for the brochure has been compiled. Each of the 20 town supervisors were sent forms on which they could list available industrial sites and available industrial buildings.

Food Concern Replies

The committee also announced that it has received a reply to its letter sent in February to General Foods Corp., White

GE Workers Are Back on Jobs at Syracuse Plants

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Workers at General Electric Co. plants here returned to their jobs today after a one-day walkout a union claimed as a protest over grievances.

GE said, however, that grievances were an "excuse" for the walkout, which followed the firing of the union business agent.

GE and the International Union of Electrical Workers also disagreed on the number of employes who struck.

The company said about 2,700 of 5,200 employes failed to return from a noon break Monday.

John Stanley, business agent of Local 320, claimed that 3,500 to 4,000 went out.

The company said Monday night that 450 of 750 second-shift workers also did not return from lunch.

Stanley, fired by GE Thursday for alleged disloyalty to the company, said many non-union employes as well as union members left their jobs. The local claims about 4,500 members.

A GE spokesman said he could not verify whether any non-union employes participated.

Stanley predicted Monday that the walkout would probably last only one day. He insisted the strike had absolutely nothing to do with his discharge.

The company said six grievances, dealing with job classification, "obviously were saved up until it suited Mr. Stanley's purposes...."

Stanley was fired from his part-time job as an assembler after he published in the union local's newspaper what GE called "unfounded accustations damaging the reputation of the company and its products."

Gambling Raids Net 48 in Westchester

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—A task force of more than 170 state and county law-enforcement officers has struck at 41 locations in Westchester County in what an official describes as the biggest gambling crackdown in the country's history.

Records Note Multi-Operation

In raids Monday that touched at 10 communities in the county, a New York City suburban area, the officers arrested 48 persons, confiscated $12,000 cash and found records indicating a multi-million-dollar operation in bookmaking, the numbers game and a baseball pool.

Despite elaborate safeguards to maintain secrecy, the raiders found five New Rochelle locations deserted when they arrived. State Investigation Commissioner Myles J. Lane declared: "It looks as though there was a leak."

The raiders moved into position during the morning and began their sweep at 12:30 p.m. They hit barber shops, candy stores, private homes, restaurants, tailor shops, diners and shoe repair shops.

Six-Month Probe

Dist. Atty. Leonard A. Rubenfeld called the crackdown the largest ever mounted in the county. He said it resulted from a six-month investigation and was aimed against "organized gambling" syndicates.

Rubenfeld said the communities involved were Greenburgh, Mount Vernon, Ossining, Peekskill, Port Chester, Mamaroneck, New Rochelle, North Tarrytown, White Plains and Yonkers.

A similar commission-led raid was conducted in 1959 in more than 20 central New York counties.

EN ROUTE TO COURT MARTIAL—Pfc. Bernis Owen, 23, is flanked by military men as he walks toward court building at Fort Polk, La., for his court martial. Charged with disrespect, conduct bringing discredit to the armed forces and conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline, Owen, a reservist from Seadrift, Texas, was sentenced to hard labor for six months and a two-thirds pay-cut for that period. GOP Moves to Add 11

Judges' Bill Bogged By Partisan Dispute

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Judicial Conference's plan for 38 additional state and county court judges remained dead today, but Republicans moved to increase judicial manpower on a piecemeal basis.

The conference, which is the administrative agency of the state court system, has said its entire bill must be passed if crowded court calendars were to be cleared.

23 Would Go to N.Y.C.

The bill, however, was bogged down in a partisan dispute over who would occupy the new judicial posts.

The conference bill calls for 31 additional State Supreme Court justices and 7 additional county court judges. Seventeen of the Supreme Court and 6 of the County Court posts would go to New York City.

Robert F. Wagner, Democratic mayor of New York City, has refused to participate in the political trading that has been traditional when judgeships are created. Republicans, who control the Legislature, insist on such trading before authorizing judgeships because, otherwise, no Republican could be elected to court posts in heavily Democratic New York City.

Goes to Assembly

Republicans in the Senate, meanwhile, passed legislation to add 11 Supreme Court justices in the 10th judicial district—Nassau and Suffolk counties. The vote was along party lines, 33 Republicans to 25 Democrats. The measure was sent to the Assembly.

To Cost $25 Million

Future Looks Bright On Play Expansion, Senate Voting Today

By MICHAEL KEATING

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A $25-million expansion of the state's program for state and local purchases of park and recreation lands was before the Senate today, where its future appeared bright.

The measure, requested by Gov. Rockefeller, was approved, 133-7, by the Assembly Monday. After passage in the Senate and Rockefeller's signature, the proposition would be put before the voters next November.

A $75 million park and recreation land bond issue was approved by the voters in 1960.

While the pace of bill-passing stepped up in the adjournment-bound Legislature, so did the pace of bill-killings in committee and on the floors of the houses.

Killed were measures:

To bar discount houses from selling brand-name merchandise for less than regularly advertised prices.

To prevent use of professional strikebreakers in labor disputes.

To allow employes of non-profit institutions to organize for collective-bargaining purposes.

To prevent persons who retire voluntarily or on pension from collecting unemployment insurance benefits.

These measures were approved:

Automobiles — Police would be required to issue warnings rather than tickets when a motorist was stopped for having improper equipment. The dispensation would not include defective brakes or steering. Passed Assembly, sent to governor.

All vehicles registered in the state after June 30, 1963, would have to be equipped with a device to cut down pollution emissions from crankcases. Passed Assembly, sent to Senate.

Traffic—All communities in the state, except New York City, would have to use uniform traffic-control devices by 1967. Passed Senate, sent to Assembly.

Campaign Literature—All literature circulated during a political campaign would have to carry the name of the person who ordered the printing and the name of the organization represented. The intention is to eliminate anonymous "hate" pamphlets. Passed Senate, sent to Assembly.

X-Rays—Persons who paid for x-rays would acquire ownership of the plates. Passed Assembly, sent to Senate.

Banks—Banks would be able to inaugurate a minimum charge of $2 on loans, when the normal interest would be less than $2. Passed Assembly, sent to governor.

Flags — Legislators would be able to present to educational and civic groups U.S. flags that have flown over the Capitol. Passed Assembly, sent to Senate.

Police and Fire — Consolidation of police and fire departments in communities now having separate units would be prohibited. Consolidation is "false economy," backers say. Passed Senate, sent to Assembly.

Raccoons — Counties would be able to pay bounties on raccoons. Passed Assembly, sent to Senate.

Bids Governor Abolish Boxing

Governor Rockefeller was called upon Monday by Sidney Reitman, Poughkeepsie, chairman of the Dutchess County Liberal party committee, to abolish boxing in New York State.

Reitman made the appeal in a telegram to Governor Rockefeller in the wake of brain injuries suffered Saturday in Madison Square Garden by Benny Paret, who lost the welterweight title to Emile Griffith on a knockout in the 12th round.

Reitman said in the telegram to Rockefeller:

"How many more men will have to die or be maimed for life before we accept the fact that professional boxing is not an arena of sport but one of calculated homicide?"

Reitman urged Rockefeller to "put an end to this brutality by sponsoring legislation outlawing professional boxing."

Lemnitzer Vows Support to Viet For Its Fight

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer said today the United States will "provide whatever is needed" to help South Viet Nam win its fight against the Communists.

The chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff flew here from Thailand for a 2½-day inspection. He will visit most of the areas where there has been heavy fighting in recent weeks between government forces of this Southeast Asian republic and the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas. He also will see President Ngo Dinh Diem.

His fresh assurances of American support for South Viet Nam were in answer to questions by reporters. He said any increases in American aid depends on analyses by Vietnamese and U.S. military assistance officials here.

Owen Gets Hard

ing the call that Owen would face court-martial if the comment were published.

The defense continually objected that MacManus' action in listening to Owen's conversation was illegal and contrary to provisions against revealing wiretap evidence. The court ruled it did not believe an extension telephone was a wiretap device.

MacManus testified, "Owen kept telling him (the newsman) to clear with the PIO (public information officer). He told him at least three times. I told him (Owen) he was subject to court-martial if that was published."

MacManus said Owen followed his instructions, even to repeating to the newsman some things the captain said.

Defense counsel succeeded in striking two of the three counts against Owen on grounds all were for the same offense.

Check Mattress Fire

Firemen checked a mattress fire in the home of Louis Marshall, 50 Sycamore Street, Monday night. A telephone call at 7:51 p. m. was followed by an alarm from Box 2241, East Union and Sycamore Streets. Units from Central and Cornell stations, Cordts, Union and Wicks companies, with Deputy Chief Julius Buchholtz in charge, responded. The mattress was thrown outside from a window.

Reds Ask Asylum

BREMEN, Germany (AP) — Eight East German sailors 21 to 25 years old have jumped ship in this North Sea port and asked West German authorities for political asylum, police reported today.

CLINIC ROOM NEEDS REPAIRS—Mayor John J. Schwenk (R) inspects water damage at Ulster County Association for Mental Health office in the Municipal Building, 27 East O'Reilly Street. Looking on is Mrs. Diana Geiger, executive secretary of the association. Referring to a leaking roof and rotted ceiling, Schwenk, who was elected last November, said he was "shocked and disgusted that such deterioration should be permitted to take place in one of Kingston's public buildings." Alderman Frank C. Sass (D) of the Seventh Ward, chairman of the Common Council Building and Supply Committee blamed the condition on 25 years of neglect.

Dr. O'Reilly Is Named to Dental Job With Welfare

Ulster County Commisioner of Public Welfare Joseph Fitzsimmons, on recommendation of the Ulster-Greene Dental Society, has appointed Dr. Charles O'Reilly as the dental consultant of the Ulster County Welfare Department to fill the vacancy created by the death of Dr. Robert B. Whelan.

Dr. O'Reilly has served the department as a member of the Dental Advisory Committee since 1940.

Dr. O'Reilly was born in Kingston and attended Kingston schools, Catholic University, Washington, D. C.; Columbia University, New York City. He received his degree as Doctor of Dental Surgery from the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa. He was on the dental staff of the Judson Health Center, a philanthropic organization in New York City. Currently he is on the staff of Benedictine Hospital and is past president of the Ulster County Dental Association. He resides and practices at 170 Albany Avenue.

Wife Granted Divorce

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Hugh Dudley Auchincloss Jr., 34, stepbrother of Jacqueline Kennedy, has been divorced.

Alice Lyon Auchincloss charged mental cruelty and obtained a decree in a closed district court hearing Monday. The court approved a property settlement providing for the couple's 3-year-old twins, May Lillalya and Cecil Lyon Auchincloss.

Two Actions Going On Over Fatal Crash in Year '60

Two actions arising out of a fatal automobile accident on Route 17 near New York State Thruway entrance at Suffern on April 16, 1960, are on trial before Justice Ellis J. Staley and jury in Supreme court.

Ione Embree brings an action to recover for the death of her husband, Floyd Embree Jr., 26, who suffered a broken neck and died instantly. Mrs. Embree sues Duane Castellano, owner of the car, and Mrs. Esther Fisher, driver of the car. In a second action Duane Castellano, also known by the surname Hamilton sues Mrs. Fisher.

The accident happened near the Spring Valley ramp when the car crashed into a sign post. At the time it was reported by New Jersey State Police that the car was being pursued by a New Jersey trooper.

At the time of the crash the Castellano car, operated by Mrs. Fisher, then 35, of 11 Broadway, was proceeding north on Route 17 when it reportedly swerved out of control and struck a Thruway sign post.

N. LeVan Haver appears for Mrs. Embree. William P. Curran appears for Costellano in his action against Mrs. Fisher, who is represented by Alfred Schleider. Cook and Cook appear for Castellano as the defendant in the action brought by Mrs. Embree.

The Embree-Castellano action was resumed today at the conclusion of an automobile negligence action brought by Arthur C. Keener against Charles Lither Briggs and another, which was taken up late Monday when the Embree-Castellano action was halted due to absence of a witness.

To Hold Survey At Arlington High About Smoking

Surveys about smoking at Arlington High School will be made by General Organization representatives and school district officials, Donald Nelson, principal, said Monday.

The issue reached a high point Friday when about 30 students stayed outside the school at the end of the noon luncheon period in what they termed a protest strike about a smoking ban.

At a meeting of the GO representatives and Nelson it was brought out that the students prefer some benches be placed outside the school so that students who bring lunches from home may eat outdoors.

The Arlington students want school officials to designate a smoking area on the school grounds.

Principals of Poughkeepsie and Roosevelt High Schools reported that smoking areas have been established at their schools. They said no smoking is permitted in the building at any time.

A Poughkeepsie school official said students are permitted to smoke in an area to the rear of the building on Forbus Street. A Roosevelt High School official said boys are permitted to smoke during the noon hour in an area at the rear of the school. Girls are not permitted to smoke.

The Roosevelt High official said students who smoke must have parental permission.

Arlington school officials said the administration will poll Arlington district parents as to their views on the smoking problem.

Thefts Reported

Theft of a door mat, hub caps and the ransacking of an uptown building were reported to the police Monday and today. The door mat, valued at $20, was reported taken from the entrance of the Herman G. Rafalowsky store, 71 Albany Avenue. William Conway notified police that a building at the rear of 10 Conway Place, used for storage of plumbing supplies and tools, had been entered and ransacked. A safe was reported "not disturbed" but it was thought that some small tools might have been taken. Entrance was reported gained through a rear door. A window was reported broken. Donald Schoonmaker of 88 Elmendorf Street, reported two hub caps stolen from his car.

Po'keepsie UR Voted by Council

Poughkeepsie's first urban renewal project to take in two blocks in the Main Street business district in the vicinity of Market and Washington Streets, was approved by a 9 to 0 vote Monday night at a special meeting of the Common Council.

The Council agreed that landmarks including the Soldier's Fountain near Eastman park would be preserved.

A resolution was passed authorizing City Manager Kenneth Pearce to hire a firm of consultants. Pearce said he expects to employ a firm in the immediate future.

Another resolution, sponsored by the Democratic members of the council, for a proposed low income housing project, with homes no higher than two stories in the Jefferson Street area in downtown Poughkeepsie, was defeated by a party line vote of 5 to 4.

High Food Prices Up Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher prices for foods pushed living costs up three-tenths of one per cent in February to a new record.

It was the first increase in the government's living costs index in six months and the largest increase since last July.

In announcing it today, Robert Myers, deputy commissioner of labor statistics, said however that the increase did not appear to signify a new price uptrend. He forecast continued stability but said March living costs probably also will show some increase.

Anton Otto Fischer

Private Funeral Set for Famous Marine Painter

The funeral of Anton Otto Fischer, 80, well-known marine painter and illustrator, who died suddenly Monday at his home on Glasco Turnpike, Woodstock, will be private.

Born in Munich, Germany, Mr. Fischer was educated at Closter Indersdorf and the Benedictine Monastery at Scheyern. He went to sea at the age of 16 and sailed for the next eight years. After his last voyage which ended in New York, he spent the next three years teaching on the school ship, St. Mary, and working as a hand on Long Island racing yachts.

In 1906, Mr. Fischer went to Paris and studied for two years at the Julien Academy under the direction of Jean Paul Laurens. He returned to the United States in 1908 to begin his career as illustrator and marine painter which he continued until his death.

Was Post Illustrator

In the early days he illustrated for Harper's Weekly and Everybody's Magazine, doing many of the Jack London stories. He was associated with the Saturday Evening Post for over 40 years and was well-known for illustrations of the Glencannon and Tug Boat Annie stories.

During World War II he was commissioned as a lieutenant commander in the Coast Guard and went on active duty to make a pictorial record of the North Atlantic convoy duty. The Coast Guard Cutter Campbell to which he was assigned was disabled in an attack on a German submarine pack and his pictures of the encounter appeared in Life magazine. He was retired from the Coast Guard as a full commander.

Mr. Fischer was married in 1912 to the former Mary Ellen Sigsbee, daughter of Admiral Charles D. Sigsbee. Mrs. Fischer died in 1960.

Mr. Fischer had made his home in Woodstock since 1940. He is survived by a daughter, Miss Katrina Sigsbee Fischer.

Physician Says He Ordered Pills For Martha Raye

Dr. Morriz Katz told newsmen Monday he prescribed the pills to lessen pain Miss Raye was suffering from a fall last week on the set of the film, "Jumbo."

To Cost $25 Million

Future Looks Bright On Play Expansion, Senate Voting Today

By MICHAEL KEATING

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A $25-million expansion of the state's program for state and local purchases of park and recreation lands was before the Senate today, where its future appeared bright.

The measure, requested by Gov. Rockefeller, was approved, 133-7, by the Assembly Monday. After passage in the Senate and Rockefeller's signature, the proposition would be put before the voters next November.

A $75 million park and recreation land bond issue was approved by the voters in 1960.

While the pace of bill-passing stepped up in the adjournment-bound Legislature, so did the pace of bill-killings in committee and on the floors of the houses.

Killed were measures:

To bar discount houses from selling brand-name merchandise for less than regularly advertised prices.

To prevent use of professional strikebreakers in labor disputes.

To allow employes of non-profit institutions to organize for collective-bargaining purposes.

To prevent persons who retire voluntarily or on pension from collecting unemployment insurance benefits.

These measures were approved:

Automobiles — Police would be required to issue warnings rather than tickets when a motorist was stopped for having improper equipment. The dispensation would not include defective brakes or steering. Passed Assembly, sent to governor.

All vehicles registered in the state after June 30, 1963, would have to be equipped with a device to cut down pollution emissions from crankcases. Passed Assembly, sent to Senate.

Traffic—All communities in the state, except New York City, would have to use uniform traffic-control devices by 1967. Passed Senate, sent to Assembly.

Campaign Literature—All literature circulated during a political campaign would have to carry the name of the person who ordered the printing and the name of the organization represented. The intention is to eliminate anonymous "hate" pamphlets. Passed Senate, sent to Assembly.

X-Rays—Persons who paid for x-rays would acquire ownership of the plates. Passed Assembly, sent to Senate.

Banks—Banks would be able to inaugurate a minimum charge of $2 on loans, when the normal interest would be less than $2. Passed Assembly, sent to governor.

Flags — Legislators would be able to present to educational and civic groups U.S. flags that have flown over the Capitol. Passed Assembly, sent to Senate.

Police and Fire — Consolidation of police and fire departments in communities now having separate units would be prohibited. Consolidation is "false economy," backers say. Passed Senate, sent to Assembly.

Raccoons — Counties would be able to pay bounties on raccoons. Passed Assembly, sent to Senate.

Bids Governor Abolish Boxing

Governor Rockefeller was called upon Monday by Sidney Reitman, Poughkeepsie, chairman of the Dutchess County Liberal party committee, to abolish boxing in New York State.

Reitman made the appeal in a telegram to Governor Rockefeller in the wake of brain injuries suffered Saturday in Madison Square Garden by Benny Paret, who lost the welterweight title to Emile Griffith on a knockout in the 12th round.

Reitman said in the telegram to Rockefeller:

"How many more men will have to die or be maimed for life before we accept the fact that professional boxing is not an arena of sport but one of calculated homicide?"

Reitman urged Rockefeller to "put an end to this brutality by sponsoring legislation outlawing professional boxing."

Lemnitzer Vows Support to Viet For Its Fight

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer said today the United States will "provide whatever is needed" to help South Viet Nam win its fight against the Communists.

The chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff flew here from Thailand for a 2½-day inspection. He will visit most of the areas where there has been heavy fighting in recent weeks between government forces of this Southeast Asian republic and the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas. He also will see President Ngo Dinh Diem.

His fresh assurances of American support for South Viet Nam were in answer to questions by reporters. He said any increases in American aid depends on analyses by Vietnamese and U.S. military assistance officials here.

Owen Gets Hard

ing the call that Owen would face court-martial if the comment were published.

The defense continually objected that MacManus' action in listening to Owen's conversation was illegal and contrary to provisions against revealing wiretap evidence. The court ruled it did not believe an extension telephone was a wiretap device.

MacManus testified, "Owen kept telling him (the newsman) to clear with the PIO (public information officer). He told him at least three times. I told him (Owen) he was subject to court-martial if that was published."

MacManus said Owen followed his instructions, even to repeating to the newsman some things the captain said.

Defense counsel succeeded in striking two of the three counts against Owen on grounds all were for the same offense.

Check Mattress Fire

Firemen checked a mattress fire in the home of Louis Marshall, 50 Sycamore Street, Monday night. A telephone call at 7:51 p. m. was followed by an alarm from Box 2241, East Union and Sycamore Streets. Units from Central and Cornell stations, Cordts, Union and Wicks companies, with Deputy Chief Julius Buchholtz in charge, responded. The mattress was thrown outside from a window.

Reds Ask Asylum

BREMEN, Germany (AP) — Eight East German sailors 21 to 25 years old have jumped ship in this North Sea port and asked West German authorities for political asylum, police reported today.

CLINIC ROOM NEEDS REPAIRS—Mayor John J. Schwenk (R) inspects water damage at Ulster County Association for Mental Health office in the Municipal Building, 27 East O'Reilly Street. Looking on is Mrs. Diana Geiger, executive secretary of the association. Referring to a leaking roof and rotted ceiling, Schwenk, who was elected last November, said he was "shocked and disgusted that such deterioration should be permitted to take place in one of Kingston's public buildings." Alderman Frank C. Sass (D) of the Seventh Ward, chairman of the Common Council Building and Supply Committee blamed the condition on 25 years of neglect.

Dr. O'Reilly Is Named to Dental Job With Welfare

Ulster County Commisioner of Public Welfare Joseph Fitzsimmons, on recommendation of the Ulster-Greene Dental Society, has appointed Dr. Charles O'Reilly as the dental consultant of the Ulster County Welfare Department to fill the vacancy created by the death of Dr. Robert B. Whelan.

Dr. O'Reilly has served the department as a member of the Dental Advisory Committee since 1940.

Dr. O'Reilly was born in Kingston and attended Kingston schools, Catholic University, Washington, D. C.; Columbia University, New York City. He received his degree as Doctor of Dental Surgery from the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa. He was on the dental staff of the Judson Health Center, a philanthropic organization in New York City. Currently he is on the staff of Benedictine Hospital and is past president of the Ulster County Dental Association. He resides and practices at 170 Albany Avenue.

In a negligence action brought by Robert A. Marks and another against Thomas Thompson Jr., and Ellen V. Thompson, a verdict for plaintiff Marks in the sum of $4,200 against Ellen V. Thompson, was returned by the jury. Joseph D. Hill and Charles Gaffney appeared for plaintiff and Hirschberg, Levinson and Jenkins for defendant.

Marbletown Has Meeting Tonight On Town Projects

The Marbletown Community Project Committee, which has opened its doors to organizations of the whole town, is holding its annual meeting tonight at 8 o'clock.

Now in its seventh year of operation, the committee session is scheduled for Marbletown American Legion Hall on Route 209.

During the Christmas season, trees were placed in the various sections of the town. The next program is scheduled for the summer, a Fourth of July parade.

Projects are sponsored through contributions.

Wife Granted Divorce

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Hugh Dudley Auchincloss Jr., 34, stepbrother of Jacqueline Kennedy, has been divorced.

Alice Lyon Auchincloss charged mental cruelty and obtained a decree in a closed district court hearing Monday. The court approved a property settlement providing for the couple's 3-year-old twins, May Lillalya and Cecil Lyon Auchincloss.

Two Actions Going On Over Fatal Crash in Year '60

Two actions arising out of a fatal automobile accident on Route 17 near New York State Thruway entrance at Suffern on April 16, 1960, are on trial before Justice Ellis J. Staley and jury in Supreme court.

Ione Embree brings an action to recover for the death of her husband, Floyd Embree Jr., 26, who suffered a broken neck and died instantly. Mrs. Embree sues Duane Castellano, owner of the car, and Mrs. Esther Fisher, driver of the car. In a second action Duane Castellano, also known by the surname Hamilton sues Mrs. Fisher.

The accident happened near the Spring Valley ramp when the car crashed into a sign post. At the time it was reported by New Jersey State Police that the car was being pursued by a New Jersey trooper.

At the time of the crash the Castellano car, operated by Mrs. Fisher, then 35, of 11 Broadway, was proceeding north on Route 17 when it reportedly swerved out of control and struck a Thruway sign post.

N. LeVan Haver appears for Mrs. Embree. William P. Curran appears for Costellano in his action against Mrs. Fisher, who is represented by Alfred Schleider. Cook and Cook appear for Castellano as the defendant in the action brought by Mrs. Embree.

The Embree-Castellano action was resumed today at the conclusion of an automobile negligence action brought by Arthur C. Keener against Charles Lither Briggs and another, which was taken up late Monday when the Embree-Castellano action was halted due to absence of a witness.

Catskill Voting On Trustees Today

Village of Catskill voters are balloting today to fill five posts in the village government.

The polls at the village building opened at 9 a. m. and will remain open until 9 p. m.

Others running unopposed are incumbents Edward Henderson and Jack Ormerod, for trustee posts; Attorney James J. Vattisti Jr., for police justice and David Porter for assessor.

Many Dutchess Fires

Dutchess County firemen extinguished 43 grass and brush fires last weekend, according to County Fire Coordinator John Wood, who said alarms were reported from "one end of the county to the other." Wood said none of the weekend fires proved serious.

Defectors Take Step

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Seventy defectors from Communist North Korea's army were married today in a joint wedding ceremony held at the former National Assembly building.

To Hold Survey At Arlington High About Smoking

Surveys about smoking at Arlington High School will be made by General Organization representatives and school district officials, Donald Nelson, principal, said Monday.

The issue reached a high point Friday when about 30 students stayed outside the school at the end of the noon luncheon period in what they termed a protest strike about a smoking ban.

At a meeting of the GO representatives and Nelson it was brought out that the students prefer some benches be placed outside the school so that students who bring lunches from home may eat outdoors.

The Arlington students want school officials to designate a smoking area on the school grounds.

Principals of Poughkeepsie and Roosevelt High Schools reported that smoking areas have been established at their schools. They said no smoking is permitted in the building at any time.

A Poughkeepsie school official said students are permitted to smoke in an area to the rear of the building on Forbus Street. A Roosevelt High School official said boys are permitted to smoke during the noon hour in an area at the rear of the school. Girls are not permitted to smoke.

The Roosevelt High official said students who smoke must have parental permission.

Arlington school officials said the administration will poll Arlington district parents as to their views on the smoking problem.

Thefts Reported

Theft of a door mat, hub caps and the ransacking of an uptown building were reported to the police Monday and today. The door mat, valued at $20, was reported taken from the entrance of the Herman G. Rafalowsky store, 71 Albany Avenue. William Conway notified police that a building at the rear of 10 Conway Place, used for storage of plumbing supplies and tools, had been entered and ransacked. A safe was reported "not disturbed" but it was thought that some small tools might have been taken. Entrance was reported gained through a rear door. A window was reported broken. Donald Schoonmaker of 88 Elmendorf Street, reported two hub caps stolen from his car.

Po'keepsie UR Voted by Council

Poughkeepsie's first urban renewal project to take in two blocks in the Main Street business district in the vicinity of Market and Washington Streets, was approved by a 9 to 0 vote Monday night at a special meeting of the Common Council.

The Council agreed that landmarks including the Soldier's Fountain near Eastman park would be preserved.

A resolution was passed authorizing City Manager Kenneth Pearce to hire a firm of consultants. Pearce said he expects to employ a firm in the immediate future.

Another resolution, sponsored by the Democratic members of the council, for a proposed low income housing project, with homes no higher than two stories in the Jefferson Street area in downtown Poughkeepsie, was defeated by a party line vote of 5 to 4.

High Food Prices Up Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher prices for foods pushed living costs up three-tenths of one per cent in February to a new record.

It was the first increase in the government's living costs index in six months and the largest increase since last July.

In announcing it today, Robert Myers, deputy commissioner of labor statistics, said however that the increase did not appear to signify a new price uptrend. He forecast continued stability but said March living costs probably also will show some increase.

Niagara Falls Shaken

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—A 10-second blast, apparently an earth tremor, shook Niagara Falls today and was heard and felt in other sections of Niagara County and in nearby Canadian communities.

No injuries or property damage were reported.

May Go to Glen Ora

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and his family plan to stay close to home next weekend.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Monday, "We are going to stay home. Well, there may be a visit to Glen Ora," the Kennedys' country place near Middleburg, Va.

Anton Otto Fischer

Private Funeral Set for Famous Marine Painter

The funeral of Anton Otto Fischer, 80, well-known marine painter and illustrator, who died suddenly Monday at his home on Glasco Turnpike, Woodstock, will be private.

Born in Munich, Germany, Mr. Fischer was educated at Closter Indersdorf and the Benedictine Monastery at Scheyern. He went to sea at the age of 16 and sailed for the next eight years. After his last voyage which ended in New York, he spent the next three years teaching on the school ship, St. Mary, and working as a hand on Long Island racing yachts.

In 1906, Mr. Fischer went to Paris and studied for two years at the Julien Academy under the direction of Jean Paul Laurens. He returned to the United States in 1908 to begin his career as illustrator and marine painter which he continued until his death.

Was Post Illustrator

In the early days he illustrated for Harper's Weekly and Everybody's Magazine, doing many of the Jack London stories. He was associated with the Saturday Evening Post for over 40 years and was well-known for illustrations of the Glencannon and Tug Boat Annie stories.

During World War II he was commissioned as a lieutenant commander in the Coast Guard and went on active duty to make a pictorial record of the North Atlantic convoy duty. The Coast Guard Cutter Campbell to which he was assigned was disabled in an attack on a German submarine pack and his pictures of the encounter appeared in Life magazine. He was retired from the Coast Guard as a full commander.

Mr. Fischer was married in 1912 to the former Mary Ellen Sigsbee, daughter of Admiral Charles D. Sigsbee. Mrs. Fischer died in 1960.

Mr. Fischer had made his home in Woodstock since 1940. He is survived by a daughter, Miss Katrina Sigsbee Fischer.

Physician Says He Ordered Pills For Martha Raye

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Martha Raye's physician says the actress had taken a couple of sleeping pills before she collapsed of exhaustion on a lonely stretch of Malibu Beach.

Dr. Morriz Katz told newsmen Monday he prescribed the pills to lessen pain Miss Raye was suffering from a fall last week on the set of the film, "Jumbo."

The comedienne is in a Hollywood hospital.

Deaths

WOODSTOCK, N.Y. (AP)—Anton Otto Fischer, 80, a noted marine artist, died Monday. Fischer, who had been in semi-retirement since he suffered a heart attack in 1959, had done illustrations for books and stories by Jack London and several magazines. He was born in Munich, Germany, and came to the United States in 1908.

Session One of Most Far-Reaching Yet

High Court Action Is Bound To Anger Rural Politicians

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—No wonder people need a lawyer. Monday was one of the most angry and explosive, and most far-reaching, days in the Supreme Court in years.

It wasn't only that a majority of the nine justices ruled a lower federal court had misunderstood the nature of previous Supreme Court decisions.

Nor was it the whole story when the justices opened the door for federal courts to step further into the operations of state legislatures than ever before.

See Power Slipping

Nor was the explosion limited to Justice Felix Frankfurter who, disagreeing, said it was not the lower court which had misunderstood but the Supreme Court which was reversing itself and, in effect, him, too.

But Monday's action is bound to anger rural politicians — in Congress and the states — against the court as they see, or think they see, power slipping from them as a result of the action.

Most state legislatures today are dominated by rural senators and representatives. In theory, almost every state must reapportion, or redistrict, periodically for representation in the legislature.

This is to prevent any group of voters, rural or urban, from getting a monopoly on power in a legislature by having more representatives and senators there than their numbers entitle them to.

In practice the theory is ignored. Rural lawmakers keep a firm grip on the power they got years ago when the population of cities was smaller and the rural population proportionately larger than now.

Tennessee Good Example

Tennessee is an example. Its state constitution calls on the legislature to require a census of qualified voters every 10 years and then, based on these findings, reapportion the senators and representatives. But the Tennessee Legislature hasn't done this in 61 years.

The result: Tennessee's rural population, despite the growth of cities, dominates the legislature as it did in 1901. But the federal Constitution guarantees all citizens equal protection of the laws.

A group of Tennessee citizens, backed by some city mayors, argued they are being denied their constitutional rights and appealed to a three-man federal district court to straighten out the legislature.

For the federal courts to get embroiled with one state legislature in a case like this could involve litigation and many states for years, cries that the federal court was extending its authority too far, and attacks on the court for years by politicians.

The three district court judges, believing all previous Supreme Court opinions had been against interfering in a situation like this, threw the suit out, although significantly they agreed the Tennessee Legislature had violated the state's constitution.

'46 Case Cited

They could well remember a famous and often-cited case in 1946, involving the Illinois Legislature, when Frankfurter had said: "Courts ought not to enter the political thicket. The remedy for unfairness in districting is to secure state legislatures that will apportion properly, or to invoke the ample powers of Congress."

But the Tennessee voters, refusing to be beaten, appealed to the Supreme Court, where Monday a majority ruled. Sure, the court can step into a case like this. It said the lower court had made a mistake in thinking it couldn't. Instead of giving a decision pointing out what the Tennessee Legislature should do, the Supreme Court sent the case back to the lower court to be tried.

But the attack on this decision, already starting in Congress, began first in the Supreme Court itself. Frankfurter cut loose on the majority in just about the most overheated, acidulous and flamboyant language this writer can remember reading in Supreme Court opinions in almost 20 years.

He called the majority opinion, which made mincemeat out of his desire to stay out of the "political thicket," a "massive repudiation of the experience of our whole past in asserting destructively novel judicial power."

"It may well impair the court's position as the ultimate organ of the 'supreme law of the land' in that vast range of legal problems, often strongly entangled in popular feelings, on which this court must pronounce," Frankfurter said.

All Tee Off

That's just the start. Frankfurter sizzles when he gets warmed up, a colorful demonstration that the split which has been growing in the court for years never was wider.

Justice John Marshall Harlan, agreeing with Frankfurter, let go at the majority. Justice Potter Stewart, on the majority side, teed off on Harlan.

Justice Tom Clark, also with the majority, first criticized the majority for not handling the case instead of bunting it back to the lower court, then accused Harlan of "chasing rabbits" and took a verbal belt at Frankfurter.

$1,180,000 Favored For Oswego Channels

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors has recommended a $1,180,000 federal program for deepening channels in Oswego Harbor.

The recommendation now goes to the Chief of Army Engineers. If approved, it would be submitted to Congress in the water projects authorization bill.

The Oswego project proposes channel depths ranging from 27 to 24 feet from Lake Ontario deep water to the upstream end of the Oswego Port Authority's east side terminal.

Former Collector Pleads Innocent To Keeping $688

A 44-year-old salesman pleaded innocent Monday before Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz to an indictment charging first and second degree grand larceny and petty larceny.

Richard M. Battistoni, of Pittsfield, Mass., was indicted last Friday on two counts of first degree grand larceny, two counts of grand larceny second degree and seven counts of petty larceny.

The indictment accused Battistoni of taking $688.95 from the Metropolitan Battery and Supply Co., 246 Smith Street, Poughkeepsie, between September 1960 and January, 1961.

Battistoni is accused of collecting money from service stations in Vermont and withholding the cash from the Metropolitan firm, which employed him as a collector.

Session One of Most Far-Reaching Yet

High Court Action Is Bound To Anger Rural Politicians

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—No wonder people need a lawyer. Monday was one of the most angry and explosive, and most far-reaching, days in the Supreme Court in years.

It wasn't only that a majority of the nine justices ruled a lower federal court had misunderstood the nature of previous Supreme Court decisions.

Nor was it the whole story when the justices opened the door for federal courts to step further into the operations of state legislatures than ever before.

See Power Slipping

Nor was the explosion limited to Justice Felix Frankfurter who, disagreeing, said it was not the lower court which had misunderstood but the Supreme Court which was reversing itself and, in effect, him, too.

But Monday's action is bound to anger rural politicians — in Congress and the states — against the court as they see, or think they see, power slipping from them as a result of the action.

Most state legislatures today are dominated by rural senators and representatives. In theory, almost every state must reapportion, or redistrict, periodically for representation in the legislature.

This is to prevent any group of voters, rural or urban, from getting a monopoly on power in a legislature by having more representatives and senators there than their numbers entitle them to.

In practice the theory is ignored. Rural lawmakers keep a firm grip on the power they got years ago when the population of cities was smaller and the rural population proportionately larger than now.

Tennessee Good Example

Tennessee is an example. Its state constitution calls on the legislature to require a census of qualified voters every 10 years and then, based on these findings, reapportion the senators and representatives. But the Tennessee Legislature hasn't done this in 61 years.

The result: Tennessee's rural population, despite the growth of cities, dominates the legislature as it did in 1901. But the federal Constitution guarantees all citizens equal protection of the laws.

A group of Tennessee citizens, backed by some city mayors, argued they are being denied their constitutional rights and appealed to a three-man federal district court to straighten out the legislature.

For the federal courts to get embroiled with one state legislature in a case like this could involve litigation and many states for years, cries that the federal court was extending its authority too far, and attacks on the court for years by politicians.

The three district court judges, believing all previous Supreme Court opinions had been against interfering in a situation like this, threw the suit out, although significantly they agreed the Tennessee Legislature had violated the state's constitution.

'46 Case Cited

They could well remember a famous and often-cited case in 1946, involving the Illinois Legislature, when Frankfurter had said: "Courts ought not to enter the political thicket. The remedy for unfairness in districting is to secure state legislatures that will apportion properly, or to invoke the ample powers of Congress."

But the Tennessee voters, refusing to be beaten, appealed to the Supreme Court, where Monday a majority ruled. Sure, the court can step into a case like this. It said the lower court had made a mistake in thinking it couldn't. Instead of giving a decision pointing out what the Tennessee Legislature should do, the Supreme Court sent the case back to the lower court to be tried.

But the attack on this decision, already starting in Congress, began first in the Supreme Court itself. Frankfurter cut loose on the majority in just about the most overheated, acidulous and flamboyant language this writer can remember reading in Supreme Court opinions in almost 20 years.

He called the majority opinion, which made mincemeat out of his desire to stay out of the "political thicket," a "massive repudiation of the experience of our whole past in asserting destructively novel judicial power."

"It may well impair the court's position as the ultimate organ of the 'supreme law of the land' in that vast range of legal problems, often strongly entangled in popular feelings, on which this court must pronounce," Frankfurter said.

All Tee Off

That's just the start. Frankfurter sizzles when he gets warmed up, a colorful demonstration that the split which has been growing in the court for years never was wider.

Justice John Marshall Harlan, agreeing with Frankfurter, let go at the majority. Justice Potter Stewart, on the majority side, teed off on Harlan.

Justice Tom Clark, also with the majority, first criticized the majority for not handling the case instead of bunting it back to the lower court, then accused Harlan of "chasing rabbits" and took a verbal belt at Frankfurter.

ECONOMIC LITERACY

A broad-gauged campaign, sparked by the Committee for Economic Development, has been launched against economic illiteracy in this country. The need for such an effort has been apparent for some time. Studies show that the public's ignorance of fundamental economics is alarming.

The CED reports that the level of economic literacy among young people is "abysmally low." One economist offered this revealing comment: "We've been graduating generation upon generation of Americans without the simplest analytical tools of economic reasoning." One cannot avoid the conclusion that our educational system must bear a heavy share of the blame.

But placing the blame is far less important than bringing about improvement. Besides, educators are most keenly aware of the schools' shortcomings in this regard. The effort now beginning culminates 13 years of work by economics and education professors, together with civic groups.

In September the "College of the Air" (CBS) will launch a series of 160 half-hour sessions five days a week stressing the fundamentals of economics. Sample packets of material have been sent by the CED and the Joint Council of Economic Education to 25,000 high schools. A special committee is preparing basic tests to measure the knowledge of economics students are absorbing.

This massive undertaking is a start at doing what the schools and colleges alone have been unable to do. It is a thing eminently worth doing. Economics cannot be left to the experts and an insufficient number of teachers. Nothing could do more harm to our capitalistic system than a continuing failure of citizens to understand at least the rudiments of its operation.

HARMONY IN SPACE

The Soviet Union has something to gain by cooperating with the United States in some phases of space development. That is the best reason for thinking that the Russians may follow through on their asserted willingness to undertake joint efforts in this field.

The Soviet space program has excelled in the perfection of large rockets with tremendous thrust. The U. S. program, though somewhat behind in that category of development, has gone beyond the Russians in the field of instrumentation. Our space vehicles, often less spectacular than those launched by the Soviet Union, are far more sophisticated—better able to perform delicate scientific tasks aloft.

This is not, as some persons suppose, a reason for being cool toward the idea of sharing projects with the Russians. We would be giving them the benefit of advanced instrumentation know-how, true. But this country stands to gain, also, by cooperation in space. We can learn some things from the Russians. More important, joint space efforts would tend to increase those precious small areas of agreement which may, hopefully, be extended to reduce the danger of a titanic war.

Only the most foolish optimist could conclude, at this stage of the matter, that U. S.-Soviet cooperation in space was assured. But the seeds have been sown. The growth of this plan is a thing to nurture with diligence and care.

Business has not been as good as anticipated. It's not a recession yet, though—merely a sagging boom.

PASS THE ASPIRIN —

An old and still frequently heard jab at scientists is the statement that. "They haven't even come up with a cure for the common cold yet."

The magnitude of the task is indicated, however, by the reported discovery of six new distinct strains of virus isolated from runny-nose sufferers. According to Scientific American, this would bring to 18 the total number of viruses implicated. This does not include the viruses responsible for other respiratory illnesses.

The common cold is proving to be an uncommonly complex problem.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

REPUBLICANS AND CONSERVATIVES

The great mass of Republicans welcome the conservatives of various shades of opinion because they may help to win elections for Governors, Senators and Representatives in 1962. Many Republican leaders fear this conservative infiltration, believing that, in time, the conservatives may take over their party as the Americans for Democratic Action have gained mastery of the Democratic Party and as the Liberal Party in New York City has captured New York during an internecine fight among the Democrats.

The conservatives have the advantage of being able, during this early stage of their development, to have a popular candidate for the Presidency, Senator Barry Goldwater. They suffer the disadvantage of being made up of a very young, intellectual group with leadership aspirations and abilities, and of an over-age element which confuses conservatism with reaction. The Republican Party cannot accept all these elements.

Governor Charles Edison, a leader among conservatives, said at a Madison Square Garden rally that all conservatives should get together, which is like saying that Norman Thomas should agree with Khrushchev because they both call themselves Socialists. It is a negation of reality.

In New York State, a new party, the Conservative Party, is being organized mostly by young lawyers. This has attracted considerable attention among politicians who fear that should such a party be on the ballot, Governor Nelson Rockefeller would suffer in his effort to be re-elected. Should the Democratic candidate for Governor be Mayor Robert Wagner, two liberals will be running against each other.

Douglas Caddy, National Director, Young Americans for Freedom, Inc., does not favor a Conservative Party, as a third party. He has said

"As a supporter of Senator Goldwater, I cannot reconcile myself to the strategy mapped out by those who wish to fight the political wars of conservatism outside the two-party structure. In the case of the announced plan of the newly-organized Conservative Party of New York to oppose Governor Nelson Rockefeller, conservatives should ask themselves: Will the defeat of Governor Rockefeller, admittedly a liberal Republican, and his replacement in Albany by, say, New York's Mayor Wagner, an ultra-liberal Democrat, benefit the conservative cause?

It is, of course, a sound question to which the answer could be that such an election might weaken the Republican Party in New York State until it loses all authority. No one can accept the progressive Republicanism of Senator Jacob Javits as having any relationship to any form or manner of Republicanism. He may be re-elected for reasons other than that he runs on the Republican ticket, but his partisanship cannot be accepted by conservatives. He has made his own record and it is not a record for which a conservative of any hue- can vote.

This is an issue with which Caddy does not deal; that is, he ignores the fact that during the Eisenhower Administration, two types of Republicans prevailed, the big businessman, for whom President Eisenhower had considerable respect, and the progressive Republican who believed that he could play intellectual tricks upon the American people by imitating the A.D.A.

There is not too much time for the Republicans to make an important dent on the November 1962 election. Senator Barry Goldwater travels the country making speeches, but his are conservative Republican speeches. Can Barry Goldwater support a progressive Republican to hold the party together?

Richard Nixon, whose political fate depends upon his election as Governor of California, has asserted his opposition to the John Birch Society which is the general attitude of the Republican leadership but not of Republican rank and file throughout the country. The John Birch Society is particularly active in California and Texas. The political influence of this Society will be measured by what it does in California.

This much seems certain: there is bound to be a conservative break-through politically. The emergence of Senator Barry Goldwater is a symptom; the election of Senator John Tower in Texas is another symptom. These men are definitely conservatives. But there must be more than that to accomplish such a break-through as the liberals accomplished when they captured the Democratic Party.

For the country, it would be a normal and wholesome development if the names Republican and Democratic were dropped, as they have by 1962 lost specific meaning, and the words, conservative and liberal, substituted.

Injury to Leg Fibers Causes 'Charley Horse'

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Just what is meant by "Charley horse"? Is it the same as bursitis? What can be done to relieve these conditions?

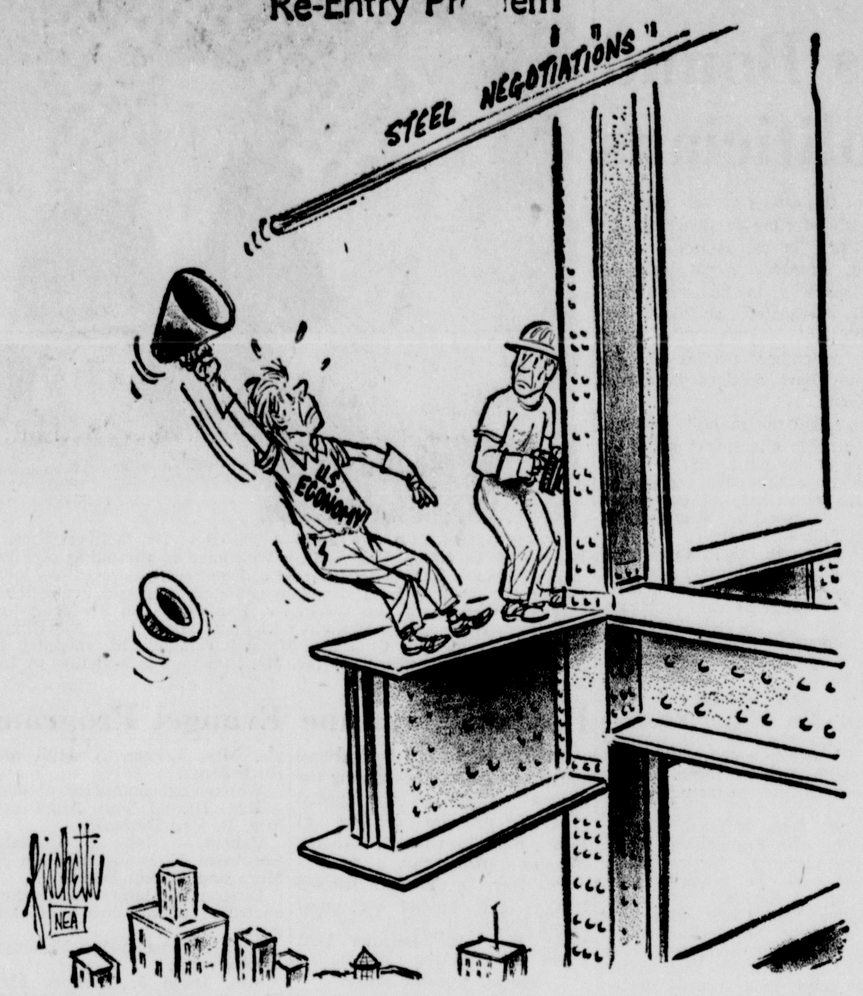

A—If you feel your calf muscle for example, you"ll note that it has a soft bulge until it gets down to the back of the heel and there it narrows down to a tough thong—the Achilles tendon. If you were to look at the bulging portion, you'd see that it has all the characteristics of raw meat. It's red and composed of countless bands of muscle fibers. If you looked at the Achilles tendon, you'd see that it is glossy white and coomposed of tough fibers that resemble violin strings.

Now in all likelihood, abuse or misuse of a long muscle with a tendonous insertion may result in fraying or even tearing of a few constituent fibers. The bulk of the fibers remain intact, but these few fibers break and their torn ends roll up to make tiny lumps. This is the probable mechanism of an acute "Charley horse" and of the persistent soreness and pain that remain for some time after the original episode. Relief is gotten when the sore area is injected with a local anesthetic

Bursitus is quite another matter, although it, too, may be relieved by injection of anesthetic. The bursa is actually an oil sac that's placed wherever a muscle or a tendon is exposed to pressure or friction. Like the oil cup on the chassis of an automobile, it may dry out or get jammed. When it does, it can hurt like 40 devils. However, more often than not, the pain can be relieved by injections of local anesthetic or a solution or suspension of ACTH or a combination of the two. But the relief is only temporary and, unless something is done to correct the basic cause, the inflammation may return.

Q—Some time ago you wrote of a diet that seemed to help certain backward children. My child is getting this diet in the institution in which we placed her and has improved remarkably. Soon, we have been told, we may take her home. Do we have to continue this diet all her life? If so, I just don't know how I'd manage as I have a household that includes our other five children and my husband's aged parents.

A—The phenylalanine-restricted diet, to which you probably refer, can be discontinued once maximum improvement has been obtained. While experiences are still quite limited, a recent report indicates that no deterioration follows discontinuance of the diet at the age of four years in a group of children treated since earliest infancy. However, I do think the responsibility of ending the diet should not be placed on you, especially under existing household conditions. I'm sure those in charge of the institution in which your child has been treated will agree to keep her until she's ready for an unrestricted diet if you explain your problem.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Total effect of the 15 messages which President Kennedy has sent to Congress so far this year is to line up a program for the closest thing to a welfare state that this country has ever faced. And there are more messages with still more requests and recommendations to come.

Administration spokesmen and philosophers may argue that the private enterprise system and a free economy are not being impaired by this massive New Frontier program.

What the President is proposing is not communism and not even socialism. The government won't own everything, take all the money, pay all the bills, pile up all the debt. Federal government will still take only about a sixth of the gross national pot, however big it grows.

BUT IF THE MAJOR PORTIONS of the Kennedy program are approved by Congress, the average American citizen will have the most protection and insurance that his government has ever offered against every risk and danger. This is emphasized by the Consumer Protection message which the President has just sent to Congress.

To promote the full realization of consumer "rights" to buy safe products at competitive prices, correctly labeled and of good quality, the President would provide more food and drug law protection, better enforced.

Also, he would provide for more effective financial protection of savings from fraud, more effective government regulation of services to consumers, lower cost and better quality housing, safer transportation, a "truth in lending" bill, all-channel television sets ,more free enterprise competition and further restraint on business monopolies.

FEW CONSUMERS, FEW HONEST manufacturers or merchants can object to all these things on principle.

But when this package of requests is piled on top of all the other citizens' protective measures which the President has asked for, the sweeping nature of the program becomes more apparent. Consider just the highlights:

Lower taxes on income in time of recession.

Incentives to business to increase production.

Public works to make more jobs in recessions.

Extended benefits and retraining for the unemployed.

Aid for education and educational facilities.

Health insurance for the aged under social security.

Mass immunization against contagious diseases.

A farm program that would cut production to demand levels by land retirement and strict quota controls but still give producing farmers higher income.

Rural vocational training for nonfarm employment.

More public recreation facilities on unused land.

More slum clearance and urban redevelopment.

Mass transit and a new transportation policy.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Maybe there's a job here in Washington for a new kind of "peace corps." Perhaps it could be recruited among the "intellectuals" from the newly created states in Africa, some of whom have been educated in universities in America and Europe. For the crime wave in the nation's capital certainly needs attention, and there is a suggestion now from local officials that race hostility may be among the causes of the unprecedented outbursts of violence.

Only two cities of comparable size in the United States had more robberies last year than the city of Washington. Chief Judge Matthew F. McGuire of the U. S. District Court said from the bench recently that he's going to crack down on offenders. He then described the situation as follows:

"You can't go out in the street without being hit on the head. You can' ride a bus. You can't close your place of business at night but what thieves get in.

"This thing is really serious and it has got to stop. The only way to stop it is to have the word go out that if you are caugh it is just too bad—you go to jail.

"We are either going to have a community of law and order or we are going to have chaos. Thieves knocking people down in the street and purse snatching has got to stop. What kind of a city are we living in"?

About 54 per cent of Washington's population is Negro. Police records show that 87 per cent of those arrested for robbery last year were Negroes and that 75 per cent of the prisoners in Washington's correctional institutions are Negroes.

Donald Clemmer, Director of Corrections, speaks of racial hostility as a factor in the crime wave here. He told a meeting of sociologists recently that "Washington is not a syndicated, racket-type city" and that only a small number of professional criminals are involved in crimes here. He suggested that some of the pointless violence noted in Washington's robberies can be traced to "Negro hostility toward whites." Mr. Clemmer added that some of the hostility has grown out of a feeling of "new-found freedom" among Negro youths as a result of socialogical developments related to Federal Court rulings on desegregation and the emergence of many African areas as independent states. He predicted conditions may get worse.

Washington officials were aroused recently by an incident in which a band of Negro teenagers beat up and robbed the white driver of a bus while Negro passengers sat and watched without interfering. Attacks on other buses followed.

Congress, which rules the District of Columbia, has been asked for help. The Board of Commissioners—which includes John B. Duncan, the first Negro commissioner and a very able man—is requesting more police. Mr. Duncan says: "As a society, we're going to have to treat youth more firmly than we have in recent years."

The Board of Commissioners has recommended the mobilization of the police reserve corps of 2,000 unpaid volunteers formed for use in emergencies. About 500 are believed to be trained for part-time duty in policing the streets. The regular police force is to expand from 2,700 to 3,000 men.

Two additional judges have just been provided by Congress for the Juvenile Court, where there is a backlog of 2,000 cases, but Congress thus far has refused to authorize the transfer of serious offenses by juveniles to the Municipal Court.

Commenting on the views of Judge McGuire and Commissioner Duncan, the Washington Evening Star said recently:

"Mr. Duncan makes the point, and we think he is right, that public tolerance of crime, indifference to conditions which breed crime and insufficient discipline of young people are major contributing factors to the upsurge of violence in the nation's capital.

"The immediate problem, however, is that of coping with crime itself, not the conditions which produce criminals. In this connection, more extensive policing of the streets and the severe penalties suggested by Judge McGuire certainly would help. To be avoided is the fuzzy-minded notion that the jokers will go away if we all pretend that they don't exist."

There may be something, after all, in the idea of a special "peace corps" of African "intellectuals" to study sociological conditions in the District of Columbia. They may be able to appeal to racial pride, and their findings might give the educated Negroes in Washington the stimulus to take the leadership in the drive against crime. Maybe what really ought to be done is to form a new organization to be known as "The National Association for the Advancement of Both Colored and White People."

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I had a very pleasant visitor today— Irving L. Gardiner, who now lives at 211 O'Neil Street. He had his 86th birthday March 16, but you would never know it by his youthful look. He does not wear glasses, and when I wrote down his name in pencil, he read it right off, and corrected my spelling without eye-glasses. He says he does wear glasses when he reads the newspaper. He said he was left a widower back around 1918. He never married again, and raised seven children to the best of his ability by hard work. He has merry blue eyes, and laughs and jokes.

I asked him what his secret was, and he said "Hard work." I also asked what his diet was, and he said, just plain food, like bacon and eggs, and salt pork. He has achieved an age we can all honor, so I think he has some ideas of what is good and bad for a person. He went down the street shopping for shoes at Alcon's sale, and I offered him an elastic for the box, to keep the cover on. I noticed his nimble hands and fingers, and asked if he was ever troubled with rheumatism, and he said he never had it.

Just to run quickly across his his history. He was born at Mink Hollow, Town of Woodstock, Ulster County, March 16, 1876, and his folks moved to Kingston when he was a year old. After that he always lived in the second and third ward. Three generations of Gardiners went to School No. 5. He filled and lit the old street lights in the second ward, was actually the "lamp lighter." He lit some 16 lights in about one hour, which burned till midnight, but did not light them on full moon nights, three nights out of a month.

It is fascinating to read about the construction of buildings, which is usually found in newspapers when the plans are first out. In the Kingston Weekly Freeman of Thursday, Jan. 1, 1903 on page 3 is a front elevation architect drawing and description of the Kingston City Library (Carnegie Library.) Plans were drawn up by Raymond F. Almirall of New York, the architect in charge of the work. The building was to be built on the O'Reilly property, a short distance north of Andrew Street, it said then.

The description of the "new" Kingston City Library then read: "It will occupy a commanding position opposite the City Hall and improve the appearance of the street in the vicinity. The grounds will be beautifully graded, with a spacious lawn in front and on both sides of the building. The library will be 72 by 56 ground dimensions, and will be built of Roman brick, with Indiana limestone trimmings. The general style of architecture is Grecian. There will be a prominent portico, with wide steps leading to the vestibule from north and south."

It further said in 1903: "On the first floor will be the librarian's room, the general reading room and juvenile reading room will be situated in the wings. The stack room will be in the rear on the first floor. There will be a men's reading room, smoking room, and a map and chart room in the basement." They tell about the work of blasting the rock for the foundation and the contract for the entire work was awarded to the Church Construction Co. of which Frank A. Palen was president. The contract price was $29,171 and was to be paid by Andrew Carnegie, who agreed to furnish $30,000 on condition that the City of Kingston should raise annually the sum of $3,000 for maintenance of the Kingston City Library.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 27, 1962

ECONOMIC LITERACY

A broad-gauged campaign, sparked by the Committee for Economic Development, has been launched against economic illiteracy in this country. The need for such an effort has been apparent for some time. Studies show that the public's ignorance of fundamental economics is alarming.

The CED reports that the level of economic literacy among young people is "abysmally low." One economist offered this revealing comment: "We've been graduating generation upon generation of Americans without the simplest analytical tools of economic reasoning." One cannot avoid the conclusion that our educational system must bear a heavy share of the blame.

But placing the blame is far less important than bringing about improvement. Besides, educators are most keenly aware of the schools' shortcomings in this regard. The effort now beginning culminates 13 years of work by economics and education professors, together with civic groups.

In September the "College of the Air" (CBS) will launch a series of 160 half-hour sessions five days a week stressing the fundamentals of economics. Sample packets of material have been sent by the CED and the Joint Council of Economic Education to 25,000 high schools. A special committee is preparing basic tests to measure the knowledge of economics students are absorbing.

This massive undertaking is a start at doing what the schools and colleges alone have been unable to do. It is a thing eminently worth doing. Economics cannot be left to the experts and an insufficient number of teachers. Nothing could do more harm to our capitalistic system than a continuing failure of citizens to understand at least the rudiments of its operation.

HARMONY IN SPACE

The Soviet Union has something to gain by cooperating with the United States in some phases of space development. That is the best reason for thinking that the Russians may follow through on their asserted willingness to undertake joint efforts in this field.

The Soviet space program has excelled in the perfection of large rockets with tremendous thrust. The U. S. program, though somewhat behind in that category of development, has gone beyond the Russians in the field of instrumentation. Our space vehicles, often less spectacular than those launched by the Soviet Union, are far more sophisticated—better able to perform delicate scientific tasks aloft.

This is not, as some persons suppose, a reason for being cool toward the idea of sharing projects with the Russians. We would be giving them the benefit of advanced instrumentation know-how, true. But this country stands to gain, also, by cooperation in space. We can learn some things from the Russians. More important, joint space efforts would tend to increase those precious small areas of agreement which may, hopefully, be extended to reduce the danger of a titanic war.

Only the most foolish optimist could conclude, at this stage of the matter, that U. S.-Soviet cooperation in space was assured. But the seeds have been sown. The growth of this plan is a thing to nurture with diligence and care.

Business has not been as good as anticipated. It's not a recession yet, though—merely a sagging boom.

PASS THE ASPIRIN —

An old and still frequently heard jab at scientists is the statement that. "They haven't even come up with a cure for the common cold yet."

The magnitude of the task is indicated, however, by the reported discovery of six new distinct strains of virus isolated from runny-nose sufferers. According to Scientific American, this would bring to 18 the total number of viruses implicated. This does not include the viruses responsible for other respiratory illnesses.

The common cold is proving to be an uncommonly complex problem.

'These Days'

REPUBLICANS AND CONSERVATIVES

The great mass of Republicans welcome the conservatives of various shades of opinion because they may help to win elections for Governors, Senators and Representatives in 1962. Many Republican leaders fear this conservative infiltration, believing that, in time, the conservatives may take over their party as the Americans for Democratic Action have gained mastery of the Democratic Party and as the Liberal Party in New York City has captured New York during an internecine fight among the Democrats.

The conservatives have the advantage of being able, during this early stage of their development, to have a popular candidate for the Presidency, Senator Barry Goldwater. They suffer the disadvantage of being made up of a very young, intellectual group with leadership aspirations and abilities, and of an over-age element which confuses conservatism with reaction. The Republican Party cannot accept all these elements.

Governor Charles Edison, a leader among conservatives, said at a Madison Square Garden rally that all conservatives should get together, which is like saying that Norman Thomas should agree with Khrushchev because they both call themselves Socialists. It is a negation of reality.

In New York State, a new party, the Conservative Party, is being organized mostly by young lawyers. This has attracted considerable attention among politicians who fear that should such a party be on the ballot, Governor Nelson Rockefeller would suffer in his effort to be re-elected. Should the Democratic candidate for Governor be Mayor Robert Wagner, two liberals will be running against each other.

Douglas Caddy, National Director, Young Americans for Freedom, Inc., does not favor a Conservative Party, as a third party. He has said

"As a supporter of Senator Goldwater, I cannot reconcile myself to the strategy mapped out by those who wish to fight the political wars of conservatism outside the two-party structure. In the case of the announced plan of the newly-organized Conservative Party of New York to oppose Governor Nelson Rockefeller, conservatives should ask themselves: Will the defeat of Governor Rockefeller, admittedly a liberal Republican, and his replacement in Albany by, say, New York's Mayor Wagner, an ultra-liberal Democrat, benefit the conservative cause?

It is, of course, a sound question to which the answer could be that such an election might weaken the Republican Party in New York State until it loses all authority. No one can accept the progressive Republicanism of Senator Jacob Javits as having any relationship to any form or manner of Republicanism. He may be re-elected for reasons other than that he runs on the Republican ticket, but his partisanship cannot be accepted by conservatives. He has made his own record and it is not a record for which a conservative of any hue- can vote.

This is an issue with which Caddy does not deal; that is, he ignores the fact that during the Eisenhower Administration, two types of Republicans prevailed, the big businessman, for whom President Eisenhower had considerable respect, and the progressive Republican who believed that he could play intellectual tricks upon the American people by imitating the A.D.A.

There is not too much time for the Republicans to make an important dent on the November 1962 election. Senator Barry Goldwater travels the country making speeches, but his are conservative Republican speeches. Can Barry Goldwater support a progressive Republican to hold the party together?

Richard Nixon, whose political fate depends upon his election as Governor of California, has asserted his opposition to the John Birch Society which is the general attitude of the Republican leadership but not of Republican rank and file throughout the country. The John Birch Society is particularly active in California and Texas. The political influence of this Society will be measured by what it does in California.

This much seems certain: there is bound to be a conservative break-through politically. The emergence of Senator Barry Goldwater is a symptom; the election of Senator John Tower in Texas is another symptom. These men are definitely conservatives. But there must be more than that to accomplish such a break-through as the liberals accomplished when they captured the Democratic Party.

For the country, it would be a normal and wholesome development if the names Republican and Democratic were dropped, as they have by 1962 lost specific meaning, and the words, conservative and liberal, substituted.

Injury to Leg Fibers Causes 'Charley Horse'

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Just what is meant by "Charley horse"? Is it the same as bursitis? What can be done to relieve these conditions?

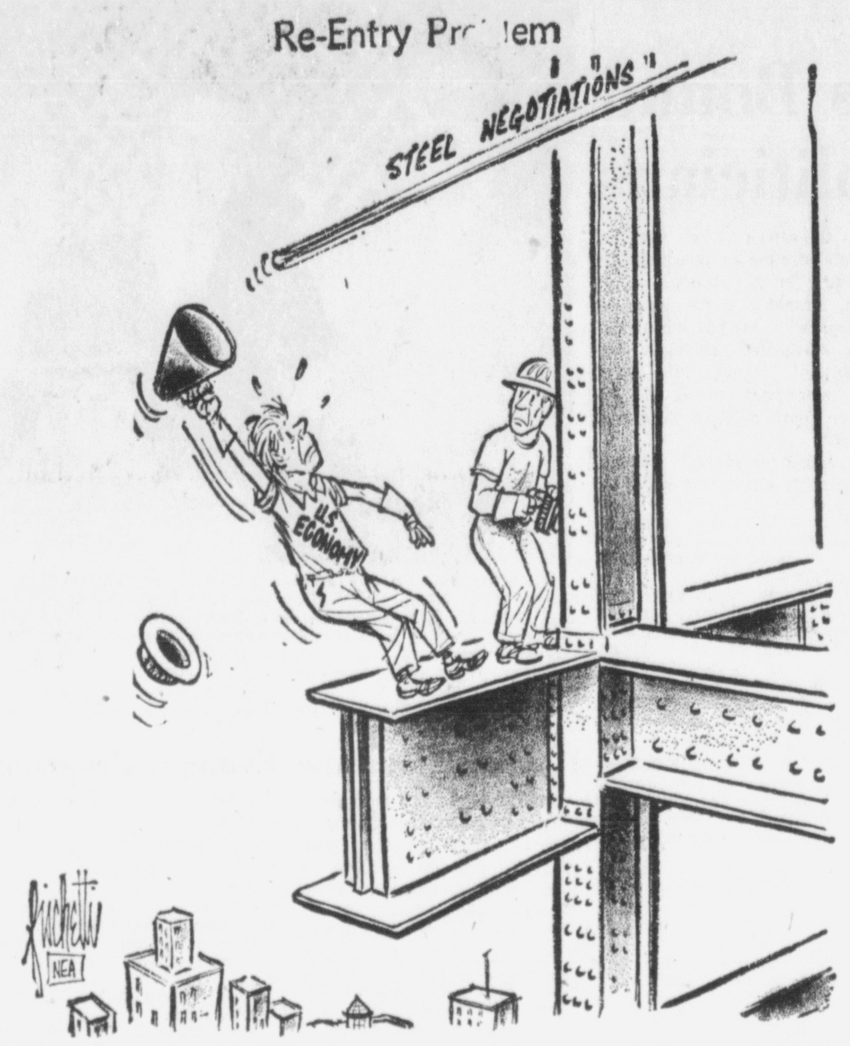

A—If you feel your calf muscle for example, you"ll note that it has a soft bulge until it gets down to the back of the heel and there it narrows down to a tough thong—the Achilles tendon. If you were to look at the bulging portion, you'd see that it has all the characteristics of raw meat. It's red and composed of countless bands of muscle fibers. If you looked at the Achilles tendon, you'd see that it is glossy white and coomposed of tough fibers that resemble violin strings.

Now in all likelihood, abuse or misuse of a long muscle with a tendonous insertion may result in fraying or even tearing of a few constituent fibers. The bulk of the fibers remain intact, but these few fibers break and their torn ends roll up to make tiny lumps. This is the probable mechanism of an acute "Charley horse" and of the persistent soreness and pain that remain for some time after the original episode. Relief is gotten when the sore area is injected with a local anesthetic

Bursitus is quite another matter, although it, too, may be relieved by injection of anesthetic. The bursa is actually an oil sac that's placed wherever a muscle or a tendon is exposed to pressure or friction. Like the oil cup on the chassis of an automobile, it may dry out or get jammed. When it does, it can hurt like 40 devils. However, more often than not, the pain can be relieved by injections of local anesthetic or a solution or suspension of ACTH or a combination of the two. But the relief is only temporary and, unless something is done to correct the basic cause, the inflammation may return.

Q—Some time ago you wrote of a diet that seemed to help certain backward children. My child is getting this diet in the institution in which we placed her and has improved remarkably. Soon, we have been told, we may take her home. Do we have to continue this diet all her life? If so, I just don't know how I'd manage as I have a household that includes our other five children and my husband's aged parents.

A—The phenylalanine-restricted diet, to which you probably refer, can be discontinued once maximum improvement has been obtained. While experiences are still quite limited, a recent report indicates that no deterioration follows discontinuance of the diet at the age of four years in a group of children treated since earliest infancy. However, I do think the responsibility of ending the diet should not be placed on you, especially under existing household conditions. I'm sure those in charge of the institution in which your child has been treated will agree to keep her until she's ready for an unrestricted diet if you explain your problem.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Total effect of the 15 messages which President Kennedy has sent to Congress so far this year is to line up a program for the closest thing to a welfare state that this country has ever faced. And there are more messages with still more requests and recommendations to come.

Administration spokesmen and philosophers may argue that the private enterprise system and a free economy are not being impaired by this massive New Frontier program.

What the President is proposing is not communism and not even socialism. The government won't own everything, take all the money, pay all the bills, pile up all the debt. Federal government will still take only about a sixth of the gross national pot, however big it grows.

BUT IF THE MAJOR PORTIONS of the Kennedy program are approved by Congress, the average American citizen will have the most protection and insurance that his government has ever offered against every risk and danger. This is emphasized by the Consumer Protection message which the President has just sent to Congress.

To promote the full realization of consumer "rights" to buy safe products at competitive prices, correctly labeled and of good quality, the President would provide more food and drug law protection, better enforced.

Also, he would provide for more effective financial protection of savings from fraud, more effective government regulation of services to consumers, lower cost and better quality housing, safer transportation, a "truth in lending" bill, all-channel television sets ,more free enterprise competition and further restraint on business monopolies.

FEW CONSUMERS, FEW HONEST manufacturers or merchants can object to all these things on principle.

But when this package of requests is piled on top of all the other citizens' protective measures which the President has asked for, the sweeping nature of the program b.comes more apparent. Consider just the highlights:

Lower taxes on income in time of recession.

Incentives to business to increase production.

Public works to make more jobs in recessions.

Extended benefits and retraining for the unemployed.

Aid for education and educational facilities.

Health insurance for the aged under social security.

Mass immunization against contagious diseases.

A farm program that would cut production to demand levels by land retirement and strict quota controls but still give producing farmers higher income.

Rural vocational training for nonfarm employment.

More public recreation facilities on unused land.

More slum clearance and urban redevelopment.

Mass transit and a new transportation policy.

Federal incentives for public fallout shelters.

Expanded Food for Peace, Peace Corps and foreign aid programs, particularly loans to underdeveloped countries.

Freer trade, with adjustment payments to U.S. manufacturers and workers hurt by foreign competition.

Higher pay for government employes.

Increased child welfare services including aid to the handicapped and children of migrants and the unemployed.

A Youth Corps and more youth job opportunities.

Legal prevention of discrimination against women.

Reduction of racial discrimination through fair employment practices and enforcement of civil rights laws.

There you have the whole Kennedy welfare program—in capsule form—as thus far taken out of the bottle.

There will be a prominent portico, with wide steps leading to the vestibule from north and south."

It further said in 1903: "On the first floor will be the librarian's room, the general reading room and juvenile reading room will be situated in the wings. The stack room will be in the rear on the first floor. There will be a men's reading room, smoking room, and a map and chart room in the basement." They tell about the work of blasting the rock for the foundation and the contract for the entire work was awarded to the Church Construction Co. of which Frank A. Palen was president. The contract price was $29,171 and was to be paid by Andrew Carnegie, who agreed to furnish $30,000 on condition that the City of Kingston should raise annually the sum of $3,000 for maintenance of the Kingston City Library.

ORE FOR THE ATOM—The days of the private uranium prospector, with a pick in one hand and Geiger counter in the other, are part of the past. The scope of modern mining is illustrated by this huge open pit of Gunnar Mining Ltd. in northwest Saskatchewan. It is 1,000 feet long and 800 wide. The spiral road is 50 feet wide and nearly a mile long from top to bottom. The otherwise barren area is among the richest in Canada, estimated to contain $130 million worth of uranium ore. A community of 800 people clusters near the shore of Lake Athabaska.

Kingston Savings Branch to Open Wednesday at 10

At 10 o'clock Wednesday morning the branch office of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston in the Ulster Shopping Center, Albany Avenue Extension, will open for business.

Located in the new shopping center north of Kingston, the Ulster Branch will offer all services which are available at the main office at 267 Wall Street from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily except Saturdays and on Friday evenings from 6:30 to 8 p. m. for the convenience of those who cannot bank during the daytime hours.

Edward R. Dunn, who has been associated with the Kingston office since 1952, will be manager of the branch, assisted by Miss Helena Argulewicz who has been at the main banking house since 1961.

On Saturday, March 31, there will be open house at the Ulster Branch. The public is invited to inspect the new facilities. There will be refreshments and free gifts during the grand opening which will continue throughout the day until 5 p. m.

GOP Candidate Promises Effort To Produce Jobs

HARRISBURG (AP)—Republican Congressman William W. Scranton promises an all out effort to end chronic unemployment in Pennsylvania if elected governor next November.

Good jobs for all and money in everybody's pocket — that's the aim of the Republican Party, Scranton said Monday in a campaign speech from the back of a rented truck.

The occasion was the official opening of a new Scranton-Van Zandt primary campaign headquarters in Harrisburg.

"Pennsylvania has been in a steadily downward spiral" since the Democrats took over seven years ago, "but under Republicans, we will go back up," he told a cheering crowd of some 150 party faithful.

He pointed to unemployment as one of the key issues of the campaign.

Joining Scranton at the brief ceremonies were his three GOP running mates—U.S. Rep. James E. Van Zandt of Altoona, candidate for the U.S. Senate; State Sen. Raymond P. Shafer of Meadville candidate for lieutenant governor; and Mrs. Audrey Kelly of Montrose, candidate for secretary of internal affairs.

Work Underway To Clear Tracks

CORRY, Pa. (AP)— Laborers worked early today to clear a freight train derailment that is blocking two Pennsylvania Railroad tracks and a main line track of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad.

Twenty-five cars of the 125-car PRR freight left the tracks Monday near Lovells about three miles southwest of Corry.

No injuries were reported, and the cause of the derailment or the amount of the loss were not immediately determined.

The derailed cars blocked traffic on the Chautauqua and Erie branches of the PRR and the westbound track of the Erie-Lackawanna main line.

Rail traffic was re-routed around the derailment site.

Thomas Miller, lay leader of the church and an associate lay leader of the Kingston District, of the New York Conference, will have charge of the devotional program. He will be assisted by Arthur Crist, who is also an associate lay leader of the Kingston district.

Fair St. Reformed

REV. PAUL R. SWANK

At the third weekly Lenten fellowship supper of the Fair Street Reformed Church, the Rev. Paul R. Swank will address the congregation on the topic: A Lutheran and Church Merger. The meeting will begin at 6:15 p. m. with a covered-dish supper and conclude at 8:15. A separate program is provided for the youngsters during the program.

The Rev. Mr. Swank, a native of Philadelphia and graduate of Gettysburg College and Gettysburg Seminary, was ordained into the United Lutheran Church of America at St. Peter's Lutheran Church, New York City, Feb. 27, 1945. He has served pastorates in Troy, Poughkeepsie, Snyder, and is now pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Brooklyn. In all his churches, the Rev. Mr. Swank was active in local councils of churches, and was elected president of the Dutchess County Council of Churches in 1952.

In his denomination the Rev. Mr. Swank served as chairman of the stewardship committee for the Eastern Conference of the United Lutheran Synod of New York and New England. More recently he was appointed to the chairmanship of the special committee for evangelism within the Synod of New York and New England. He also serves as a member of the board of trustees of Hartwick College, Oneonta, and is now president of the Brooklyn Conference.

Guest members from local Lutheran churches may attend the meeting Wednesday night.

Immanuel Lutheran

Wednesday Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church will have its fourth mid-week Lenten service at 7:30 p. m., which will be preceded by an organ recital by Charles Brand. This will be Lenten music. The opening will be given by the choir, which will song O Christ Thou Lamb of God. The children of the lower grades will sing Sweet the Moments Rich in Blessing by Basel, which will be followed by the third reading in the Passion History of Jesus Christ. The topic will be on the fourth Word from the Cross, My God, Why Hast Thou Forsaken Me. The choir will bring the service to a close with the singing of the closing prayer, The Lord Bless You and Keep You by Lutkin.

HST Regrets Some Presidents Fail To Be Lobbyists

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says the President and vice president should be lobbyists for the millions of Americans who have no professional lobbyists to advance their interests in Washington.

"When a President does that, he's a good President," Truman said. He added:

"But some of them haven't. Some of them have retired to the presidency and it didn't work out well for the country when they did."

Mentions No Names

The 77-year-old former chief executive mentioned no names in that phase of his talk on the presidency Monday at Canisius College. Truman, who delivered the first lecture of a new political science series inaugurated at the college, was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree.

In a question-and-answer session later, Truman repeatedly declined to be drawn into a discussion of last spring's abortive Cuban invasion. But at one point in answer to a question about Communist influence in Cuba, he said:

"I'm sorry it wasn't met and stopped as it was in Korea."

He was typically candid on a number of other questions:

On the Russians—"They lied to me 13 times at Potsdam. . .You can make agreements with them but the record shows it won't do any good."

On resumption of nuclear testing—"Suppose we'd stopped Edison after he developed that first little electric light bulb?"

On censorship of the military: "When a man becomes a military man, whether a private or a general, he undertakes to obey the Articles of War. If he can't do it, he hasn't any business in the armed forces. If he speaks out of turn, he ought to be disciplined for it."

About presidential papers: "They're all official, even if it's a letter to music critic who has insulted your daughter.

"Both my wife and my daughter wept after that. They said I'd ruined them. But in the 1948 election there wasn't a man with a daughter who didn't vote for me. It wasn't what I did it for, but that's the way it worked out."

Firm Drops Separate Collars Used 60 Yrs.

NEW YORK (AP)—It might have been expected, what with the decline of the mustache and the watch chain, that the separate shirt collar also would go.

"For all practical purposes the separate collar is no longer a part of the American scene," said Phillips-Van Heusen Corp. today in announcing it was dropping the line after 60 years.

Phillips-Van Heusen says the separate collar has, in recent years, been almost wholly supplanted by the collar-attached shirt. In 1924 it sold 24 million a year, in 1961 just 18,000.

KINGSTON SAVINGS BANK
273 Wall Street
Kingston, New York

March, 1962

DEAR KINGSTON SAVER:

Have you written to your Congressman or Senators recently? Thrift made America strong and was considered a virtue. Congress now proposes to place a 20% WITHHOLDING TAX on ALL INTEREST AND DIVIDENDS. The payor will remit that amount for credit to your Federal Income Tax. This was tried in Canada and abandoned as unworkable. We feel it is bad legislation that places an undue burden upon all honest taxpayers. The claim is that the government has not received all the tax it should from this source.

Prompt expression by you is urgent; if you do nothing, you should not subsequently complain of unfairness and inconvenience.

Your Congressman, J. Ernest Wharton, may be addressed: House Office Building. Senators, Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, Senate Office Building—both Washington 25, D. C.

We suggest that you exercise your American heritage! Let YOUR legislators know your feeling towards this legislation NOW.

LLOYD R. LeFEVER

Kingston, New York

March, 1962

DEAR KINGSTON SAVER:

Have you written to your Congressman or Senators recently? Thrift made America strong and was considered a virture. Congress now proposes to place a 20% WITHHOLDING TAX on ALL INTEREST AND DIVIDENDS. The payor will remit that amount for credit to your Federal Income Tax. This was tried in Canada and abandoned as unworkable. We feel it is bad legislation that places an undue burden upon all honest taxpayers. The claim is that the government has not received all the tax it should from this source.

Prompt expression by you is urgent; if you do nothing, you should not subsequently complain of unfairness and inconvenience.

Your Congressman, J. Ernest Wharton, may be addressed: House Office Building. Senators, Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, Senate Office Building—both Washington 25, D. C.

We suggest that you exercise your American heritage! Let YOUR legislators know your feeling towards this legislation NOW.

LLOYD R. LeFEVER

Hopes Are Fading Fast

Officials Doubt Balanced Budget

WARNS OF PERIL — Gen. Pedro Aramburu, called out of retirement in an attempt to mediate the Argentine crisis, speaks over television in Buenos Aires to tell 21 million of his fellow countrymen that they face the peril of civil war if the crisis is not resolved quickly. (AP Wirephoto by radio from Buenos Aires)

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's hopes for a balanced budget in the coming fiscal year are fading fast, due partly to legislative proposals and partly to the economy's recent sluggishness.

While administration officials refuse to concede that the battle is lost, they are increasingly less certain about achieving their economic and budgetary goals.

In January, Kennedy proposed spending $92,537,000,000 in the 1962 fiscal year which begins July 1. He foresaw record revenues of $93 billion—enough to produce a slim surplus of $463 million.

The slower rate of economic advance early in 1962 has put the biggest damper on January's optimism. Other factors have added to the potential swing toward continued red ink spending.

For instance, enactment of the public works program which Kennedy proposed Monday would add $350 million to spending. The tax reform bill awaiting House action would subtract $350 million from revenues.

The public works program, for areas of high unemployment, would whittle the indicated surplus to $113 million. The tax bill, if also enacted, would swing the budget into the red by $237 million.

These figures assume, of course, that all other factors would remain unchanged—which they won't. On the one hand, Congress will be paring down the administration's spending plans. On the other, the possibility of a less vigorous economic advance will present a threat to revenues.

In the January-March quarter, the gross national products—GNP—apparently totaled about $550 billion, at an annual rate. This would be $3 billion to $4 billion short of January forecasts.

Rocky Proceeding

headed by Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, approved the plan Monday.

The lone dissenter was Assemblyman Frank P. Cox of Albany, who quoted Corning on the estimated city tax loss. Corning also said 10 per cent of the population would be affected.

The plan, Corning argued, was being undertaken in reverse. The state should build housing first, then take the land after residents had been relocated, he said in a letter read by Cox.

"Do not build this magnificent monument on the foundation of human misery," he said. "Consider the needs of the people of Albany instead of planning a sprawling colossus."

Feb. 1 Is Date

Wilson said at a news conference that land clearance and construction of state facilities would follow drafting of a site-utilization plan. Such a blueprint must be submitted to the governor by next Feb. 1.

Present occupants may remain until the state wants to clear the land.

The State Capitol and Alfred E. Smith State Office Building on State Street are on the northern edge of the new "T"-shaped land acquisition.

The site was chosen, Wilson explained, because of its proximity to existing state buildings, the downtown commercial area, and a crosstown arterial highway now being built.

Voicing concern over Albany's physical appearance, he said he wanted a capital city of which all the state could be proud.

Hausner Flays Eichmann Plea

JERUSALEM (AP)—Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner attacked Adolf Eichmann's arguments against the death sentence today with a series of documents submitted as proof that the condemned Gestapo official was all-powerful in the Nazi plot to exterminate the Jews.

Hausner in the third day of his argument against Eichmann's appeal said a towering mass of captured Nazi documents directly linked the accused to the wartime murder campaign.

Eichmann was condemned to death in December by a special tribunal. The Supreme Court is expected to continue its hearing on his appeal through the remainder of the week.

Paret's Wife Very Hopeful For a Recovery

NEW YORK (AP)—The wife of boxer Benny (Kid) Paret expressed belief today her husband's condition is improving, despite doctors' word that it remains grave and unchanged.

Mrs. Paret told newsmen, "I think he's getting better. He's very much improved.

"He's still in a coma but he tries to open his eyes. Sometimes he opens them enough so I can see the eyeballs underneath.

She said her husband, who has not regained consciousness since receiving a savage pounding in the ring Saturday night, also seems to recognize her voice.

"I tell him, 'Honey, hold my hand,' and he tries to. He touches my face and holds my hand very tight."

However, only a few minutes before Mrs. Paret spoke with newsmen, doctors at Roosevelt Hospital said the 25-year-old Cuban-born fighter's condition was extremely grave, and termed it "remarkable" that he had changed so little.

Paret's wife has been at his side almost constantly since she arrived here Sunday night from Miami. She left the hospital this morning to visit her son, Benny Jr., who is staying with relatives.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller studied a rush report by the State Athletic Commission on the fight that cost Paret his world welterweight title—and may also cost him his life.

ACCIDENT AT FAIR AND PEARL—Two persons reported injuries after a two-car mishap at Fair and Pearl Streets Monday afternoon. Lester E. Decker, 68, of 17 Mountain View Avenue, driver of the one car, reported head and back injuries, and Lelia Decker, of the same address, reported a neck injury. They were to be treated by a doctor. The other car, a station wagon, was owned and driven by Francis Chrobot, 51, of 10 Clinton Avenue. Island Dock Inc. was listed as the owner of the car driven by Decker. Officers Edward Edwards and Louis Sapp investigated. The station wagon was damaged on its front, and the other on the left side (above right). (Freeman photo)

Sixth Vols Lesson Slated at Ulster Hose

The sixth lesson in a series of 12 training sessions for volunteer firemen, sponsored by Ulster Hose Company No. 5 will be held Wednesday 7:30 p. m. at the hose rooms, Albany Avenue Extension.

The course is being conducted by Robert E. Fuhr of Stone Ridge, a member of the staff of County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder of Hurley.

Those who have completed the course at Centerville Firehouse in the Town of Saugerties and may require attendance at sessions they missed, are welcome to attend at Ulster Hose Firehouse for make-up classes.

City Voters Given Hope by Decision Of Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's action to place the question of equitable state legislative districting before the federal courts could have a chain reaction on American politics.

While the Tennessee case on which the court ruled Monday involved only legislative redistricting, politicians suspect that if the U.S. courts can decide such matters it might not be long until they were asked to consider congressional districting.

Two Examples Cited

Just as they have with state legislatures, many city voters have felt they have far less representation in Congress than the rural population.

As an example, 59,063 voters turned out when Rep. Ralph J. Rivers, a Democrat, was elected at large in Alaska in 1960. But 406,995 went to the polls when GOP Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church won in the 13th District of Illinois, a Chicago suburban area.

In Southern districts where there is no Republican opposition, fewer than 25,000 persons often officially choose a representative in the general election.

Most of the states have completed their changes of congressional district boundary lines on the basis of state population gains or losses shown by the 1960 census.

Many of these changes were made by legislatures under control of rural representatives who could be expected to protect as much as possible the interests of congressmen more concerned with agricultural than city problems.

Charles S. Rhyne, an attorney for the urban Tennessee voters, said the court's decision will affect every state and "could pretty well shift control of state legislatures to urban areas."

Denounces Ruling

The extent to which the city vs. country controversy has progressed is demonstrated by the fact that in many other states suits are pending similar to that instituted in Tennessee.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., denounced the ruling directing federal courts to hear legislative apportionment cases as being in "direct violation of the constitutional doctrine of separation of the powers upon which our republican form of government is based."

Rep. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., was pleased with the decision. He predicted that "reapportionment as required by the Tennessee constitution will result from a hearing on the merits of the case."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., called the decision "one of the most far-reaching ever rendered." He said it "sweeps away the balance of powers between legislative, executive and judicial functions."

Troopers Press Probe to Find Stolen Rifles

Ellenville State Police today were pressing an investigation in an effort to obtain clues that might lead to the apprehension of the person who burglarized The Trading Post, Route 209, Wawarsing.

Investigator George Dana said the intruder made a getaway with 12 to 15 high-powered rifles, after breaking glass in the front door of the store and removing the latch.

Dana said the proprietor, Seymour Sussman, of the store died March 16, and the store was closed during a mourning period. Dana said Mrs. Sussman planned to reopen the store last Saturday and when she went to the establishment she discovered it had been burglarized.

Troopers said the value of the guns had not been reported.

summit meeting in May—just before a progress report is due the United Nations on June 1. If there is a meeting attended by President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Berlin also will be a major topic.

Rusk is expected to report to Kennedy that his talks with Gromyko disclosed no basic changes whatever in the Soviet demands for Western withdrawal from Berlin and for surrender of the Berlin access routes to full East German control.

Rusk will also report complete failure to make any progress toward a treaty to ban nuclear weapons tests. The Soviets refused to consider an international inspection system, as demanded by the Western powers, to police a test ban.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued an irregular decline in moderate trading early this afternoon but steels and selected issues resisted the trend. Tobaccos were still weak.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .40 at 258.60 with industrials down .90, rails unchanged and utilities unchanged.

Losses of most key stocks were small. Tobaccos were an exception, some declines in that group running to around 4 points.

Steels perked up.

American Tobacco and Philip Morris fell about 4 apiece, Liggett & Myers around 3 and Lorillard more than 2.

Among the steels, Jones & Laughlin picked up a full point before paring the rise while Republic and U.S. Steel added fractions.

Ford was up nearly a point in a mixed motor section. American Telephone also was up close to a point with some other utilities adding fractions.

Great Western Financial advanced more than a point. Union Carbide, Royal Dutch, Eastern Air Lines and International Harvester rose fractionally.

Volunteers Continue To Fight Brush Fires

Fire companies in four communities were called out Monday afternoon and last night to extinguish brush fires, according to the County Control Center.

At 5:29 p. m. Centerville Fire Co. was dispatched to the apple orchard of Jacob Rogers near the Pinewoods House at West Saugerties, where fire in brush flared up a second time. The first alarm was at about 11 a. m.

Mutual Aid reported Clintondale was called out at 3:43 p. m. for a brush fire; Esopus at 4:01 p. m. to extinguish burning brush, and Connelly at 7:54 p. m. for a brush fire.

Thomason to Be UPI President

NEW YORK (AP)—Mims Thomason, 51, business manager of United Press International since 1955, will become president and general manager April 6, the news service announced.

He will succeed Frank H. Bartholomew, 63, who becomes chairman of the board.

The UPI announcement Monday said Bartholomew will deal in his new post "with the determination and application of policy and departmental coordination." He has been president since 1955.

Thomason, a native of Lynchburg, Va., joined United Press at Raleigh, N.C., in 1934 after working on papers in Knoxville, Detroit, and Suffolk, Va.

Later, he headed United Press news and business operations in the Midwest, was vice president and general manager of United Press newspictures. He became first vice president in 1958, the year United Press acquired International News Service and became UPI.

Bartholomew joined the United Press in Portland, Ore., in 1921, after graduating from the University of Oregon and working on newspapers in the Northwest.

Roderick W. Beaton, manager of UPI's Central Division in Chicago, was named to succeed Thomason as business manager. Dale M. Johns, manager of the New England Division in Boston, was named to succeed Beaton and H. Calvin Thornton, Central Division business manager, was picked to succeed Johns.

State Tax Office For Assistance Is At Court House

An office for assistance to taxpayers with their New York State Income tax returns has been opened in the Ulster County court house by the New York State Department of Taxation and Finance. Both forms and help may be obtained there. The office is located on the first floor adjacent to the office of the clerk of the Board of Supervisors.

Cornelius Spencer, senior tax examiner, with the New York State Income Tax Bureau, will be at the office as nearly as possible from 8:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 1:30 p. m. to 5 p. m. each day, except Saturday and Sunday, from now through April 16.

Spencer stated that if a taxpayer seeks assistance in filling out the long form, a copy of the Federal Tax return should be brought by the taxpayer. Information will also be given by phone when circumstances permit.

Feel Poll Tax Amendment Will Proceed Quickly

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate goes back to its regular schedule today after Southerners suddenly broke off their 10-day talkfest against an antipoll tax amendment.

Senate leaders now feel the amendment will sail through the Senate by the end of the week.

The debate, which stopped committee hearings and held up other legislation, ended late Monday. The Senate then agreed 62 to 15 to take up the minor bill—to make Alexander Hamilton's home a national monument—that will serve as the vehicle for the amendment.

After the vote Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told newsmen he was confident the matter would be cleaned up this week with overwhelming passage of the amendment.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he was quite hopeful of the same outcome. One Southern senator said privately he felt the final vote would come by the end of this week.

The Southerners had tied up almost all Senate business with their word war, but they folded late Monday without using all of the weapons at their command.

Each senator was entitled to speak twice, but several Southerners did not bother to make their second speech, even though they oppose the poll tax ban.

The sudden decision to end the speeches apparently meant the Southerners fighting the antipoll tax measure were convinced they had built up a satisfactory record of opposition with the voters in their home states.

The proposed constitutional amendment would make it impossible for any state to impose a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in a federal election. Five states—Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia—now have such a levy.

In Monday's vote, 14 Southerners joined by Sen. J. J. Hickey, D-Wyo., opposed bringing up the Hamilton bill; no Republicans supported them.

Backing the motion were 26 Republicans and 36 Democrats, including five Southern Democrats—Sens. Spessard L. Holland of Florida, Russell B. Long of Louisiana, B. Everett Jordan of North Carolina, Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, and Ralph W. Yarborough of Texas.

Firm Keeping Data Secret Multiples Investment Risk

Q—"My thoughts are on a stock which sells to yield 8 per cent. I'm sold on it except for one thing. When I asked for financial reports, the firm said no such statements were being issued. A while ago my brother told me not to invest in anything unless the company would released detailed information on its operations. What should I do?" M. F.

A—I recommend that you forget about the 8 per cent and do as your brother suggests.

While not everyone can interpret a balance sheet and earnings statement, it is very important that these be made available. Most publicly-owned corporations make a sincere effort to furnish adequate information on their activities. Shares of companies where little financial data is published are not necessarily bad risks, but they've certainly harder to evaluate and more difficult to follow once you've bought into them. The more information you can get on a company before investing, the less the chances are that you'll make a mistake.

Under present market conditions, I would want to know a great deal about any stock yielding 8 per cent, which is a lot more than the going rate. The return offered may be higher because of a relatively poor outlook which has held down the price of the stock in question.

Since you seem to want income, I suggest that you take a look at Allied Stores (NYSE), a good quality, relatively safe stock which yields about 4.7 per cent and provides an opportunity for gradual appreciation.

Q—"I own Northwest Airlines at $29 a share. What is your guess as to the price it will reach in 1962?" J. S.

A—This is a tough one to answer. Northwest Airlines has a lot of leverage in its operational structure, and it wouldn't take much change in the load factor to swing earnings sharply to one side or the other. However, if things go well at the Seattle World's Fair, and if the company is able to show earning power of $3.00 or $3.50 a share, I would guess that a multiple of 13 times might be justified in a strong market, giving an objective of perhaps $39-$45 a share.

Two Get Suspended Sentences in Goshen

Accused of entering a Wallkill home on Christmas Day, 1960, two men were given suspended sentences recently in Orange County Court at Goshen, and both were placed on probation.

The men were George Plant, 27, Route 302, Circleville, and Frederick Fobinholt, 21, of Warwick. Indicted on burglary third degree charges they were permitted to plead guilty before Orange County Judge Edward M. O'Gorman to reduced charges of petit larceny.

With two other men, Plant and Rominholt were accused of entering the home of Emil Muzzi at Wallkill.

Assistance Recommended

Initiation of most examinations in the past was based on an annual survey of provisionally filled positions, except those for fire and police positions for which examinations were held in anticipation of vacancies. The new policy is to request examination assistance as soon as provisional appointments are made.

Of regular municipal department, the report said approximately 19 per cent or 55 of the competitive positions are filled on a provisional basis. Examinations are in process for all positions except recreation supervisor. Included are several positions in the laboratory for which examinations were held in obeyance at the time of the January, 1961 report due to classification problems.

Work Is Resumed On Piers for Newburgh Span

Work has been resumed on construction of five piers for the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge and it is expected work on six more piers will begin soon, according to Edward J. Burns, administrative assistant for the State Bridge Authority.

Burns said ice was the main problem and curtailed construction through the winter. Burns noted that progress in construction is satisfactory.

Three piers are slated for completion by July 31. Twelve other piers are expected to be completed sometime in December.

Work on the eastern approach to the new Hudson River span in Beacon is continuing, Burns said. According to plans the bridge is expected to be completed by October, 1963. Five piers were begun last fall and are now showing above the water.

Officials Doubt Balanced Budget

WARNS OF PERIL — Gen. Pedro Aramburu, called out of retirement in an attempt to mediate the Argentine crisis, speaks over television in Buenos Aires to tell 21 million of his fellow countrymen that they face the peril of civil war if the crisis is not resolved quickly. WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's hopes for a balanced budget in the coming fiscal year are fading fast, due partly to legislative proposals and partly to the economy's recent sluggishness.

While administration officials refuse to concede that the battle is lost, they are increasingly less certain about achieving their economic and budgetary goals.

In January, Kennedy proposed spending $92,537,000,000 in the 1962 fiscal year which begins July 1. He foresaw record revenues of $93 billion—enough to produce a slim surplus of $463 million.

The slower rate of economic advance early in 1962 has put the biggest damper on January's optimism. Other factors have added to the potential swing toward continued red ink spending.

For instance, enactment of the public works program which Kennedy proposed Monday would add $350 million to spending. The tax reform bill awaiting House action would subtract $350 million from revenues.

The public works program, for areas of high unemployment, would whittle the indicated surplus to $113 million. The tax bill, if also enacted, would swing the budget into the red by $237 million.

These figures assume, of course, that all other factors would remain unchanged—which they won't. On the one hand, Congress will be paring down the administration's spending plans. On the other, the possibility of a less vigorous economic advance will present a threat to revenues.

In the January-March quarter, the gross national products—GNP—apparently totaled about $550 billion, at an annual rate. This would be $3 billion to $4 billion short of January forecasts.

Rocky Proceeding

The lone dissenter was Assemblyman Frank P. Cox of Albany, who quoted Corning on the estimated city tax loss. Corning also said 10 per cent of the population would be affected.

The plan, Corning argued, was being undertaken in reverse. The state should build housing first, then take the land after residents had been relocated, he said in a letter read by Cox.

"Do not build this magnificent monument on the foundation of human misery," he said. "Consider the needs of the people of Albany instead of planning a sprawling colossus."

Feb. 1 Is Date

Wilson said at a news conference that land clearance and construction of state facilities would follow drafting of a site-utilization plan. Such a blueprint must be submitted to the governor by next Feb. 1.

Present occupants may remain until the state wants to clear the land.

The State Capitol and Alfred E. Smith State Office Building on State Street are on the northern edge of the new "T"-shaped land acquisition.

The site was chosen, Wilson explained, because of its proximity to existing state buildings, the downtown commercial area, and a crosstown arterial highway now being built.

Voicing concern over Albany's physical appearance, he said he wanted a capital city of which all the state could be proud.

Hausner Flays Eichmann Plea

JERUSALEM (AP)—Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner attacked Adolf Eichmann's arguments against the death sentence today with a series of documents submitted as proof that the condemned Gestapo official was all-powerful in the Nazi plot to exterminate the Jews.

Hausner in the third day of his argument against Eichmann's appeal said a towering mass of captured Nazi documents directly linked the accused to the wartime murder campaign.

Eichmann was condemned to death in December by a special tribunal. The Supreme Court is expected to continue its hearing on his appeal through the remainder of the week.

Paret's Wife Very Hopeful For a Recovery

NEW YORK (AP)—The wife of boxer Benny (Kid) Paret expressed belief today her husband's condition is improving, despite doctors' word that it remains grave and unchanged.

Mrs. Paret told newsmen, "I think he's getting better. He's very much improved.

"He's still in a coma but he tries to open his eyes. Sometimes he opens them enough so I can see the eyeballs underneath.

She said her husband, who has not regained consciousness since receiving a savage pounding in the ring Saturday night, also seems to recognize her voice.

"I tell him, 'Honey, hold my hand,' and he tries to. He touches my face and holds my hand very tight."

However, only a few minutes before Mrs. Paret spoke with newsmen, doctors at Roosevelt Hospital said the 25-year-old Cuban-born fighter's condition was extremely grave, and termed it "remarkable" that he had changed so little.

Paret's wife has been at his side almost constantly since she arrived here Sunday night from Miami. She left the hospital this morning to visit her son, Benny Jr., who is staying with relatives.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller studied a rush report by the State Athletic Commission on the fight that cost Paret his world welterweight title—and may also cost him his life.

ACCIDENT AT FAIR AND PEARL—Two persons reported injuries after a two-car mishap at Fair and Pearl Streets Monday afternoon. Lester E. Decker, 68, of 17 Mountain View Avenue, driver of the one car, reported head and back injuries, and Lelia Decker, of the same address, reported a neck injury. They were to be treated by a doctor. The other car, a station wagon, was owned and driven by Francis Chrobot, 51, of 10 Clinton Avenue. Island Dock Inc. was listed as the owner of the car driven by Decker. Officers Edward Edwards and Louis Sapp investigated. The station wagon was damaged on its front, and the other on the left side (above right). (Freeman photo)

Sixth Vols Lesson Slated at Ulster Hose

The sixth lesson in a series of 12 training sessions for volunteer firemen, sponsored by Ulster Hose Company No. 5 will be held Wednesday 7:30 p. m. at the hose rooms, Albany Avenue Extension.

The course is being conducted by Robert E. Fuhr of Stone Ridge, a member of the staff of County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder of Hurley.

Those who have completed the course at Centerville Firehouse in the Town of Saugerties and may require attendance at sessions they missed, are welcome to attend at Ulster Hose Firehouse for make-up classes.

City Voters Given Hope by Decision Of Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's action to place the question of equitable state legislative districting before the federal courts could have a chain reaction on American politics.

While the Tennessee case on which the court ruled Monday involved only legislative redistricting, politicians suspect that if the U.S. courts can decide such matters it might not be long until they were asked to consider congressional districting.

Two Examples Cited

Just as they have with state legislatures, many city voters have felt they have far less representation in Congress than the rural population.

As an example, 59,063 voters turned out when Rep. Ralph J. Rivers, a Democrat, was elected at large in Alaska in 1960. But 406,992 went to the polls when GOP Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church won in the 13th District of Illinois, a Chicago suburban area.

In Southern districts where there is no Republican opposition, fewer than 25,000 persons often officially choose a representative in the general election.

Most of the states have completed their changes of congressional district boundary lines on the basis of state population gains or losses shown by the 1960 census.

Many of these changes were made by legislatures under control of rural representatives who could be expected to protect as much as possible the interests of congressmen more concerned with agricultural than city problems.

Charles S. Rhyne, an attorney for the urban Tennessee voters, said the court's decision will affect every state and "could pretty well shift control of state legislatures to urban areas."

Denounces Ruling

The extent to which the city vs. country controversy has progressed is demonstrated by the fact that in many other states suits are pending similar to that instituted in Tennessee.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., denounced the ruling directing federal courts to hear legislative apportionment cases as being in "direct violation of the constitutional doctrine of separation of the powers upon which our republican form of government is based."

Rep. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., was pleased with the decision. He predicted that "reapportionment as required by the Tennessee constitution will result from a hearing on the merits of the case."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., called the decision "one of the most far-reaching ever rendered." He said it "sweeps away the balance of powers between legislative, executive and judicial functions."

Troopers Press Probe to Find Stolen Rifles

Ellenville State Police today were pressing an investigation in an effort to obtain clues that might lead to the apprehension of the person who burglarized The Trading Post, Route 209, Wawarsing.

Investigator George Dana said the intruder made a getaway with 12 to 15 high-powered rifles, after breaking glass in the front door of the store and removing the latch.

Dana said the proprietor, Seymour Sussman, of the store died March 16, and the store was closed during a mourning period. Dana said Mrs. Sussman planned to reopen the store last Saturday and when she went to the establishment she discovered it had been burglarized.

Troopers said the value of the guns had not been reported.

summit meeting in May—just before a progress report is due the United Nations on June 1. If there is a meeting attended by President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Berlin also will be a major topic.

Rusk is expected to report to Kennedy that his talks with Gromyko disclosed no basic changes whatever in the Soviet demands for Western withdrawal from Berlin and for surrender of the Berlin access routes to full East German control.

Rusk will also report complete failure to make any progress toward a treaty to ban nuclear weapons tests. The Soviets refused to consider an international inspection system, as demanded by the Western powers, to police a test ban.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued an irregular decline in moderate trading early this afternoon but steels and selected issues resisted the trend. Tobaccos were still weak.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .40 at 258.60 with industrials down .90, rails unchanged and utilities unchanged.

Losses of most key stocks were small. Tobaccos were an exception, some declines in that group running to around 4 points.

American Tobacco and Philip Morris fell about 4 apiece, Liggett & Myers around 3 and Lorillard more than 2.

Ford was up nearly a point in a mixed motor section. American Telephone also was up close to a point with some other utilities adding fractions.

Great Western Financial advanced more than a point. Union Carbide, Royal Dutch, Eastern Air Lines and International Harvester rose fractionally.

Volunteers Continue To Fight Brush Fires

Fire companies in four communities were called out Monday afternoon and last night to extinguish brush fires, according to the County Control Center.

At 5:29 p. m. Centerville Fire Co. was dispatched to the apple orchard of Jacob Rogers near the Pinewoods House at West Saugerties, where fire in brush flared up a second time. The first alarm was at about 11 a. m.

Mutual Aid reported Clintondale was called out at 3:43 p. m. for a brush fire; Esopus at 4:01 p. m. to extinguish burning brush, and Connelly at 7:54 p. m. for a brush fire.

Thomason to Be UPI President

NEW YORK (AP)—Mims Thomason, 51, business manager of United Press International since 1955, will become president and general manager April 6, the news service announced.

He will succeed Frank H. Bartholomew, 63, who becomes chairman of the board.

The UPI announcement Monday said Bartholomew will deal in his new post "with the determination and application of policy and departmental coordination." He has been president since 1955.

Thomason, a native of Lynchburg, Va., joined United Press at Raleigh, N.C., in 1934 after working on papers in Knoxville, Detroit, and Suffolk, Va.

Later, he headed United Press news and business operations in the Midwest, was vice president and general manager of United Press newspictures. He became first vice president in 1958, the year United Press acquired International News Service and became UPI.

Bartholomew joined the United Press in Portland, Ore., in 1921, after graduating from the University of Oregon and working on newspapers in the Northwest.

Roderick W. Beaton, manager of UPI's Central Division in Chicago, was named to succeed Thomason as business manager. Dale M. Johns, manager of the New England Division in Boston, was named to succeed Beaton and H. Calvin Thornton, Central Division business manager, was picked to succeed Johns.

State Tax Office For Assistance Is At Court House

An office for assistance to taxpayers with their New York State Income tax returns has been opened in the Ulster County court house by the New York State Department of Taxation and Finance. Both forms and help may be obtained there. The office is located on the first floor adjacent to the office of the clerk of the Board of Supervisors.

Cornelius Spencer, senior tax examiner, with the New York State Income Tax Bureau, will be at the office as nearly as possible from 8:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 1:30 p. m. to 5 p. m. each day, except Saturday and Sunday, from now through April 16.

Spencer stated that if a taxpayer seeks assistance in filling out the long form, a copy of the Federal Tax return should be brought by the taxpayer. Information will also be given by phone when circumstances permit.

Feel Poll Tax Amendment Will Proceed Quickly

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate goes back to its regular schedule today after Southerners suddenly broke off their 10-day talkfest against an antipoll tax amendment.

Senate leaders now feel the amendment will sail through the Senate by the end of the week.

The debate, which stopped committee hearings and held up other legislation, ended late Monday. The Senate then agreed 62 to 15 to take up the minor bill—to make Alexander Hamilton's home a national monument—that will serve as the vehicle for the amendment.

After the vote Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told newsmen he was confident the matter would be cleaned up this week with overwhelming passage of the amendment.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he was quite hopeful of the same outcome. One Southern senator said privately he felt the final vote would come by the end of this week.

The Southerners had tied up almost all Senate business with their word war, but they folded late Monday without using all of the weapons at their command.

Each senator was entitled to speak twice, but several Southerners did not bother to make their second speech, even though they oppose the poll tax ban.

The sudden decision to end the speeches apparently meant the Southerners fighting the antipoll tax measure were convinced they had built up a satisfactory record of opposition with the voters in their home states.

The proposed constitutional amendment would make it impossible for any state to impose a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in a federal election. Five states—Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia—now have such a levy.

In Monday's vote, 14 Southerners joined by Sen. J. J. Hickey, D-Wyo., opposed bringing up the Hamilton bill; no Republicans supported them.

Backing the motion were 26 Republicans and 36 Democrats, including five Southern Democrats—Sens. Spessard L. Holland of Florida, Russell B. Long of Louisiana, B. Everett Jordan of North Carolina, Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, and Ralph W. Yarborough of Texas.

Firm Keeping Data Secret Multiples Investment Risk

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—"My thoughts are on a stock which sells to yield 8 per cent. I'm sold on it except for one thing. When I asked for financial reports, the firm said no such statements were being issued. A while ago my brother told me not to invest in anything unless the company would released detailed information on its operations. What should I do?" M. F.

A—I recommend that you forget about the 8 per cent and do as your brother suggests.

While not everyone can interpret a balance sheet and earnings statement, it is very important that these be made available. Most publicly-owned corporations make a sincere effort to furnish adequate information on their activities. Shares of companies where little financial data is published are not necessarily bad risks, but they've certainly harder to evaluate and more difficult to follow once you've bought into them. The more information you can get on a company before investing, the less the chances are that you'll make a mistake.

Under present market conditions, I would want to know a great deal about any stock yielding 8 per cent, which is a lot more than the going rate. The return offered may be higher because of a relatively poor outlook which has held down the price of the stock in question.

Since you seem to want income, I suggest that you take a look at Allied Stores (NYSE), a good quality, relatively safe stock which yields about 4.7 per cent and provides an opportunity for gradual appreciation.

Q—"I own Northwest Airlines at $29 a share. What is your guess as to the price it will reach in 1962?" J. S.

A—This is a tough one to answer. Northwest Airlines has a lot of leverage in its operational structure, and it wouldn't take much change in the load factor to swing earnings sharply to one side or the other. However, if things go well at the Seattle World's Fair, and if the company is able to show earning power of $3.00 or $3.50 a share, I would guess that a multiple of 13 times might be justified in a strong market, giving an objective of perhaps $39-$45 a share.

Two Get Suspended Sentences in Goshen

Accused of entering a Wallkill home on Christmas Day, 1960, two men were given suspended sentences recently in Orange County Court at Goshen, and both were placed on probation.

The men were George Plant, 27, Route 302, Circleville, and Frederick Fobinholt, 21, of Warwick. Indicted on burglary third degree charges they were permitted to plead guilty before Orange County Judge Edward M. O'Gorman to reduced charges of petit larceny.

With two other men, Plant and Rominholt were accused of entering the home of Emil Muzzi at Wallkill.

Initiation of most examinations in the past was based on an annual survey of provisionally filled positions, except those for fire and police positions for which examinations were held in anticipation of vacancies. The new policy is to request examination assistance as soon as provisional appointments are made.

Of regular municipal department, the report said approximately 19 per cent or 55 of the competitive positions are filled on a provisional basis. Examinations are in process for all positions except recreation supervisor. Included are several positions in the laboratory for which examinations were held in obeyance at the time of the January, 1961 report due to classification problems.

Work Is Resumed On Piers for Newburgh Span

Work has been resumed on construction of five piers for the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge and it is expected work on six more piers will begin soon, according to Edward J. Burns, administrative assistant for the State Bridge Authority.

Burns said ice was the main problem and curtailed construction through the winter. Burns noted that progress in construction is satisfactory.

Three piers are slated for completion by July 31. Twelve other piers are expected to be completed sometime in December.

Work on the eastern approach to the new Hudson River span in Beacon is continuing, Burns said. According to plans the bridge is expected to be completed by October, 1963. Five piers were begun last fall and are now showing above the water.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Millions of sports-watchers on Saturday night saw boxer Benny Paret, after absorbing many blows, slip unconscious onto the floor of the ring. Then the television cameras showed doctors working over the fallen and critically injured ex-champion and his removal on a stretcher.

The scene is a familiar one to anyone who has watched the many television and movie dramas about prizefights. But Saturday night it was different: Those were real blows Paret was taking, and his slump to the floor was that of a man who had suffered a serious injury. And, to judge from comments by viewers, it was a chilling thing to see.

But, perhaps the most unfortunate part was the decision of ABC to re-run immediately the tape showing the final moments of the fight, complete with scenes of emergency treatment of the unconscious man.

It is somehow ironic that this occurred at a time when television's critics are complaining of excessive violence and brutality in its program content. But the offensive violence and brutality is the Hollywood type—phony, compounded of fierce swings that miss their mark by inches and heroic tussles by stunt men using breakaway furniture.

Perry Como has decided to put in a full work year of 33 weekly shows next season on NBC, after all.

Star names draw audiences—Saturday night's NBC old movie had Marlene Dietrich and James Stewart, and in most areas was getting bigger audiences than "Gunsmoke" which is the usual winner in the weekly audience race.

The daytime "Tennessee Ernie Ford Show" kicking off on ABC Monday will include comedy, music, a sing-along feature, and will wind up with an inspirational song.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin will be guest on "Meet the Press" next Sunday, a timely appearance just two weeks from tax deadline.

Recommended tonight: "Dick Powell Show," NBC, 9-10 (EST)—"The Clocks," with Joan Fontaine; "Close-up," ABC, 10-11—report on conditions in "peaceful" Cambodia.

ENTERS AIR FORCE—Miss Alphia Dunn receives oath of enlistment for the Women's Air Force from 1st Lt. J. Spindler at the Armed Forces Induction Center, Albany. Miss Dunn is a daughter of Mrs. George Dunn of Wilbur Avenue, Rosendale. She will be stationed at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

NEW YORK (AP)—Dental bills come higher these days than a generation ago. Most bills do.

Much of this is due to the same bogey that has raised charges for most services—rising operating, equipment and material costs.

But dentists contend you get a lot more for your money than your parents did. They also insist that their productivity rate has put to shame the rise in industry in general.

Dental Work Increases

This may be of some comfort to Americans who spend $2 billion a year on dental services, usually with noticeable reluctance.

The American Dental Association says dental productivity—the amount of work done for patients per hour—increased 42 per cent between 1951 and 1960. The government index of industrial productivity—the amount of goods turned out per man hour of labor—increased 27.6 per cent in that period, from 111.2 in 1951 to 141.9 in 1960.

The association says new techniques, ideas, equipment and procedures let today's dentist increase the number of patients he can serve. For example, high-speed drills, billed as painless, lessen preparation time for cavity filling.

Ahead of Soviets

Other examples of time savers are increased use of assistants, dental hygienists, new types of anesthesia, faster techniques for taking mouth impressions and new amalgams for fillings.

It also may comfort you to know (if you're worried about Russian scientific and technical advances) that in the number of dentists, at least, the United States has the U.S.S.R. skinned by a country mile. The association reports 93,000 practicing dentists here compared with 45,000 in the Soviet Union.

It adds that the United States has the highest level of dentistry in the world. Rising productivity is credited with achieving this in the face of the failure of the number of dentists to increase as fast as the population in general. In 1940 there were 62 dentists for each 100,000 Americans, the association says, and in 1960 there were 56.

But the number of specialists has increased markedly, as in other fields.

In 1940 there were 500 orthodontists in the country. Today there are more than 3,500. You know the orthodontist chiefly as the person who put braces on your teeth when you were young. But he corrects many teeth irregularities and today adults as well as children visit him.

Accused Robber Is Sentenced to Term in Prison

A 40-year-old Kingston man was sentenced recently by Orange County Judge Edward M. O'Gorman at Goshen to an indeterminate term of two to five years in Sing Sing prison. Carmine Finelli, who gave his address to authorities as 62 Foxhall Avenue, pleaded guilty in January to a reduced charge of second degree robbery.

Finelli was arresteed last Oct. 10, by off-duty Patrolman James Boyd, who nabbed the Kingston man while attempting to make a getaway after robbing Joseph Fame, assistant manager of the Grand Union Supermarket in Newburgh, of about $1,200, at gunpoint.

Before sentence was imposed, Finelli told Judge O'Gorman he was faced with "financial disaster" at the time and did not do it for greed. Finelli said he now realizes it was the wrong solution.

William M. Kavanaugh, Newburgh attorney, said Finelli's car was taken by a finance company and the defendant faced the threat the electricity would be turned off at his home.

Finelli had been indicted on charges of first degree robbery, but was permitted to plead to the lesser charge.

Noting that robbery is one of the most serious crimes, Judge O'Gorman said that had the man fired the weapon during the hold-up or in the scuffle with the patrolman, Finelli might have faced a murder charge.

O'Gorman directed that Finelli be giveen credit for the four months already served in the Orange County Jail awaiting disposition of the charge.

Waterway Causes State Line Fight

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Government, labor and industry leaders from Pennsylvania and Ohio have gone to war over the proposed Lake Erie-Ohio River Canal.

Pennsylvania officials, headed by U. S. Sens. Joseph R. Clark, and Democrat Hugh Scott, Republican; Gov. David Lawrence, Republican Reps. Carroll D. Kearns, and James VanZandt, and Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph Barr, attacked the proposed waterway.

They claimed the canal would be detrimental to the interests of Pennsylvania and would be beneficial strictly to Youngstown industries.

Led by Democratic U. S. Rep. Michael J. Kirwan, Assistant Atty. Gen. Theodore R. Saker, Youngstown Mayor Harry Savasten and state representative Thomas P. Gilmartin, Ohio officials contend the canal would revive steel and coal industries in the area and solve the chronic unemployment problem.

United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald also spoke out in favor of the canal, saying:

"Recessions in steel have been growing more frequent and more profound...the waterway is a vital element in a remedial program."

The canal, if built, would run for about 105 miles from Lake Erie down through Youngstown to the Ohio River. Costs of the project have been estimated at $1 billion to $2.75 billion.

New Hurley

NEW HURLEY—Under the auspices of the Women's Guild for Christian Service, a Lenten service, entitled What Price the Cross, featuring special dramatization by women of the church, will be presented at the New Hurley Reformed Church Friday, 8 p. m.

At 7:30 p. m. an election and installation of officers will be held. Refreshments will be served with social hour following the program in the church hall. The public may attend.

Toys in the Tub

Youngsters will get more enjoyment from bathtubs if you provide playthings for their bath. Any little boy would like to pretend he's a skipper and will love a captain's cap and a fleet of plastic "yachts" to sail over the soapsuds waves.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Bake Easter Ham to a Turn in Foil

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Baked ham, elegantly served, is a traditional Easter dish. Of course there are many ways to cook it. One we tried recently produced beautiful results with a minimum of preparation.

The ham is first completely wrapped in superstrength aluminum foil. When done, open foil to score the fat and to baste with glazes to give added flavor and a glossy finish. (This method not only reduces meat shrinkage, but saves scouring the roast pan.)

Wrap whole smoked ham in heavy duty aluminum foil to seal completely. Bake in a preheated 425 degrees F. oven for 25 to 30 minutes per pound. This is average time for a 6 to 8-pound ham.

If you use a meat thermometer, it should be inserted through the foil wrapping. Internal temperature reading should be 160 degrees F. when done.

About a half-hour before done, remove ham from oven. Open foil and press foil down around meat. With sharp knife, make diagonal cuts ⅛ inches deep and about ¾ inches apart across entire fat surface of ham. Repeat at an angle to make squares or diamonds. Stud top of ham with cloves. Spread or baste glazes over the meat.

Here are three suggestions:

1. One cup of brown sugar mixed with juice and grated rind of one orange.

2. One cup of currant jelly or orange marmalade, beaten with a fork.

3. One cup of pureed applesauce, apricots or peaches.

Chairman Tells Of BloodBankAid By Red Cross

In answering the question frequently asked, Does the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross conduct a blood program? Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, chapter chairman, issued the following statement today:

"Since the Red Cross programs are designed to meet community needs, and duplication of service is avoided, the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross does not participate in the Red Cross blood program.

Needs Are Served

"However, this community does benefit from the Red Cross blood program. Kingston Laboratory has an arrangement with the New York Regional Blood Center whereby the Red Cross will provide blood in New York hospitals for residents of Kingston. In return the Red Cross New York Regional Blood Center receives blood credits for New York City residents who may be hospitalized in Kingston by those hospitals served by the Kingston Laboratory.

"In 1961 the New York Regional Blood Center found it necessary to adopt the hospital participation plan as a means of assisting the financing of this program. The hospital participation fee represents a portion of the total cost incurred by the New York Regional Center to collect, process, and distribute blood to the hospitals. The hospital participation fee of $5 per unit of blood is passed on by the hospital to the patient.

Balance Is Paid

"This represents only a fraction of the cost to Red Cross for the processing of blood, and the balance is paid by Red Cross chapters that are participating in the regional program. If the New York Regional Blood Center did not have this arrangement with the Kingston Laboratory, donors would have to travel to New York City to make their donations, and the hospital would still have to make a charge to the patient for collecting blood from the donors.

"Another phase by which this community benefits from the Red Cross blood program is the distribution of Vaccinia Immune Globulin. It is used in medical emergencies in which adequate treatment must be given as early as possible and frequently involves small children.

"Recently a local pediatrition received a shipment of this life-saving blood product from the New York Regional Center for one of his patients. The Vaccinia Immune Globulin is developed through the American Red Cross Blood Research Program in cooperation with the Armed Forces of the United States. The product is made available to physicians at no cost and is used in cases where complications develop from vaccination.

"Throgh cooperation with the regional office of the American Red Cross this life saving Vaccinia Immune Globulin was ordered from the Red Cross Regional Blood office in New York and arrived in Kingston ready for administratioin to the patient five hours later."

Lecturer, Writer To Talk About Mental Health

ALGERNON D. BLACK

Algernon D. Black, noted pedagogue and lecturer, will speak on, "Moral and Ethical Tensions in Mental Illness" on Tuesday, April 3, at 8 p. m. in the cafeteria of George Washington School. This is the third and final meeting in the current series presented by the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, entitled, "Social Factors in Mental Mealth."

Dr. Eugene P. Link, chairman of the Department of Sociology at the State University College of Education in New Paltz, will preside.

Mr. Black's impressive positions include chairman of the board of directors of the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing, to which he was appointed by President Kennedy. He is chairman of the Department of Ethics at the Ethical Cultural Schools. Mr. Black is author of "The Young Citizens," which is the latest of his many published works. He has appeared frequently on radio and television programs.

The Ulster County Association for Mental Health extends an invitation to the public to attend this lecture.

Milk Producers To Dissolve Unit

NEWTON, N.J., (AP)—A milk producers local union with members in three states is being dissolved, its president said today.

Charles Barbay, Sr., president of Milk Producers Local 69 of the Teamsters Union, said he had started a move to reactivate the Tri-State Master Dairy Farmers guild to replace the local, which is composed of dairy farmers in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and southern New York State. The guild ceased to exist when the local was organized in 1956.

"At the time the Guild went into the Teamsters, it was felt this would form a perfect wedges in the hands of two groups in bargaining," Barbay said. "The Teamsters are a very effective group, but they have not been of assistance to dairy farmers."

With 185 million inhabitants in 1961 the U. S. average per square mile was 52 persons, double the 1900 average.

DeMolay Chapter Elects Officers

Colonial Chapter, Order of DeMolay, held its election of officers in the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, Thursday with William A. Evans, Dad of the chapter presiding.

The reports showed that the chapter enjoyed a very active and successful year and plans were made for many future activities.

Public installation of the officers will be held on Saturday evening, April 21, at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, by the members of Martin B. Connoly Chapter, Order of DeMolay, of Middletown.

Area Men Attend Party Convention

Nathan Pressman of Ellenville and Max Banks of Woodridge will attend the New York State Convention of the Socialist Labor Party March 31 and April 1 at the Fraternal Clubhouse, 110 West 48th Street, New York City. Delegates from other parts of the state will also attend.

A full slate of candidates for Governor, U. S. Senator, and others wil be nominated at the convention. Plans will be made for getting the party candidates on the ballot via petitions. Mass distribution of leaflets is planned to take place throughout the state wherever possible.

Taunton Flag

One of the first flags to be unfurled in U. S. colonial times was at Taunton, Mass., in 1774. This flag bore the motto "Liberty and Union." In its canton appeared a Brtish jack of the same design as that which had been flown from the mainmast of the Mayflower.

Why We Say--

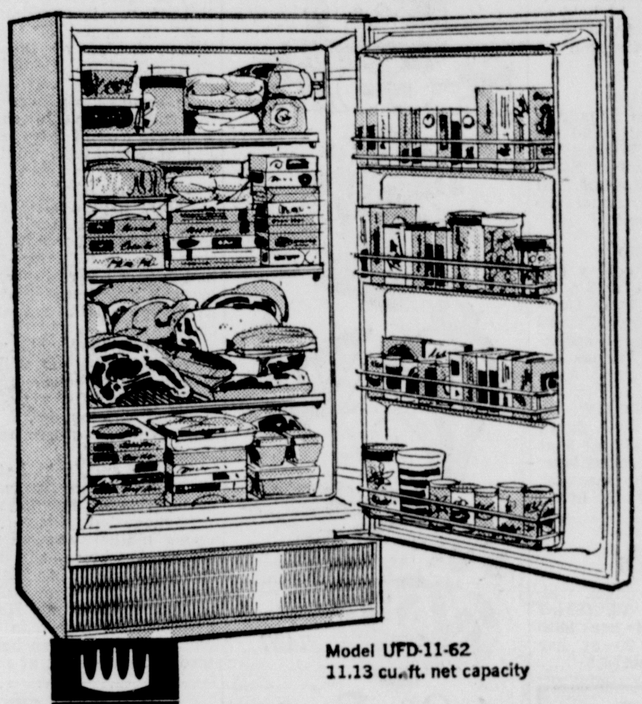

RELIGIOUS: It may not seem that a man who works as a clerk today has any connection with religious life, but that's how the word began. In the Middle Ages only the clergy knew how to read or write and for this reason any person with that ability was assumed to be a "cleric" or clerk.

Toys in the Tub

Youngsters will get more enjoyment from bathtubs if you provide playthings for their bath. Any little boy would like to pretend he's a skipper and will love a captain's cap and a fleet of plastic "yachts" to sail over the soapsuds waves.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Bake Easter Ham to a Turn in Foil

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Baked ham, elegantly served, is a traditional Easter dish. Of course there are many ways to cook it. One we tried recently produced beautiful results with a minimum of preparation.

The ham is first completely wrapped in superstrength aluminum foil. When done, open foil to score the fat and to baste with glazes to give added flavor and a glossy finish. (This method not only reduces meat shrinkage, but saves scouring the roast pan.)

Wrap whole smoked ham in heavy duty aluminum foil to seal completely. Bake in a preheated 425 degrees F. oven for 25 to 30 minutes per pound. This is average time for a 6 to 8-pound ham.

If you use a meat thermometer, it should be inserted through the foil wrapping. Internal temperature reading should be 160 degrees F. when done.

About a half-hour before done, remove ham from oven. Open foil and press foil down around meat. With sharp knife, make diagonal cuts ⅛ inches deep and about ¾ inches apart across entire fat surface of ham. Repeat at an angle to make squares or diamonds. Stud top of ham with cloves. Spread or baste glazes over the meat.

Here are three suggestions:

1. One cup of brown sugar mixed with juice and grated rind of one orange.

2. One cup of currant jelly or orange marmalade, beaten with a fork.

3. One cup of pureed applesauce, apricots or peaches.

Chairman Tells Of BloodBankAid By Red Cross

In answering the question frequently asked, Does the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross conduct a blood program? Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, chapter chairman, issued the following statement today:

"Since the Red Cross programs are designed to meet community needs, and duplication of service is avoided, the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross does not participate in the Red Cross blood program.

Needs Are Served

"However, this community does benefit from the Red Cross blood program. Kingston Laboratory has an arrangement with the New York Regional Blood Center whereby the Red Cross will provide blood in New York hospitals for residents of Kingston. In return the Red Cross New York Regional Blood Center receives blood credits for New York City residents who may be hospitalized in Kingston by those hospitals served by the Kingston Laboratory.

"In 1961 the New York Regional Blood Center found it necessary to adopt the hospital participation plan as a means of assisting the financing of this program. The hospital participation fee represents a portion of the total cost incurred by the New York Regional Center to collect, process, and distribute blood to the hospitals. The hospital participation fee of $5 per unit of blood is passed on by the hospital to the patient.

Balance Is Paid

"This represents only a fraction of the cost to Red Cross for the processing of blood, and the balance is paid by Red Cross chapters that are participating in the regional program. If the New York Regional Blood Center did not have this arrangement with the Kingston Laboratory, donors would have to travel to New York City to make their donations, and the hospital would still have to make a charge to the patient for collecting blood from the donors.

"Another phase by which this community benefits from the Red Cross blood program is the distribution of Vaccinia Immune Globulin. It is used in medical emergencies in which adequate treatment must be given as early as possible and frequently involves small children.

"Recently a local pediatrition received a shipment of this life-saving blood product from the New York Regional Center for one of his patients. The Vaccinia Immune Globulin is developed through the American Red Cross Blood Research Program in cooperation with the Armed Forces of the United States. The product is made available to physicians at no cost and is used in cases where complications develop from vaccination.

"Throgh cooperation with the regional office of the American Red Cross this life saving Vaccinia Immune Globulin was ordered from the Red Cross Regional Blood office in New York and arrived in Kingston ready for administratioin to the patient five hours later."

Lecturer, Writer To Talk About Mental Health

ALGERNON D. BLACK

Algernon D. Black, noted pedagogue and lecturer, will speak on, "Moral and Ethical Tensions in Mental Illness" on Tuesday, April 3, at 8 p. m. in the cafeteria of George Washington School. This is the third and final meeting in the current series presented by the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, entitled, "Social Factors in Mental Mealth."

Dr. Eugene P. Link, chairman of the Department of Sociology at the State University College of Education in New Paltz, will preside.

Mr. Black's impressive positions include chairman of the board of directors of the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing, to which he was appointed by President Kennedy. He is chairman of the Department of Ethics at the Ethical Cultural Schools. Mr. Black is author of "The Young Citizens," which is the latest of his many published works. He has appeared frequently on radio and television programs.

The Ulster County Association for Mental Health extends an invitation to the public to attend this lecture.

Milk Producers To Dissolve Unit

NEWTON, N.J., (AP)—A milk producers local union with members in three states is being dissolved, its presjdent said today.

Charles Barbay, Sr., president of Milk Producers Local 69 of the Teamsters Union, said he had started a move to reactivate the Tri-State Master Dairy Farmers guild to replace the local, which is composed of dairy farmers in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and southern New York State. The guild ceased to exist when the local was organized in 1950.

"At the time the Guild went into the Teamsters, it was felt this would form a perfect wedges in the hands of two groups in bargaining," Barbay said. "The Teamsters are a very effective group, but they have not been of assistance to dairy farmers."

With 185 million inhabitants in 1961 the U. S. average per square mile was 52 persons, double the 1900 average.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Child's 'Hate' Cry May Be Birth of New Identity

A young woman under psychoanalytic treatment was entangled in an affair with a man who enjoyed playing cat-and-mouse games with his women. One evening he had promised to telephone and she rushed home from work for his call. As usual, it was delayed. At the end of three hours it came.

At the sound of the jocular voice affected by the man on these occasions, she did not feel her customary relieved gratitude. Instead, she was suddenly overwhelmed with rage. She shouted, "Don't give me that! I'm through with you! I hate you! I never want to see you again in my life!"

Later, though she never saw him again, she realized something most important. She saw that her "hate" for the man had in fact been new respect for herself. She knew that her "I hate you" had actually proclaimed:

"I am no longer the meek little mouse with no will of her own that you believe me to be. I can choose for myself. I can resist. I can oppose. I can say 'No' to what others tell me I should accept."

A little child's "I hate you—go away!" is the same kind of declaration of new identity.

I suggested this idea to a young mother who writes, "My 4-year-old boy has developed the habit of yelling 'Go away, I hate you!' whenever I don't give him what he wants. He yells it at me in the street, in the park when it's time to go home. Yesterday he yelled it at me in the bus because I wouldn't let him stand up on the seat. I know that parents are not supposed to mind a child's telling them he hates them but I do. I don't know what to say or do. . . ."

You might say, "If you want to show me how you can stand up on the bus seat, wait until we are nearer home. I'll let you stand up for a whole two blocks but now. . . ."

We accept the desire to oppose but indulge it according to our judgment.

This is not easy to do if we credit the child with "hate" of us. We get so upset by our failure to command his affection that we either have to squash his new-found ability to oppose us, indulge it or just wring our hands in confusion.

But if we correctly read the meaning of that word "hate" we are not upset at all. We are proud that he can tell us, "See, I am Me and not You! I can stand up on the bus seat that you want me to sit down on!" And deal unfearfully with this healthy discovery of his ability to oppose, to resist, to say "No."

The moment he knows that we're not out to squash all opposition in him, he loses his need to oppose us defiantly. Instead of trying to fforce his opposing ability on us he begins to confide it to us. Soon he is saying, "When can I stand up on the bus seat, Mommy?"

Like the rest of us, parents of little children who yell "I hate you" must learn not to believe everything they are told.

We The Women

Idea! TV Tours of Homes Richly Historic, Modern

Going through the White House with Mrs. Kennedy was one of the most fascinating experiences TV cameras have shared with Mrs. America in a long time.

The success of that beautifully conducted tour ought to give a bright idea for a TV series that few women could resist—a weekly tour through one of the most beautiful or most historic homes in America.

Most women love to look at houses—and TV could take us through some fascinating ones—beautiful old homes in every section of the United States—and outstanding examples of the best in houses being built for today's living.

In the past when TV cameras have gone into homes it has been because of the person living in the house. It has been the person, not the house, that was played up.

But combined with some history, some information on architecture, furniture and work of art—a tour of America's most beautiful houses would make memorable viewing.

The TV industry doesn't seem to realize it—but Mrs. America is getting pretty tired of the standard TV sets—Western bars, police stations, night clubs and office buildings.

A program that would give her something beautiful to look at, something to study and learn from, something real and not fake would be a welcome change and relief.

America has many, many houses most women would love to be able to wander through—but never will. The TV cameras, however, could take us through thes homes—room by room—and teach us something along the way.

Renewals for Community Concerts Series Must Be Made by April 1 With Treasurer

The third and final concert of the present series for Kingston Community Concert Association members will be Monday evening, April 23, when Rise Stevens, one of the best known artists in the music world will be presented. Admission to the propram at the Community Theatre is by membership card only and no tickets are sold at the door.

This concluding concert marks the biggest year the 30 year old association has known in Kingston. The last program featuring the Boston Pops Tour Orchestra with Arthur Fiedler played to standing room only because the memberships were oversubscribed last spring early in the campaign.

In order not to leave disappointed members without admission to concerts next year, renewals should be in the mail to Oscar J. Lawatsch, treasurer, 300 Wall Street, by April 1. With this tabulation the membership committee will complete plans for the annual membership drive week, May 6 to 12. Captains will meet at the home of Mrs. Bernard Forst, Thursday, April 26, to obtain final instructions for the campaign.

Reservations for next season may be made with any worker now to insure membership next year.

The series for 1962-63 will include the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, William Steinberg, conducting and featuring Lee Luvisi, pianist; the Robert Shaw Chorale and Orchestra in a varied program; and Frank Guarrara, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera; whose recital season for next year was completely sold-out three weeks ago.

B'nai B'rith Women

Mrs. Howard Geller and Mrs. Harvey Kronick, program chairman of B'nai B'rith Women, have announced that a special program has been planned for the organization's next meeting, Wednesday, 8:30 p. m. at the Ahavath Israel Vestry Hall.

Highlighting the evening will be a "This Is Your Life" presentation honoring one of the outstanding members of the group. The name of the mystery guest will remain anonymous until the meeting.

Mrs. Charles Ronder is assisting with the program. Stewart Werner will render the piano accompaniment.

Hostess for the evening will be Mrs. Robert Yallum who will serve refreshments in honor of her son, Marc Caro.

Why We Say--

RELIGIOUS: It may not seem that a man who works as a clerk today has any connection with religious life, but that's how the word began. In the Middle Ages only the clergy knew how to read or write and for this reason any person with that ability was assumed to be a "cleric" or clerk.

Area Men Attend Party Convention

Nathan Pressman of Ellenville and Max Banks of Woodridge will attend the New York State Convention of the Socialist Labor Party March 31 and April 1 at the Fraternal Clubhouse, 110 West 48th Street, New York City. Delegates from other parts of the state will also attend.

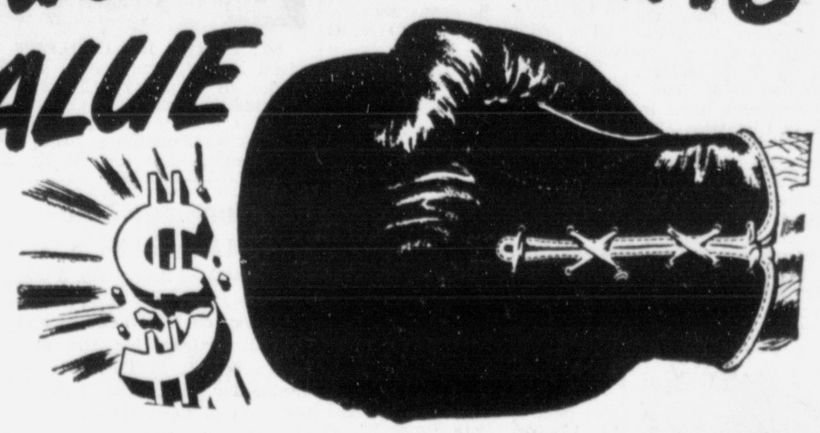

A full slate of candidates for Governor, U. S. Senator, and others wil be nominated at the convention. Plans will be made for getting the party candidates on the ballot via petitions. Mass distribution of leaflets is planned to take place throughout the state wherever possible.

Taunton Flag

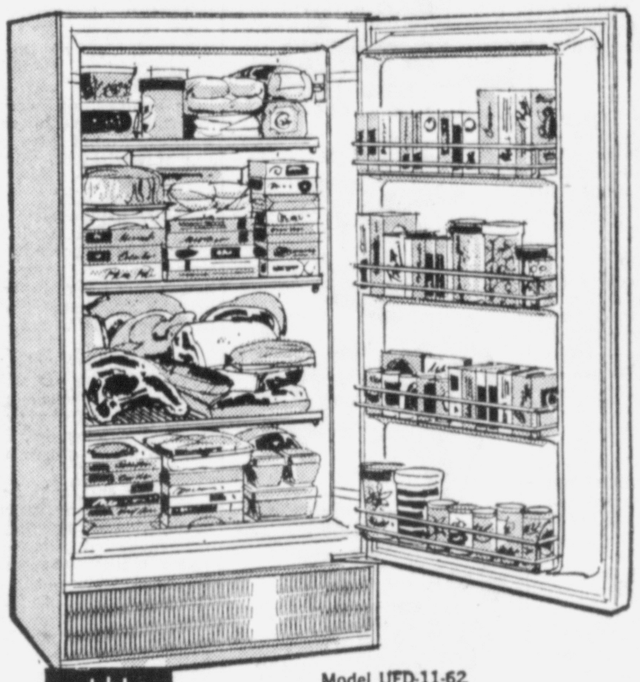

One of the first flags to be unfurled in U. S. colonial times was at Taunton, Mass., in 1774. This flag bore the motto "Liberty and Union." In its canton appeared a Brtish jack of the same design as that which had been flown from the mainmast of the Mayflower.

Area Comparison Refuted, Also Gifford's Claim

Different examination methods used in determining extent of dental decay is cited today by the Citizens Committee for Fluoridation in refuting a recent report, and Dutchess County dental society and health department spokesmen recently joined the local controversy in opposing the claim by Dr. Julius Gifford of Kingston that fluoridation of water could be harmful.

The committee cites a recent published report saying that according to the New York State Education Department there was more dental decay in Newburgh than there was in Kingston. This, it says, "is a misrepresentation of the facts."

The two Dutchess County professional men claim that public health statistics show no differences in the mortality or disease rates between areas with and those without fluoride.

Points to Difference

In Kingston, said the local committee's report, "a school physician uses a pair of tongue blades and thus may often see only those gross defects, which are readily observable. In Newburgh a dental hygienist examines each tooth using special dental instruments and naturally finds many more defects than the school physician.

Because of the different inspection methods used in the two school systems, the committee claims, "it is not possible to compare the results of these inspections," and it further claimed that:

On the other hand, the Newburgh-Kingston research study which the State Department of Health has conducted annually for a ten-year period provides for careful examination of each tooth in the child's mouth and is made by a full time staff dentist and dental hygienist. In three of the annual examinations made, X-rays were used in addition to the clinical examination. The same staff made the examination in both cities. Therefore, these data can be used to compare the dental caries status of the children in both cities.

"According to the reports of the N. Y. State Department of Health, the results of these examinations conclusively show that after 10 years of flouridation experience in Newburgh, the Newburgh children who have been drinking the fluoridated water all of their lives have approximately 60 per cent less dental caries than do the children of the same age in Kingston, where the water supply has not been fluoridated.

"It should be of interest to the citizens of our community that the local dental society participated in a survey and found a reduction in the number of cavities in Newburgh of approximately 60 per cent."

Dr. Abraham Tinkleman, president of the Ulster County Dental Society, and Dr. Louis Patrie, Dutchess County Health Commissioner, in refuting the recent statement of Dr. Gifford before a local service club said, "The effectiveness of fluoride in reducing dental caries is thoroughly documented." They cited results of the nine-year test in which Kingston abstained and Newburgh fluoridated its water.

At the Markets

Meat and Poultry—Turkey makes market news. Stocks of frozen birds are exceptionally large, so expect to find extra low price tags on them in the weeks ahead. Prices have averaged 4 to 10 cents a pound below last March. Again, beef specials are likely in the coming weeks, owing to increased supplies compared with a year ago. Pork continues ahead of last year, with loins a likely feature. More spring lamb will be coming to market in the weeks ahead.

Eggs—The egg season is in full swing — production is high, and prices are low. There will be more eggs than last year, so expect lower prices. Buy large eggs at this time of year for additional savings—they offer more egg for the money than mediums at current prices.

Vegetables—Greens make a good showing at vegetable counters—dandelion, endive, escarole, and kale. Markets also display good supplies of snap beans, beets, carrots in film bags, green onions, mushrooms, potatoes, and tomatoes.

Fruits — Economical selections include grapefruit, rhubarb, and avocados. Florida strawberries are in good supply; shipments from California have been detained by cold weather but should reach volume by the end of the month. Buy controlled atmosphere apples now, as prices are likely to rise when supplies from regular storage are exhausted.

On April 6, the Home Demonstration Department will hold a Spring Rally in the municipal auditorium, Broadway Kingston. Featured at 1:30 p. m. will be a fashion show entitled "A Stroll Through the Park." Many of the models will wear clothing constructed in Home Demonstration clothing classes.

Georgie Kenny will moderate the fashion show. Models will be: Mrs. Robert Durkin, Mrs. John Koniuk, Miss Celeste Valle, Mrs. John Steinhilber, Mrs. Fred Hammer, Mrs. Pierre Renaud Jr., and son and daughter, Mrs. John Blatter, Mrs. Walter Lofink Sr., and Mrs. Gerald DuBois.

Couple Wed 56 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schwartz of 70 North Front Street, this city, celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary on March 19 with their grandson, David Schwartz, and Mrs. Schwartz's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Munitz and family of Hollywood, Calif.

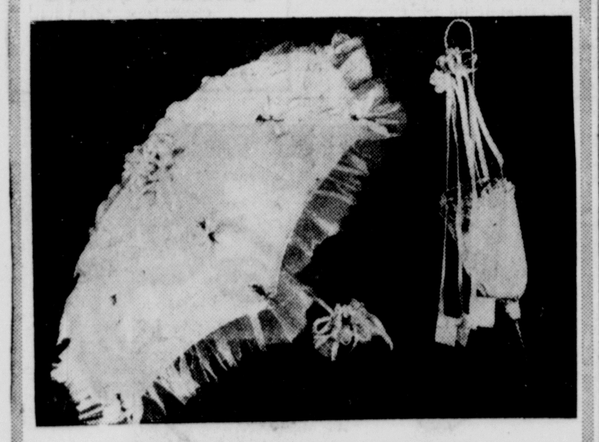

The couple were married in New York City. They have four children, Irving Schwartz and Mrs. Mary Cohen, both of Kingston; Mrs. Sylvia Picker of Brooklyn and Lake Mohigan; and Mrs. Ann Kleinman of Ellenville. The couple also have seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

69 Council Den Chief Participate In Local Parley

Sixty-nine den chiefs, from all parts of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, which includes the Counties of Ulster and Greene, were in attendance at last Saturday's annual council den chiefs' conference held at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer in Kingston.

Dr. Robert K. Ploss, council training chairman, described this as the most successful den chiefs' conference ever held by Rip Van Winkle Council.

A den chief is an older, registered Boy Scout, who works with one of the dens of a neighboring Cub Pack as the program assistant to the den mother. These boys gathered together Saturday for a full afternoon of training, how to use and lead games, how to lead songs, and cooperate with the den mothers.

After the refreshment break in mid-afternoon, there was an hour and a quarter discussion on "Seven Parts of a Den Meeting," with training in how to run a den meeting.

Training certificates, and activities strips for their uniforms attesting to their attendance at a den chiefs' conference, were presented to all participants.

Serving as chairman of the conference was Peter Jacobs of New Paltz, assistant district commissioner of the Southern District. Assisting Jacobs in the various phases of the instructions, were the following Scouters: Robert Tremper, assistant district commissioner of the Kingston District; John Moynihan, former Cubmaster of Pack 41, Catskill; Roger Deere, assistant cubmaster of Pack 41; Fred Sutter, scoutmaster of Troop 77, New Paltz; Russell Croce, cubmaster of Pack 175, New Paltz; Herbert Ackerman, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 77, New Paltz; and Charles Lecher, cubmaster of Pack 38, Saugerties.

Alex Macdonald, scout executive of the Rip Van Winkle Council, welcomed the group and assisted in the program. John Vliet of the Council staff, served as coordinator.

Snyder Addresses Methodist Men

Nearly 50 Methodist men attended the spring dinner of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Men's club Monday night and heard Frederic Snyder, lecturer and news anaylist speak on "Headlines and the Hidden Good."

The dinner was held in the church school assembly room and was served by the members of the World Friendship Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Florio Campbell, Mrs. Robert Gaines and Mrs. Burton Giles were in charge of the kitchen, with the young ladies serving tables.

Snyder said that news stories on world events are too often "confusing and twisted," he remarked that "dependable, unbendable facts are not readily available to readers," referring to the Benny "Kid" Paret beating to senselessness in the prize-fight ring by his opponent, Emile Griffith, Saturday night, Snyder said that before and after news stories of the fight indicated a hateful vengeance was displayed in the ring with shameful results, but which could mean a change in television rules which now allow witness to brutality in the name of sport."

"The weaker the opponent, the greater opportunity there is for us to do wrong," Snyder warned. Commenting on the Binghamton Hospital tragedy resulting from a mixup between salt and sugar in baby formula, "new rules are now in effect in every hospital in the state which will prevent such fatal errors," he reported.

Snyder expressed great concern over "the exploitation of our nation's present day heroes by greedy, sinful enterprises that ride along on the coattails of good men." He pointed out that "A nation cannot cleanse itself with wealth, only with the Divine sunlight of God. The greatest miracle the world has experienced is that Jeusus Christ still lives today."

Have Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Byrne of Ruby, are observing their 30th wedding anniversary today. Married March 27, 1932 in Presentation Church, Port Ewen by the late Rev. Martin Leddy, they now have two sons, Bernard of Washington, D. C., and Lawrence who resides with them.

Wild Winds

Vast energy of the Gulf Stream and other Atlantic currents comes largely from trade winds that blow almost constantly toward the equator. Deflected westward by the earth's rotation, these winds drive equatorial waters with them to begin huge circular swirls which are clockwise in the North Atlantic and counter-clockwise in the South Atlantic.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Child's 'Hate' Cry May Be Birth of New Identity

A young woman under psychoanalytic treatment was entangled in an affair with a man who enjoyed playing cat-and-mouse games with his women. One evening he had promised to telephone and she rushed home from work for his call. As usual, it was delayed. At the end of three hours it came.

At the sound of the jocular voice affected by the man on these occasions, she did not feel her customary relieved gratitude. Instead, she was suddenly overwhelmed with rage. She shouted, "Don't give me that! I'm through with you! I hate you! I never want to see you again in my life!"

Later, though she never saw him again, she realized something most important. She saw that her "hate" for the man had in fact been new respect for herself. She knew that her "I hate you" had actually proclaimed:

"I am no longer the meek little mouse with no will of her own that you believe me to be. I can choose for myself. I can resist. I can oppose. I can say 'No' to what others tell me I should accept."

A little child's "I hate you—go away!" is the same kind of declaration of new identity.

I suggested this idea to a young mother who writes, "My 4-year-old boy has developed the habit of yelling 'Go away, I hate you!' whenever I don't give him what he wants. He yells it at me in the street, in the park when it's time to go home. Yesterday he yelled it at me in the bus because I wouldn't let him stand up on the seat. I know that parents are not supposed to mind a child's telling them he hates them but I do. I don't know what to say or do. . . ."

You might say, "If you want to show me how you can stand up on the bus seat, wait until we are nearer home. I'll let you stand up for a whole two blocks but now. . . ."

We accept the desire to oppose but indulge it according to our judgment.

This is not easy to do if we credit the child with "hate" of us. We get so upset by our failure to command his affection that we either have to squash his new-found ability to oppose us, indulge it or just wring our hands in confusion.

But if we correctly read the meaning of that word "hate" we are not upset at all. We are proud that he can tell us, "See, I am Me and not You! I can stand up on the bus seat that you want me to sit down on!" And deal unfearfully with this healthy discovery of his ability to oppose, to resist, to say "No."

The moment he knows that we're not out to squash all opposition in him, he loses his need to oppose us defiantly. Instead of trying to fforce his opposing ability on us he begins to confide it to us. Soon he is saying, "When can I stand up on the bus seat, Mommy?"

Like the rest of us, parents of little children who yell "I hate you" must learn not to believe everything they are told.

We The Women

Idea! TV Tours of Homes Richly Historic, Modern

Going through the White House with Mrs. Kennedy was one of the most fascinating experiences TV cameras have shared with Mrs. America in a long time.

The success of that beautifully conducted tour ought to give a bright idea for a TV series that few women could resist—a weekly tour through one of the most beautiful or most historic homes in America.

Most women love to look at houses—and TV could take us through some fascinating ones—beautiful old homes in every section of the United States—and outstanding examples of the best in houses being built for today's living.

In the past when TV cameras have gone into homes it has been because of the person living in the house. It has been the person, not the house, that was played up.

But combined with some history, some information on architecture, furniture and work of art—a tour of America's most beautiful houses would make memorable viewing.

The TV industry doesn't seem to realize it—but Mrs. America is getting pretty tired of the standard TV sets—Western bars, police stations, night clubs and office buildings.

A program that would give her something beautiful to look at, something to study and learn from, something real and not fake would be a welcome change and relief.

America has many, many houses most women would love to be able to wander through—but never will. The TV cameras, however, could take us through thes homes—room by room—and teach us something along the way.

Renewals for Community Concerts Series Must Be Made by April 1 With Treasurer

The third and final concert of the present series for Kingston Community Concert Association members will be Monday evening, April 23, when Rise Stevens, one of the best known artists in the music world will be presented. Admission to the propram at the Community Theatre is by membership card only and no tickets are sold at the door.

This concluding concert marks the biggest year the 30 year old association has known in Kingston. The last program featuring the Boston Pops Tour Orchestra with Arthur Fiedler played to standing room only because the memberships were oversubscribed last spring early in the campaign.

In order not to leave disappointed members without admission to concerts next year, renewals should be in the mail to Oscar J. Lawatsch, treasurer, 300 Wall Street, by April 1. With this tabulation the membership committee will complete plans for the annual membership drive week, May 6 to 12. Captains will meet at the home of Mrs. Bernard Forst, Thursday, April 26, to obtain final instructions for the campaign.

Reservations for next season may be made with any worker now to insure membership next year.

The series for 1962-63 will include the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, William Steinberg, conducting and featuring Lee Luvisi, pianist; the Robert Shaw Chorale and Orchestra in a varied program; and Frank Guarrara, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera; whose recital season for next year was completely sold-out three weeks ago.

B'nai B'rith Women

Mrs. Howard Geller and Mrs. Harvey Kronick, program chairman of B'nai B'rith Women, have announced that a special program has been planned for the organization's next meeting, Wednesday, 8:30 p. m. at the Ahavath Israel Vestry Hall.

Highlighting the evening will be a "This Is Your Life" presentation honoring one of the outstanding members of the group. The name of the mystery guest will remain anonymous until the meeting.

Mrs. Charles Ronder is assisting with the program. Stewart Werner will render the piano accompaniment.

Hostess for the evening will be Mrs. Robert Yallum who will serve refreshments in honor of her son, Marc Caro.

Small Business Management Five-Session Course Slated

ALBANY—A five-session small business management course for the benefit of area retailers and other businessmen and women will be conducted in Kingston on Thursday evenings beginning April 26, the State Commerce Department announced today.

A part of the department's statewide business assistance program, the course is being presented with the cooperation of the State Education Department and the U. S. Small Business Administration. To date, more than 50 management courses have been held in communities throughout the state. A similar course was conducted in Kingston in October, 1958.

The course will feature instruction in advertising, accounting, finance, merchandising and credit and collection by qualified business specialists from Kingston, Catskill, Hudson, Albany and New York City. Sessions will be held in Kingston High School from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., each Thursday evening ending May 24.

Coordinating arrangements for the course are Raphael Klein, director of adult education, Kingston; W. Dale Swartzmiller, regional manager of the State Commerce Department; Clarence B. Kilmer Jr., Commerce Department senior business consultant, and Hunting Sherrill, supervisor of adult education, State Education Department.

May 10 — Accounting, Cost Control and Financial Analysis with the speaker, Franklyn H. Ashby, treasurer W. M. Whitney & Co., Albany.

May 24—Planning for the Future and Business Financing, Charles J. Kappler, management and research assistance specialist, Small Business Administration, New York City.

Kingston Library Lists New Books

Among the new books at Kingston City Library are one on religion and another on man's origin which try to shed new light on both areas.

Robert Aron, in "Jesus of Nazareth," has attempted a new biography and interpretation based on recently discovered materials such as the Dead Sea Scrolls.

In the field of origin of mankind, Robert Ardrey offers some new theories on how man evolved on the continent of Africa. His book is "African Genesis."

Other new books:

Fiction—"Cassandra at the Wedding," Baker; "Scarlet Boy," Calder-Marshall; "I Know My Love," Gaskin; "L'Amour Profane," Kern; "Death of Ahasuerus," Lagerkvist; "Best from Fantasy and Science Fiction," Mills; "Whole Creation," Morrison; "Castle Dor," Quiller-Couch; "Devil Water," Seton; "Pigeon Feathers," Updike.

Writers and Writing—"Tennessee Williams," Falk; "Pen to Paper; a novelist's notebook; "John Steinbeck," French; "My Brother Ernest Hemingway," Hemingway; "William Faulkner," Hoffman; "Canada on Stage . . . One-Act Plays," Richards.

Psychology and Religion — "Jesus of Nazareth: the Hidden Years," Aron; "The Road Back . . Alcoholics Anonymous," Kessel; "New Look in Preaching," Pike; "Common Sense About Psychoanalysis," Wittenberg.

People—"My Life in Court," Nier; "Queen Victoria's Private Life," Tisdall; "Lincoln and the Emperors," Tyrner-Tyrnauer.

Science—"African Genesis," Ardrey; "The Doctor's Dilemma," Lasagna.

Boating—"Complete Boating Handbook," Scharff.

Frankly Tired, Jackie to Press

LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy went to bed early Monday night in a Georgian house near Buckingham Palace, resting up after her strenuous two-week visit to India and Pakistan.

America's First Lady was frankly tired. She told reporters and photographers, "I promise you not the slightest bit of news in London. Unless, that is, you can shoot pictures through a bedroom window at a girl asleep."

Mrs. Kennedy slipped into the heavily guarded seclusion of the small town house of her brother-in-law and sister, Prince and Princess Stanislas Radziwill. A detail from Scotland Yard guarded the house outside and American security men were inside.

The First Lady's only announced engagement of her three-day stopover in London is a luncheon with Queen Elizabeth II Wednesday at Buckingham Palace.

Army Is Making Nerve Gas Gains

WASHINGTON (AP)—Asst. Secretary of the Army Finn Larsen says the Army is making considerable progress in developing a nerve gas that could incapacitate large populations for several hours without doing permanent injury. And he says the Russians are stockpiling large amounts of a similar gas.

His statements came in testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee which was made public Monday.

Larsen agreed with the chairman, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., that the gas could be used by Russia in an attempt to cripple the Western European industrial complex without destroying it.

All-Time Poet, 88 Plans Other Book

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert Frost, acclaimed by leaders of government and the world of letters as "the all American and all time poet," has made an 88th birthday pledge — in verse— that his latest book of poetry won't be his last.

Chief Justice Earl Warren proposed the toast to Frost at a black tie dinner Monday night. More than an hour later, after speeches of praise and readings from his poetry, Frost took the microphone to read one himself, the last poem in his new book "In the Clearing." He read it twice. "so you'll remember."

"I see for nature no defeat
"In one tree's overthrow
"Or for myself in my retreat
"For yet another blow."

"Got it?" he asked. "That's the whole poem. That's to tell you there's another book coming."

Baby Sitters Sixth Lesson Set Wedneday

The sixth lesson in the course for baby sitters, sponsored by Hurley Volunteer Fire Company will be held Wednesday, 7:15 p. m. in the firehouse.

Mrs. Beatrice Cunningham, kindergarten teacher in the Hurley School will conduct the class. The topic this week will be on entertaining the children.

This will be the final lesson of the current series and graduation ceremonies will be held at the firehouse on April 11.

The course was arranged by Richard Ruth, assistant fire chief; Lt. Earl McLaine, Richard Rioux and John Ryan.

Modena

MODENA — The Public Health Nursing Committee of the Town of Plattekill, will meet Monday, 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Milton Van Duser, Plattekill. Members will report on the sewing sessions conducted during the past week, when cancer pads and dressings were made for distribution to city hospitals.

The Parent's Club will meet Monday, 7:30 p. m. at the Modena School. Reports will be given of contributions received for the auction Friday, May 8, at the school.

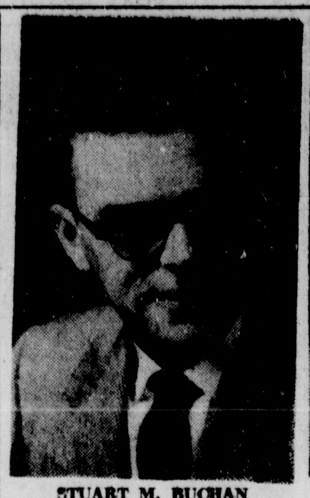

Simon G. DuBois, a resident of this area for many years, now living at 7 Linden Drive, Newburgh, was one of three employes of the New York Trap Rock Co., receiving engraved gold watches, on the conclusion of 40 years service with the corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lembo Sr., returned home recently from a vacation trip to Florida.

Mrs. Anthony Wild of Montgomery, the former Marylou DuBois of this place, underwent surgery at the Kingston Hospital Wednesday, and is convalescing satisfactorily, returning to her home this week.

Mrs. Oscar Smith and Miss Marguerite Smith visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith at Tuthilltown, recently.

Mrs. S. Bernard and son Jon, and Byron F. Paltridge of Poughkeepsie, visited relatives here Friday.

STUART M. BUCHAN

L. W. SNELL

Hospital Fund Chairmen Named for Two Townships

Appointments have been announced of Stuart M. Buchan of Saugerties and Louis W. Snell of Lake Katrine as township chairman in the Kingston Hospital Building Fund Campaign by Gen. Sherman Hasbrouck chairman of Phase 4 of the campaign.

Mr. Buchan, who resides at 13 Birchwood Drive South, Saugerties, with his wife Lois and children Debralea A., 5, and James A., 2, will head the drive in the town of Saugerties. He is a member of the Saugerties Lions Club, a deacon in the Saugerties Reformed Church, and is employed as a project manager at IBM Kingston.

Mr. Snell will serve as drive chairman in the town of Ulster. He has an engineering degree from Union College, Schenectady, is a licensed professional engineer in New York state, and is employed as engineering project manager at IBM. He has been active in church programs as a council member of Atonement Luteran Church, Saugerties, and a member of the Stewardship and Building Fund Committees of Redeemer Lutheran Church in Kingston.

The drive in Kingston and surrounding towns within the hospital's service area begins April 1.

History Class Conducts Survey Of Community

NEW PALTZ — The History Honors Class at the New Paltz Central High School, as part of their study of the American scene, plan to make a "random sample" survey of the town of New Paltz.

The purpose of the survey is to determine the structure of the community, both as it exists today, and as it existed a generation ago. When the information is sorted and evaluated it should provide the students with a clearer picture of the long range social trends, as they operate in one typical American town. It will also assist the school in meeting one of the requirements of next year's Middle States Association evaluation; that of a comprehensive knowledge of the community served.

The questionnaire to be used has been developed by the students themselves, with the aid of Roger Brown, social studies director. It has been designed to cover as comprehensive a range of facts as possible about the community. Each student will have a predesignated section of the town to consider. In order to insure a fair representation, each third house will be called on.

No names are asked for on the questionnaire. They are merely intended to make available an anonymous pool of information from which an overall profile of the community can be drawn. It is hoped by the class that the people of the town will lend their assistance to this project when called upon.

Resigns Board Post

The New Paltz Town Board has accepted with regret the resignation of Benjamin Matteson Jr., from the town planning board. He has been transferred by IBM to a position in its plant at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he will start work approximately April 1. His resignation was also made with regret in having to leave New Paltz and the interesting work toward its future development.

Attend Church Parley

Mrs. Jack Cotton, president of the Women's Guild of the New Paltz Reformed Church, and Mrs. Edward Klotzberger, secretary, will attend the meeting of the National Department of Women's Work, Reformed Church of America, at Hope College, Holland, Mich., April 4-6. This will be the first meeting of women representatives of all synods and classical unions since the reorganization of Reformed Church women into one group.

The theme of the conference is Compelled by Joy. There will be outstanding speakers, workshops, and worship services which will offer inspiration and practical help for carrying out the women's work in the church. About 1,100 women are expected to attend the conference.

Another F-27 Jet Acquired by IBM

A second F-27 prop-jet plane has been acquired by International Business Machines Corp., increasing the firm's airplane fleet to four, and all planes are based at the Dutchess County airport, New Hackensack.

The new prop-jet plane has a 95-foot, two-inch wingspan and has a capacity for 18 passengers. The other turbo-jet plane has a passenger capacity of 20.

In addition to the two F-27's, IBM has a twin-engine Aero-Commander plane and a DC-3 twin engine plane. The Aero-Commander was IBM's first plane. It was placed in service at New Hackensack in February, 1954.

The first F-27 was delivered to IBM last summer. The planes carry the firm's employes and customers on flights throughout the country.

U.N. Is Defended By Rusk Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) —Undersecretary of State George W. Ball says the United Nations serves American national interests and the United States should continue as its leading member.

Ball gave this strong defense of Kennedy administration stress on the United Nations Monday in a speech which aides described as a major rebuttal to recent criticism.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., last week said the United States should rely less on the United Nations and more on military power, a stronger Atlantic community and direct diplomacy. This and other comments from influential persons, among them past U.N. supporters, have disturbed administration leaders.

Ball spoke at the outset of a two-day foreign policy briefing session for some 800 newspaper, magazine and radio-television newsmen from around the country.

Takeout Bid Tips Partner

By OSWALD JACOBY

In the third hand of our match against Gerber and Hodge on Walter Schwimmer's Championship bridge on TV, Johnny Gerber stuck in a weak third hand spade bid.

I had a sound takeout double and Mrs. Johnson almost a maximum pass, so we had no trouble reaching our heart game.

The method we got there with is rather interesting in that we both raised Gerber before Mrs. Johnson finally bid four hearts.

Her two spades responses to my double showed that she had a good hand with four hearts so I might well have bid hearts myself, but I wanted her to play the hand because I felt that a spade lead by South might embarrass me if I were declarer. Actually, it would have made no difference. With any declarer and any opening lead East and West must lose one trick in each suit except diamonds and have no way to lose any more tricks.

Gerber might well have opened with three spades, but if he had the result would have been the same. I would have doubled that bid also and Mrs. Johnson would have bid four hearts in response to my double.

Reasons for School Building Program Outlined by Board

In a little over a month from now, the adults of Saugerties will decide whether to build more school classrooms for their youngsters.

For over two years now, the board of education and the Citizens Advisory Committee have been laboring with this problem. The board of education has to labor with it because they were elected to see that education problems in the district are solved.

May 9 the vote on the bond issue will be held. The money asked for is $1,200,000. What will that sum provide; why is it needed; what will it cost the taxpayers in dollars and cents?

In a series of newspaper articles, of which this is the first, and in two radio broadcasts, the advisory committee will try to answer these questions — and any others you, the people of Saugerties, send in. Questions may be mailed to Miss Grace Anderson, RFD 2, Box 143, Saugerties, and she will try to publish information that will give answers.

The reasons why buildings are needed are given by the board of education and the advisory group as follows:

Number of pupils on a shortened schedule:

1961 — 404 (5th, 6th, and ungraded).
1962 — 717 (2nd, 3rd, and 4th).

The numbers above do not include the five year olds who are now on a very short schedule — 2¼ hours per day — with 90 boys and girls to a room. (Three sessions per room per day). The five-year olds who attend in the last groups do not leave school until after 4 p. m. There are approximately 360 of these five-year olds in attendance.

Almost all the seven-year olds, eight-year olds, and nine-year olds next fall will be unable to be in a classroom and with a teacher for more than four hours per day. Almost everyone agrees that that is not enough to give them an adequate education. It's less than most other boys and girls in America are getting. So when it comes to competition for admission to college; or for a job; or with the problems of life, and citizenship, Saugerties boys and girls are being short changed. That's true unless, of course, one happens to believe that boys and girls are getting too much education these days in this highly competitive world, or believes, for example, that America can remain strong and compete with the producers of other countries (including the people of the common market countries) without a full-time education.

The local census shows that between 150 and 200 additional children are coming into the local public schools each year. So, it's evident that the numbers who are now on part time will be added to until there are more school buildings.

In the fall of 1963, it is estimated that not fewer than 194 boys and girls in the 7th and 8th grades will be on half time. December, 1963, is the earliest date at which buildings can be made ready if the bond issue is approved this spring. If, by chance, it is not approved this spring, then part of the senior high school may have to go on a half time schedule three years from now in the fall of 1964.

In following articles the board and advisory group will give other important facts to help residents in deciding how to vote on the proposed bond issue.

LL Registrations Are Extended to Saturday

Registration for the Lions Club Little League last Saturday fell far short of the number expected when only 80 boys filled out applications.

Len Gilmore, secretary-treasurer of the league has announced that registration will be held again this coming Saturday beginning at 1:30 p. m. in the firehouse at the Municipal Building and all boys not yet registered must do so this week if they want to play in the league this summer.

All boys eight through 12 years of age are eligible to play and must have the signature of a parent or guardian on his application form. Cooperation from the boys and their parents is requested so that complete registrations may be tallied following Saturday's session.

A tentative date for the beginning of spring training has been set for April 23, with May 4 scheduled for the opening date of the season.

Events Scheduled

The Saugerties Democratic Club will meet Thursday, 8 p. m. in the VFW Hall, Livingston Street.

Conducts Service At Baptist Church

REV. WALTER R. MARTIN

Well known Bible teacher, the Rev. Walter R. Martin, an authority in the field of religious cults and sects, will speak at the 11 a. m. Sunday service at the First Baptist Church, Saugerties.

The pastor, the Rev. Brooks N. Henry, has announced that the Rev. Mr. Martin will also speak at the 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. services in a special study on the cults.

In addition to being the author of five books on the major American cults, the Rev. Mr. Martin has also lectured throughout the United States, Europe and Asia. He is currently director of the Christian Research Institute and editor of its publication, the Religious Research Digest. The Rev. Mr. Martin is a graduate of the Stony Brook School, New York, and New York University and holds degrees in philosophy and religious education. Ordained as a Baptist minister in 1951, he is a member of the Conservative Baptist Association of America and the Evangelical Theological Society.

He began his studies in the field of American religions over a decade ago and is today recognized as one of the leading evangelical authorities on religious sects and cults in the United States.

Scouts Schedule Hike on Saturday

Boy Scout Troop 32 of the Atonement Lutheran Church will participate in a commando hike Saturday with Scoutmaster Eugene Davis accompanying the boys. They will leave the church hall at 9 a. m. and during the day the patrols will compete with each other in stalking, tracking and first aid maneuvers. The losing patrol will prepare the meal on the trip.

Final preparations will be made at the regular Friday night meeting of the troop in the parish hall, when each boy is expected to bring his mother for a meeting of the Mothers Auxiliray to be held in the church basement.

The mothers are planning ways to raise funds to send the boys to the National Camporee at Valley Forge in 1964. Kerchiefs will be chosen to present to the troop to wear during parades. Mrs. Elsie Vanderbeck, president of the auxiliary, requests a good attendance.

Scoutmaster Davis will hold a meeting of the junior leaders of the troop at his home on High Street Wednesday night to discuss the coming Council Camporee to be held in June. The theme of this year's event is International Scouting and each troop of the council will represent a country. Troop 32 has chosen Great Britain, and they would appreciate any information relating to Scouting of that country be given to the boys to aid in their project.

Area Comparison Refuted, Also Gifford's Claim

Different examination methods used in determining extent of dental decay is cited today by the Citizens Committee for Fluoridation in refuting a recent report, and Dutchess County dental society and health department spokesmen recently joined the local controversy in opposing the claim by Dr. Julius Gifford of Kingston that fluoridation of water could be harmful.

The committee cites a recent published report saying that according to the New York State Education Department there was more dental decay in Newburgh than there was in Kingston. This, it says, "is a misrepresentation of the facts."

The two Dutchess County professional men claim that public health statistics show no differences in the mortality or disease rates between areas with and those without fluoride.

Points to Difference

In Kingston, said the local committee's report, "a school physician uses a pair of tongue blades and thus may often see only those gross defects, which are readily observable. In Newburgh a dental hygienist examines each tooth using special dental instruments and naturally finds many more defects than the school physician.

Because of the different inspection methods used in the two school systems, the committee claims, "it is not possible to compare the results of these inspections," and it further claimed that:

On the other hand, the Newburgh-Kingston research study which the State Department of Health has conducted annually for a ten-year period provides for careful examination of each tooth in the child's mouth and is made by a full time staff dentist and dental hygienist. In three of the annual examinations made, X-rays were used in addition to the clinical examination. The same staff made the examination in both cities. Therefore, these data can be used to compare the dental caries status of the children in both cities.

"According to the reports of the N. Y. State Department of Health, the results of these examinations conclusively show that after 10 years of flouridation experience in Newburgh, the Newburgh children who have been drinking the fluoridated water all of their lives have approximately 60 per cent less dental caries than do the children of the same age in Kingston, where the water supply has not been fluoridated.

"It should be of interest to the citizens of our community that the local dental society participated in a survey and found a reduction in the number of cavities in Newburgh of approximately 60 per cent."

Dr. Abraham Tinkleman, president of the Ulster County Dental Society, and Dr. Louis Patrie, Dutchess County Health Commissioner, in refuting the recent statement of Dr. Gifford before a local service club said, "The effectiveness of fluoride in reducing dental caries is thoroughly documented." They cited results of the nine-year test in which Kingston abstained and Newburgh fluoridated its water.

At the Markets

Meat and Poultry—Turkey makes market news. Stocks of frozen birds are exceptionally large, so expect to find extra low price tags on them in the weeks ahead. Prices have averaged 4 to 10 cents a pound below last March. Again, beef specials are likely in the coming weeks, owing to increased supplies compared with a year ago. Pork continues ahead of last year, with loins a likely feature. More spring lamb will be coming to market in the weeks ahead.

Eggs—The egg season is in full swing — production is high, and prices are low. There will be more eggs than last year, so expect lower prices. Buy large eggs at this time of year for additional savings—they offer more egg for the money than mediums at current prices.

Vegetables—Greens make a good showing at vegetable counters—dandelion, endive, escarole, and kale. Markets also display good supplies of snap beans, beets, carrots in film bags, green onions, mushrooms, potatoes, and tomatoes.

Fruits — Economical selections include grapefruit, rhubarb, and avocados. Florida strawberries are in good supply; shipments from California have been detained by cold weather but should reach volume by the end of the month. Buy controlled atmosphere apples now, as prices are likely to rise when supplies from regular storage are exhausted.

On April 6, the Home Demonstration Department will hold a Spring Rally in the municipal auditorium, Broadway Kingston. Featured at 1:30 p. m. will be a fashion show entitled "A Stroll Through the Park." Many of the models will wear clothing constructed in Home Demonstration clothing classes.

Georgie Kenny will moderate the fashion show. Models will be: Mrs. Robert Durkin, Mrs. John Koniuk, Miss Celeste Valle, Mrs. John Steinhilber, Mrs. Fred Hammer, Mrs. Pierre Renaud Jr., and son and daughter, Mrs. John Blatter, Mrs. Walter Lofink Sr., and Mrs. Gerald DuBois.

Couple Wed 56 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schwartz of 70 North Front Street, this city, celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary on March 19 with their grandson, David Schwartz, and Mrs. Schwartz's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Munitz and family of Hollywood, Calif.

The couple were married in New York City. They have four children, Irving Schwartz and Mrs. Mary Cohen, both of Kingston; Mrs. Sylvia Picker of Brooklyn and Lake Mohigan; and Mrs. Ann Kleinman of Ellenville. The couple also have seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

69 Council Den Chief Participate In Local Parley

Sixty-nine den chiefs, from all parts of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, which includes the Counties of Ulster and Greene, were in attendance at last Saturday's annual council den chiefs' conference held at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer in Kingston.

Dr. Robert K. Ploss, council training chairman, described this as the most successful den chiefs' conference ever held by Rip Van Winkle Council.

A den chief is an older, registered Boy Scout, who works with one of the dens of a neighboring Cub Pack as the program assistant to the den mother. These boys gathered together Saturday for a full afternoon of training, how to use and lead games, how to lead songs, and cooperate with the den mothers.

After the refreshment break in mid-afternoon, there was an hour and a quarter discussion on "Seven Parts of a Den Meeting," with training in how to run a den meeting.

Training certificates, and activities strips for their uniforms attesting to their attendance at a den chiefs' conference, were presented to all participants.

Serving as chairman of the conference was Peter Jacobs of New Paltz, assistant district commissioner of the Southern District. Assisting Jacobs in the various phases of the instructions, were the following Scouters: Robert Tremper, assistant district commissioner of the Kingston District; John Moynihan, former Cubmaster of Pack 41, Catskill; Roger Deere, assistant cubmaster of Pack 41; Fred Sutter, scoutmaster of Troop 77, New Paltz; Russell Croce, cubmaster of Pack 175, New Paltz; Herbert Ackerman, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 77, New Paltz; and Charles Lecher, cubmaster of Pack 38, Saugerties.

Alex Macdonald, scout executive of the Rip Van Winkle Council, welcomed the group and assisted in the program. John Vliet of the Council staff, served as coordinator.

Snyder Addresses Methodist Men

Nearly 50 Methodist men attended the spring dinner of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Men's club Monday night and heard Frederic Snyder, lecturer and news anaylist speak on "Headlines and the Hidden Good."

The dinner was held in the church school assembly room and was served by the members of the World Friendship Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Florio Campbell, Mrs. Robert Gaines and Mrs. Burton Giles were in charge of the kitchen, with the young ladies serving tables.

Snyder said that news stories on world events are too often "confusing and twisted," he remarked that "dependable, unbendable facts are not readily available to readers," referring to the Benny "Kid" Paret beating to senselessness in the prizefight ring by his opponent, Emile Griffith, Saturday night. Snyder said that before and after news stories of the fight indicated a hateful vengeance was displayed in the ring with shameful results, but which could mean a change in television rules which now allow witness to brutality in the name of sport."

"The weaker the opponent, the greater opportunity there is for us to do wrong," Snyder warned. Commenting on the Binghamton Hospital tragedy resulting from a mixup between salt and sugar in baby formula, "new rules are now in effect in every hospital in the state which will prevent such fatal errors," he reported.

Snyder expressed great concern over "the exploitation of our nation's present day heroes by greedy, sinful enterprises that ride along on the coattails of good men." He pointed out that "A nation cannot cleanse itself with wealth, only with the Divine sunlight of God. The greatest miracle the world has experienced is that Jeusus Christ still lives today."

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Byrne of Ruby, are observing their 30th wedding anniversary today. Married March 27, 1932 in Presentation Church, Port Ewen by the late Rev. Martin Leddy, they now have two sons, Bernard of Washington, D. C., and Lawrence who resides with them.

Wild Winds

Vast energy of the Gulf Stream and other Atlantic currents comes largely from trade winds that blow almost constantly toward the equator. Deflected westward by the earth's rotation, these winds drive equatorial waters with them to begin huge circular swirls which are clockwise in the North Atlantic and counter-clockwise in the South Atlantic.

Small Business Management Five-Session Course Slated

ALBANY—A five-session small business management course for the benefit of area retailers and other businessmen and women will be conducted in Kingston on Thursday evenings beginning April 26, the State Commerce Department announced today.

A part of the department's statewide business assistance program, the course is being presented with the cooperation of the State Education Department and the U. S. Small Business Administration. To date, more than 50 management courses have been held in communities throughout the state. A similar course was conducted in Kingston in October, 1958.

The course will feature instruction in advertising, accounting, finance, merchandising and credit and collection by qualified business specialists from Kingston, Catskill, Hudson, Albany and New York City. Sessions will be held in Kingston High School from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., each Thursday evening ending May 24.

Coordinating arrangements for the course are Raphael Klein, director of adult education, Kingston; W. Dale Swartzmiller, regional manager of the State Commerce Department; Clarence B. Kilmer Jr., Commerce Department senior business consultant, and Hunting Sherrill, supervisor of adult education, State Education Department.

Information on registration can be obtained from Klein at the high school.

May 10 — Accounting, Cost Control and Financial Analysis with the speaker, Franklyn H. Ashby, treasurer W. M. Whitney & Co., Albany.

May 24—Planning for the Future and Business Financing, Charles J. Kappler, management and research assistance specialist, Small Business Administration, New York City.

Kingston Library Lists New Books

Among the new books at Kingston City Library are one on religion and another on man's origin which try to shed new light on both areas.

Robert Aron, in "Jesus of Nazareth," has attempted a new biography and interpretation based on recently discovered materials such as the Dead Sea Scrolls.

In the field of origin of mankind, Robert Ardrey offers some new theories on how man evolved on the continent of Africa. His book is "African Genesis."

Other new books:

Fiction—"Cassandra at the Wedding," Baker; "Scarlet Boy," Calder-Marshall; "I Know My Love," Gaskin; "L'Amour Profane," Kern; "Death of Ahasuerus," Lagerkvist; "Best from Fantasy and Science Fiction," Mills; "Whole Creation," Morrison; "Castle Dor," Quiller-Couch; "Devil Water," Seton; "Pigeon Feathers," Updike.

Writers and Writing—"Tennessee Williams," Falk; "Pen to Paper: a novelist's notebook; "John Steinbeck," French; "My Brother Ernest Hemingway," Hemingway; "William Faulkner," Hoffman; "Canada on Stage . . . One-Act Plays," Richards.

Psychology and Religion — "Jesus of Nazareth: the Hidden Years," Aron; "The Road Back . . Alcoholics Anonymous," Kessel; "New Look in Preaching," Pike; "Common Sense About Psychoanalysis," Wittenberg.

People—"My Life in Court," Nier; "Queen Victoria's Private Life," Tisdall; "Lincoln and the Emperors," Tyrner-Tyrnauer.

Science — "African Genesis," Ardrey; "The Doctor's Dilemma," Lasagna.

Boating—"Complete Boating Handbook," Scharff.

Frankly Tired, Jackie to Press

LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy went to bed early Monday night in a Georgian house near Buckingham Palace, resting up after her strenuous two-week visit to India and Pakistan.

America's First Lady was frankly tired. She told reporters and photographers, "I promise you not the slightest bit of news in London. Unless, that is, you can shoot pictures through a bedroom window at a girl asleep."

Mrs. Kennedy slipped into the heavily guarded seclusion of the small town house of her brother-in-law and sister, Prince and Princess Stanislas Radziwill. A detail from Scotland Yard guarded the house outside and American security men were inside.

The First Lady's only announced engagement of her three-day stopover in London is a luncheon with Queen Elizabeth II Wednesday at Buckingham Palace.

Army Is Making Nerve Gas Gains

WASHINGTON (AP)—Asst. Secretary of the Army Finn Larsen says the Army is making considerable progress in developing a nerve gas that could incapacitate large populations for several hours without doing permanent injury. And he says the Russians are stockpiling large amounts of a similar gas.

His statements came in testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee which was made public Monday.

Larsen agreed with the chairman, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., that the gas could be used by Russia in an attempt to cripple the Western European industrial complex without destroying it.

All-Time Poet, 88 Plans Other Book

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert Frost, acclaimed by leaders of government and the world of letters as "the all American and all time poet," has made an 88th birthday pledge — in verse— that his latest book of poetry won't be his last.

Chief Justice Earl Warren proposed the toast to Frost at a black tie dinner Monday night. More than an hour later, after speeches of praise and readings from his poetry, Frost took the microphone to read one himself, the last poem in his new book "In the Clearing." He read it twice, "so you'll remember."

"I see for nature no defeat
"In one tree's overthrow
"Or for myself in my retreat
"For yet another blow."

"Got it?" he asked. "That's the whole poem. That's to tell you there's another book coming."

Baby Sitters Sixth Lesson Set Wedneday

The sixth lesson in the course for baby sitters, sponsored by Hurley Volunteer Fire Company will be held Wednesday, 7:15 p. m. in the firehouse.

Mrs. Beatrice Cunningham, kindergarten teacher in the Hurley School will conduct the class. The topic this week will be on entertaining the children.

This will be the final lesson of the current series and graduation ceremonies will be held at the firehouse on April 11.

The course was arranged by Richard Ruth, assistant fire chief; Lt. Earl McLaine, Richard Rioux and John Ryan.

Modena

MODENA — The Public Health Nursing Committee of the Town of Plattekill, will meet Monday, 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Milton Van Duser, Plattekill. Members will report on the sewing sessions conducted during the past week, when cancer pads and dressings were made for distribution to city hospitals.

The Parent's Club will meet Monday, 7:30 p. m. at the Modena School. Reports will be given of contributions received for the auction Friday, May 8, at the school.

Simon G. DuBois, a resident of this area for many years, now living at 7 Linden Drive, Newburgh, was one of three employes of the New York Trap Rock Co., receiving engraved gold watches, on the conclusion of 40 years service with the corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lembo Sr., returned home recently from a vacation trip to Florida.

Mrs. Anthony Wild of Montgomery, the former Marylou DuBois of this place, underwent surgery at the Kingston Hospital Wednesday, and is convalescing satisfactorily, returning to her home this week.

Mrs. Oscar Smith and Miss Marguerite Smith visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith at Tuthilltown, recently.

Mrs. S. Bernard and son Jon, and Byron F. Paltridge of Poughkeepsie, visited relatives here Friday.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Mabel DePuy—Telephone AL 6-7719

History Class Conducts Survey Of Community

NEW PALTZ — The History Honors Class at the New Paltz Central High School, as part of their study of the American scene, plan to make a "random sample" survey of the town of New Paltz.

The purpose of the survey is to determine the structure of the community, both as it exists today, and as it existed a generation ago. When the information is sorted and evaluated it should provide the students with a clearer picture of the long range social trends, as they operate in one typical American town. It will also assist the school in meeting one of the requirements of next year's Middle States Association evaluation; that of a comprehensive knowledge of the community served.

The questionnaire to be used has been developed by the students themselves, with the aid of Roger Brown, social studies director. It has been designed to cover as comprehensive a range of facts as possible about the community. Each student will have a predesignated section of the town to consider. In order to insure a fair representation, each third house will be called on.

No names are asked for on the questionnaire. They are merely intended to make available an anonymous pool of information from which an overall profile of the community can be drawn. It is hoped by the class that the people of the town will lend their assistance to this project when called upon.

Resigns Board Post

The New Paltz Town Board has accepted with regret the resignation of Benjamin Matteson Jr., from the town planning board. He has been transferred by IBM to a position in its plant at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he will start work approximately April 1. His resignation was also made with regret in having to leave New Paltz and the interesting work toward its future development.

Attend Church Parley

Mrs. Jack Cotton, president of the Women's Guild of the New Paltz Reformed Church, and Mrs. Edward Klotzberger, secretary, will attend the meeting of the National Department of Women's Work, Reformed Church of America, at Hope College, Holland, Mich., April 4-6. This will be the first meeting of women representatives of all synods and classical unions since the reorganization of Reformed Church women into one group.

The theme of the conference is Compelled by Joy. There will be outstanding speakers, workshops, and worship services which will offer inspiration and practical help for carrying out the women's work in the church. About 1,100 women are expected to attend the conference.

Another F-27 Jet Acquired by IBM

A second F-27 prop-jet plane has been acquired by International Business Machines Corp., increasing the firm's airplane fleet to four, and all planes are based at the Dutchess County airport, New Hackensack.

The new prop-jet plane has a 95-foot, two-inch wingspan and has a capacity for 18 passengers. The other turbo-jet plane has a passenger capacity of 20.

In addition to the two F-27's, IBM has a twin-engine Aero-Commander plane and a DC-3 twin engine plane. The Aero-Commander was IBM's first plane. It was placed in service at New Hackensack in February, 1954.

The first F-27 was delivered to IBM last summer. The planes carry the firm's employes and customers on flights throughout the country.

U.N. Is Defended By Rusk Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) —Undersecretary of State George W. Ball says the United Nations serves American national interests and the United States should continue as its leading member.

Ball gave this strong defense of Kennedy administration stress on the United Nations Monday in a speech which aides described as a major rebuttal to recent criticism.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., last week said the United States should rely less on the United Nations and more on military power, a stronger Atlantic community and direct diplomacy. This and other comments from influential persons, among them past U.N. supporters, have disturbed administration leaders.

Ball spoke at the outset of a two-day foreign policy briefing session for some 800 newspaper, magazine and radio-television newsmen from around the country.

Takeout Bid Tips Partner

By OSWALD JACOBY

In the third hand of our match against Gerber and Hodge on Walter Schwimmer's Championship bridge on TV, Johnny Gerber stuck in a weak third hand spade bid.

I had a sound takeout double and Mrs. Johnson almost a maximum pass, so we had no trouble reaching our heart game.

The method we got there with is rather interesting in that we both raised Gerber before Mrs. Johnson finally bid four hearts.

Her two spades responses to my double showed that she had a good hand with four hearts so I might well have bid hearts myself, but I wanted her to play the hand because I felt that a spade lead by South might embarrass me if I were declarer. Actually, it would have made no difference. With any declarer and any opening lead East and West must lose one trick in each suit except diamonds and have no way to lose any more tricks.

Gerber might well have opened with three spades, but if he had the result would have been the same. I would have doubled that bid also and Mrs. Johnson would have bid four hearts in response to my double.

Reasons for School Building Program Outlined by Board

In a little over a month from now, the adults of Saugerties will decide whether to build more school classrooms for their youngsters.

For over two years now, the board of education and the Citizens Advisory Committee have been laboring with this problem. The board of education has to labor with it because they were elected to see that education problems in the district are solved.

May 9 the vote on the bond issue will be held. The money asked for is $1,200,000. What will that sum provide; why is it needed; what will it cost the taxpayers in dollars and cents?

In a series of newspaper articles, of which this is the first, and in two radio broadcasts, the advisory committee will try to answer these questions — and any others you, the people of Saugerties, send in. Questions may be mailed to Miss Grace Anderson, RFD 2, Box 143, Saugerties, and she will try to publish information that will give answers.

The reasons why buildings are needed are given by the board of education and the advisory group as follows:

Number of pupils on a shortened schedule:

1961 — 404 (5th, 6th, and ungraded).
1962 — 717 (2nd, 3rd, and 4th).

The numbers above do not include the five year olds who are now on a very short schedule — 2¼ hours per day — with 90 boys and girls to a room. (Three sessions per room per day). The five-year olds who attend in the first groups leave home on a bus, many of them by 7:30 o'clock. The five-year olds who attend in the last groups do not leave school until after 4 p. m. There are approximately 360 of these five-year olds in attendance.

Almost all the seven-year olds, eight-year olds, and nine-year olds next fall will be unable to be in a classroom and with a teacher for more than four hours per day. Almost everyone agrees that that is not enough to give them an adequate education. It's less than most other boys and girls in America are getting. So when it comes to competition for admission to college; or for a job; or with the problems of life, and citizenship, Saugerties boys and girls are being short changed. That's true unless, of course, one happens to believe that boys and girls are getting too much education these days in this highly competitive world, or believes, for example, that America can remain strong and compete with the producers of other countries (including the people of the common market countries) without a full-time education.

The local census shows that between 150 and 200 additional children are coming into the local public schools each year. So, it's evident that the numbers who are now on part time will be added to until there are more school buildings.

In the fall of 1963, it is estimated that not fewer than 194 boys and girls in the 7th and 8th grades will be on half time. December, 1963, is the earliest date at which buildings can be made ready if the bond issue is approved this spring. If, by chance, it is not approved this spring, then part of the senior high school may have to go on a half time schedule three years from now in the fall of 1964.

In following articles the board and advisory group will give other important facts to help residents in deciding how to vote on the proposed bond issue.

LL Registrations Are Extended to Saturday

Registration for the Lions Club Little League last Saturday fell far short of the number expected when only 80 boys filled out applications.

Len Gilmore, secretary-treasurer of the league has announced that registration will be held again this coming Saturday beginning at 1:30 p. m. in the firehouse at the Municipal Building and all boys not yet registered must do so this week if they want to play in the league this summer.

All boys eight through 12 years of age are eligible to play and must have the signature of a parent or guardian on his application form. Cooperation from the boys and their parents is requested so that complete registrations may be tallied following Saturday's session.

A tentative date for the beginning of spring training has been set for April 23, with May 4 scheduled for the opening date of the season.

Events Scheduled

The Saugerties Democratic Club will meet Thursday, 8 p. m. in the VFW Hall, Livingston Street.

Conducts Service At Baptist Church

REV. WALTER R. MARTIN

Well known Bible teacher, the Rev. Walter R. Martin, an authority in the field of religious cults and sects, will speak at the 11 a. m. Sunday service at the First Baptist Church, Saugerties.

The pastor, the Rev. Brooks N. Henry, has announced that the Rev. Mr. Martin will also speak at the 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. services in a special study on the cults.

In addition to being the author of five books on the major American cults, the Rev. Mr. Martin has also lectured throughout the United States, Europe and Asia. He is currently director of the Christian Research Institute and editor of its publication, the Religious Research Digest. The Rev. Mr. Martin is a graduate of the Stony Brook School, New York, and New York University and holds degrees in philosophy and religious education. Ordained as a Baptist minister in 1951, he is a member of the Conservative Baptist Association of America and the Evangelical Theological Society.

He began his studies in the field of American religions over a decade ago and is today recognized as one of the leading evangelical authorities on religious sects and cults in the United States.

Scouts Schedule Hike on Saturday

Boy Scout Troop 32 of the Atonement Lutheran Church will participate in a commando hike Saturday with Scoutmaster Eugene Davis accompanying the boys. They will leave the church hall at 9 a. m. and during the day the patrols will compete with each other in stalking, tracking and first aid maneuvers. The losing patrol will prepare the meal on the trip.

Final preparations will be made at the regular Friday night meeting of the troop in the parish hall, when each boy is expected to bring his mother for a meeting of the Mothers Auxiliray to be held in the church basement.

The mothers are planning ways to raise funds to send the boys to the National Camporee at Valley Forge in 1964. Kerchiefs will be chosen to present to the troop to wear during parades. Mrs. Elsie Vanderbeck, president of the auxiliary, requests a good attendance.

Scoutmaster Davis will hold a meeting of the junior leaders of the troop at his home on High Street Wednesday night to discuss the coming Council Camporee to be held in June. The theme of this year's event is International Scouting and each troop of the council will represent a country. Troop 32 has chosen Great Britain, and they would appreciate any information relating to Scouting of that country be given to the boys to aid in their project.

Area Notes

Barry Wolven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wolven of Ulster Avenue, a sophomore at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J., is taking spring training this week with the Rutgers baseball team at Donalson Air Force Base, Greenville, S. C.

Plattekill

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruggiero are on a 13-day cruise from Miami, Fla., to the Caribbean Isles, aboard the SS Ariadne, according to word received here.

A roast beef supper will be served Saturday from 6 to 7:30 p. m. at the Plattekill Grange Hall. Proceeds will be for the benefit of the building fund of the Plattekill Methodist Church. The committee in charge of general arrangements is Mr. and Mrs. Jon Evans, Mrs. Gayle Arrasote and Robert Engle.

Mrs. Bertha Baxter was a recent visitor in Wappingers Falls.

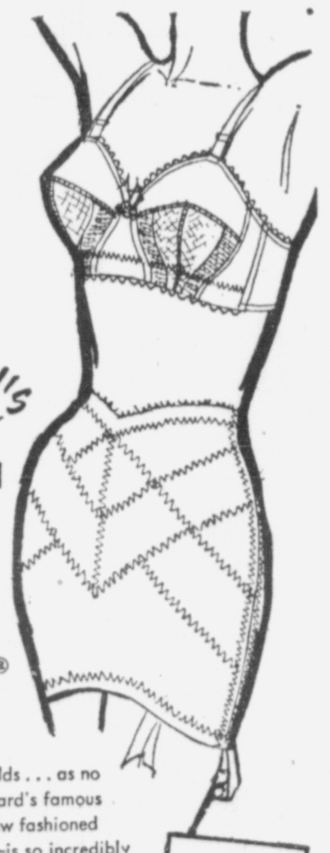

At the April meeting of the Parents' Club, Tuesday April 10, at 7:30 p. m. in the Platekill Elementary School, the guest speaker will be Mrs. Beulah Link, educator and speaker. Mrs. Link will give a lecture, illustrated by slides, on schools in India and Russia.

St. Gregory's Will Repeat Showing Of Morality Play

Residents of this area will have the opportunity to see one of the truly great medieval morality playes, "Everyman," presented by the St. Mark's Players of Mt. Kisco at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church in Woodstock, Saturday, March 31, at 8 p. m.

The play is presented as part of the church's Lenten program. There is no admission fee, but the vicar, the Rev. Lloyd H Uyeki, requests that guests be seated by 7:45 p. m., since the play is in one act and action cannot be interrupted.

This is a repeat request performance. "Everyman" having been presented in 1960 to a crowded house. St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church in New York is also giving this play by its own cast several evenings in April.

A morality play is a moral allegory in play form. In the 15th century, this type of play was presented in churches and on the steps of churches. Preceded by liturigcal and miracle type plays, these three types — liturgical, miracle and morality — are thought to have been the inspiration for the play form that flowered in the Elizabethan era.

Authorship of "Everyman" is obscure, but it is believed to have been written by a Dutch monk prior to 1493, when the first English translation and adaptation appeared. It has since been performed in many languages and is the most celebrated play of this type.

The Story of Death

The play tells how the High Father of Heaven sends Death to summon every creature to give an account of himself in this world. "Everyman," a gay fellow with no thought of the morrow, is summoned but wins a short reprieve, during which he attempts to find a companion to accompany him on his journey. Finally, having been deserted by all but one, and with full repentence, he starts on his long journey.

The cast is amateur but the performance is highly professional and the characters varied, colorful and convincing.

Costuming is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Alonzo Clarke, III. Miss Paula Athey is responsible for the authenticity of costume fashions of the 15th century, faithfully reproduced, with color differentiating the 15 characters.

Set design, construction, properties and stage crews are under the direction of Dr. Theodore Geiger. Mrs. Geiger directs the production with skill and success, as she has done for many years. She has also taught drama in the Dalton School of New York.

Music will be by Edgar Hilliar, organist and choirmaster of St. John's Church in Mt. Kisco, one of the best known organists in this country. He has recorded many albums and is instructor of organ at Manhattanville College.

Father Uyeki extends a cordial invitation to all to attend.

Comments About The Beatnik Poem By Eda Crist

The following comments on the celebrated beatnik-poem incident at Onteora Central school has been submitted by Eda Crist of Woodstock:

"I regretted, as much as anyone, the wide publicity given Onteora Central School District's controversial-poem incident. Now, however, I believe the publicity may be rendering us a great service. It has evoked discussion; it has made us think; out of this thinking and exchange of views may come the healthy atmosphere in which "grass roots democracy" can really flourish—especially where education for our children is concerned. For instance:

"1) We think about that "angry chorus of boos" so graciously hurled at Rev. Phillips. We wonder if the "booers" consider themselves qualified to discuss matters of education. Doesn't an educated person always act respectfully toward a man devoted to religious service? And doesn't an educated, mature person exercise self-control and self-restraint at heated moments? At such moments, isn't it wise to remember the celebrated words—"I detest your views, but am prepared to die for your right to express them?" or:

"To speak his thoughts is every free man's right, in peace and war, in council and in fight?"

"Have we permitted our public meetings and open discussions to degenerate into free-for-alls, where minority voices are silenced by recrimination, intimidation and humiliation?

Do we believe in the power of persuasion?

2) We think about criticism: To err is human: error becomes increasingly and alarmingly evident in the actions of "expert" men; therefore why stifle criticism. In fact, the laymen are urged to be critical of education by such eminent and experienced men as Vice-Admiral Hyman George Rickover and Educator Robert M. Hutchins. Mr. Hutchins says we must realize that "an uncriticized culture cannot long endure."

It's strange that those who see the great message in Mr. Ferlinghetti's poem, don't put that message to work. They should be the first to applaud criticism in every area, including the schools; after all, what has created the world which the "beats" reject, if it isn't faulty education—at home, in school, in the community — everywhere?

3) As for all the endorsements of the poem "A Coney Island of the Mind No. 5," one 16-year-old student may be right; he said, "It's not worth all the fuss; why's everybody so excited!"

We do not agree that the poem is written in common slang; it is not in the vernacular of our day. Didn't the poem require "translation" at that celebrated meeting?

The Beats are not writing for the people; they write for themselves and for each other, and for those who are fascinated with them.

So, all the protestations of the poem's worth make me wonder if we shouldn't re-read a literary gem, Hans Christian Anderson's "The Emperor's New Clothes." . . . You will recall that only a child—among a multitude of people — saw truly and blurted out the truth that the emperor had no clothes on. Perhaps, we might all be the wiser if we, too, listen to the "voice of innocence." Maybe this poem isn't all so many are trying so hard to believe.

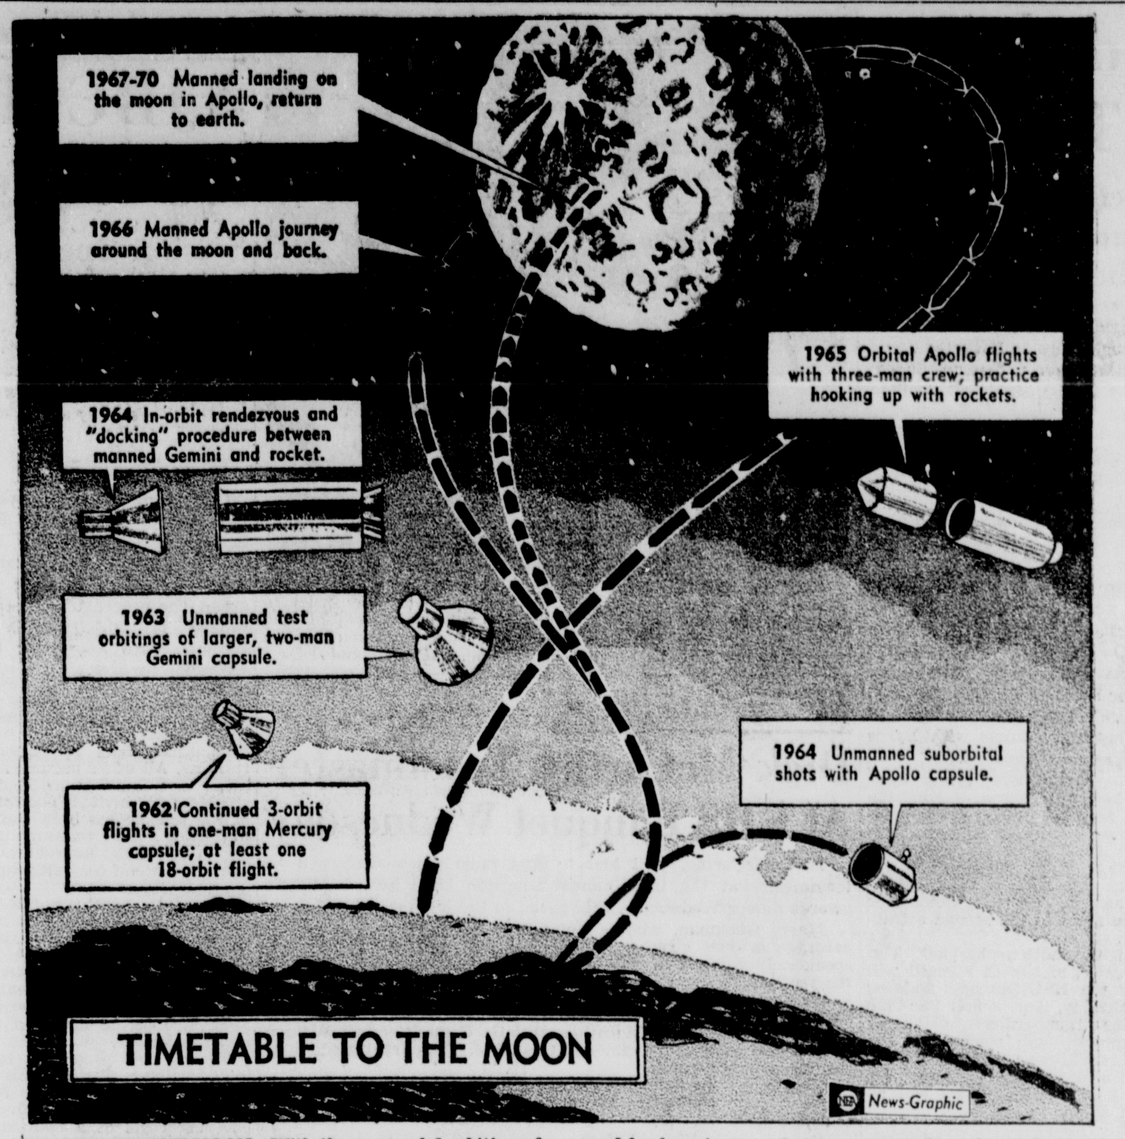

4) Isn't it true that introduction to something naturally leads into more of the same? I have just read the book, "Coney Island of the Mind" which contains "No. 5". I believe that young people should not be encouraged to dip into it.

5) Now, consider this next point calmly — I have no wish to stir up a hornet's nest.

I wager that those, who favor our children's studying the feverish jargon of the Beats, will not permit the reading of the Bible (St. James' Version) in our public schools. Yet, liberal-minded and well-read as they are, they must know that the Bible is still the greatest of great books by virtue of its beautiful language and its great wisdom; they must know that it has inspired and effected the style of writers who, in turn, created great books.

So, if public education can rob my child of what I feel is the best in literature, then that education must not give my child what I consider the worst; and I consider Beat works just that, where children are concerned.

EDA CRIST.

TOMORROW THE MOON—With the successful orbiting of John Glenn, the U.S. space program shifts into a higher gear in a bid to land the first men on the moon no later than 1970. News-Graphic sketches the major milestones that must be passed on this decade-long journey. After Mercury and the orbiting of a two-man Gemini capsule, the most important step will be perfecting the rendezvous and hook-up in space between a capsule and a rocket put into orbit by itself. Until the large Saturn and Nova rockets are ready, a direct flight from earth to moon is impractical. Thus the necessary boost must be picked up in orbit. Weight of the Mercury capsule, about 1½ tons; the Apollo moon ship: 75 tons. Cost of Mercury to date: $400 million; cost of reaching the moon: $20 billion-plus.

Baptismal Is Held At St. Gregory's

Following the Sunday morning services at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, March 18, Robert Andrew Wagner, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Wagner of West Hurley, received the Sacrament of Holy Baptism from the Rev. Vincent F. Pottle, guest preacher. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew A. Sawers of Ramsey, N. J and Robert Chatterton of Greenville, N. Y., were the baby's sponsors. Among the baptism party guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Scheuerman of Peekskill.

Guild Shop Closes

As is customary, the Guild Shop of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen will be closed during the month of April, reopening Tuesday, May 1, with the usual hours of 1 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. daily.

Scouts Awards At Shady Church Service April 1

Communion Sunday will be observed at the Methodist Church of Shady on April 1, at the regular 7:30 p. m. church service. The Rev. H. Chase Page will deliver a communion message.

The April 1st service will also feature the awarding of the God and Country Award of the Boy Scouts of America to Scout Douglas Eighmey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey. Scout Eighmey has been working on this national award for the past three years. It will be presented to him on Sunday evening by the Rev. H. Chase Page, pastor of the church, Robert Hensel, Field Scout Executive of the Rip Van Winkle Council Boy Scouts of America, and Edward E. Safford, scoutmaster of Troop 6 in which young Eighmey serves as a Junior Assistant Scoutmaster.

Following the evening church service, the usual coffee and fellowship hour will be observed; with the congregation invited to attend.

Sunday school is held every Sunday morning at 10:30, under the direction of Superintendent Arthur MacDaniel. Classes are held for all ages, with visitors welcome.

Firemen at Banquet Called Out on Alarm

Firemen and their wives from the village of Woodstock, Wittenberg, Shady, Lake Hill, Willow and Zena, were present.

Following the serving of dinner, the firemen enjoyed dancing to the music of the Freddie Schrader band.

During the banquet an alarm of fire was sounded, taking men and equipment to the corner of the Glasco Turnpike and the Saugerties Road. It was determined that a reflection of the moon in a house was mistaken for a fire, causing the alarm to be sounded.

Fire Company No. 3 Stages Fire Drill

Woodstock Fire Company No. 3, of the Shady-Lake Hill-Willow area, held a fire drill Sunday afternoon under the direction of Captain Alfred Ostrander.

About 15 men responded to the drill, with the apparatus and men going to the four corners in Willow to take care of a mythical fire.

Education Leader To Speak to P-TA Of Talmud Torah

PHILIP ARIAN

The education director of Temple Israel in Albany, Philip Arian, will speak to the Parent-Teacher Association of Talmud Torah of Kingston.

The meeting will be held Thursday at 8:30 p. m. in Congregation Agudas Achim.

Mr. Arian is a graduate of Yeshiva University and has earned a Master's Degree in religious education from the Jewish Theological Seminary.

Aaron Klein is chairman of the program. Members of the faculty and Rabbis H. Z. Rappaport and Jacob Rubenstein will be available for conference at the meeting.

Alaska, which ranks first among states of the Union in area, ranks last in population with only 226,913 people.

According to a survey, Catholic population of the United States is about 24 per cent.

Unfair Practices Curb to Be Topic Of Poultry Series

New York State Poultry Industry Coordinated Effort (SPICE), of Ithaca, plans to hold a series of meetings throughout the state to discuss an "action program to curb unfair practices in integration."

The association believes that federal legislation or amendments to existing federal statutes will be necessary to keep egg production from following in the path of broiler production which would mean financial ruin for many.

A meeting is scheduled for April 4, at Accord Grade School, off Route 209. The meeting will be held at 8 p. m., and will be chaired by S. Cohen and the speaker will be C. S. Perkins.

Other area meetings will be at Hudson on April 3, at 8 p. m., in the supervisors' room in Columbia County Court House with P. Seidel as chairman and J. C. Huttar as speaker. On April 5, at 8 p. m., a meeting will be held at Liberty Central School cafeteria at 8 p. m., with M. Brender as chairman and C. S. Perkins as speaker.

To present its thinking on the alleged unfair practices and to get ideas, the regional producer meetings have been scheduled throughout the state. There will be other matters discussed at these meetings, such as zoning ordinances.

12 Quintets Scheduled to Play In 9th Kingston Cage Tourney

CHAMPIONS—Chicago bowlers Inez Brown and J. Wilbert Sims cart home the trophies gained with championship victories in the 1962 National Bowling Assn. tournament. The pair topped an all-star field of the country's top Negro bowlers. It was the fourth straight NBA title Sims, a member of the Brunswick Advisory Staff and a finalist on two of the nationally-televised tournaments on the current winter tour. The tourney was conducted in Cleveland's United Recreation.

Action to Begin Sunday Night at The Auditorium

In the 7:15 opener, Augustine Insurance will tangle with the Albany Athletic Club. Then at 8:30, Mary's Pizza Shop of Bridgeport, Conn., and Rhinehook Plains are slated to collide.

Two other first round games are slated for Tuesday, April 3. In the 7:15 attraction, Doxsey-NSO quintet of Poughkeepsie meets the Dutchess Falcons, another Bridge City club. Then at 8:30, McLean Well Drillers of Germantown tangle with Byrne Chevrolet of Kingston.

Four teams have drawn byes. Trailways Cafeteria of Kingston will play the winner of the Augustine Insurance - Albany Athletic Club game on Thursday, April 5. Ray's Tackle Shop will meet the Mary's Pizza Shop-Rhinehook Plains victor the same night in the second attraction.

In the bottom bracket, Van Voorhis Lumber of Fishkill will play the NSO-Dutchess Falcons on Sunday, Apr. 8 and the Pine Plains Bombardiers, defending champions, will clash with the McLean-Byrne victor on April 8.

Semi-finals are slated for April 12 and the finals will be held Sunday, April 15.

St. Mary's Varsity Cagers Honored at Annual Banquet

About 125 persons attended the fifth annual St. Mary's athletic banquet, held Sunday at the school hall. Honored was the varsity squad, which captured the upstate CYO championship.

Andrew T. Gilday, master of ceremonies, introduced Joseph Bouchard, assistant director of the basketball program. Bouchard presented certificates to the boys in recognition of loyal and satisfactory participation in the program.

John W. Sullivan, parish basketball director, congratulated the teams for winning three of the Ulster County championships for the second straight season. Tyro, jayvee and varsity clubs were unbeaten.

The cage director told of several highlights of the season. He stated that seven teams at St. Mary's completed 135 games in regular competition as well as non-league tilts. He thanked those who made the program possible and also praised the coaching staff of G. Knute Beichert, Vince Fisher, Lou Getty, Bill Tomaseski and Bud Munson.

Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, Ulster County CYO moderator, gave individual medals to members of the county championship teams and plaques to the managers. Varsity players received plaques for their upstate honors and a trophy for winning the Beacon Invitational tournament.

Awards were also presented to the boys from the parish who participated in the annual county foul shoot and captured eight of 12 prizes.

Father Farrelly cited Getty for going an outstanding job on the basketball committee and presented him with a plaque.

Leo A. Schupp, county CYO director, spoke to the athletes. He thanked the recreation department and local school boards for making facilities available for the expanding basketball program and he congratulated the boys of St. Mary's for their fine conduct while using the gym facilities.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel J. Shea, dean of Ulster County and honorary chairman of the county CYO, congratulated the teams for outstanding records and he cited the time and effort put in by the coaching staff.

Those attending the dinner were served by members of the St. Mary's Rosary Society and World Series movies were shown at the conclusion of the dinner and speeches.

KBA Committee To Hear Protest By Dick Howard

Dick Waltman, secretary of the Kingston Bowling Assn., confirmed that he has received a letter of protest from Dick Howard concerning Angelo Fondino's city record for 1961-62 of 761, rolled March 14 in the Bowlero Major league.

Members of the KBA executive committee will hear Howard's complaint at the next scheduled meeting on Tuesday, April 3, at the YMCA. Waltman said that a decision will probably be rendered that evening as to whether an alleged foul by Fondino will erase his record shattering score or whether the score will stand.

Prior to Fondino's 761, Howard had held the previous high record this season, a 748 series back in December.

Olivets Compile Excellent Score In Bridge Play

Dr. and Mrs. John Olivet posted an exceptionally high 71½ per cent game to win first place in the fractional point tournament of the Glenerie Bridge Club.

The game was the second highest posted at the club this year and one of the relatively rare 70-plus efforts in area bridge play. The Olivets finished several points ahead of the runnerup tandem of Mrs. Joan Madden, Ellenville, and I. H. Wheatcroft, Kingston, who had 58 per cent.

Other leaders included: Dr. Paul Perlman and Laszlo Sima of Woodstock, 56 per cent; Joseph Zahtila, Hyde Park, and John Chapman, Poughkeepsie, 55 per cent; Mr. and Mrs. A. Black, Kerhonkson, 54 per cent.

Havana Radio Blames Rackets In Paret Case

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Havana Radio said the critical injury of welterweight champion Benny Paret was a result of what it called criminal methods of professional boxing in the United States.

Havana, Radio, monitored here Monday, said professional boxing in the United States "is being run by real gangsters who are interested only in filling their bags with dollars and do not have the least regard for the lives of the fighters."

The broadcast also scored referee Ruby Goldstein, saying he was negligent in not stopping the fight earlier.

Bobby Hull Hockey Leader

MONTREAL (AP)—Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks is the National Hockey League's official scoring champion for the 1961-62 season, although he and Andy Bathgate of the New York Rangers tied with 84 points.

The league office, reporting the final statistics today, said Hull will receive the scoring trophy because he scored 50 goals to 28 for Bathgate, but each will receive a $1,000 bonus that goes to the scoring leader.

The Vezina Trophy, for the goalie of the league's least scored-on team, will go to Jacques Plante of Montreal for the sixth time. Plante allowed 166 goals in 70 games, an average of 2.37 goals per game. In addition to the trophy, Plante also gets a $1,000 bonus.

Hull—also champion in 1960—wound up with 50 goals—matching the season record set by Rocket Richard and matched later by Boom Boom Geoffrion. Bathgate was the leader with 56 assists.

NBA Playoffs Resume On 2 Fronts Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Lakers and the Boston Celtics both move into enemy territory tonight in an effot to fatten their leads in the National Basketball Association semifinal playoffs.

The Lakers, after running up a 2-0 bulge in Los Angeles, take on the Detroit Pistons in Detroit in the third game of their best-of-seven Western Division series.

The Celtics, holding a 1-0 advantage, move into Philadelphia for the second game of the Eastern Division semifinals against the Warriors.

AJBC Plans Local Certified Bowling Instructors School

Session Opens On Wednesday

The American Junior Bowling Congress will conduct a two and one-half day Certified Instructors School at Ferraro's Bowlerama, starting Wednesday at 1 p. m.

Dates for the school are Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, March 28-29-30.

Conducting the school will be Bill Seirup, Director of Field Services, and Ted Hoffman, Eastern Field Representative of the American Junior Bowling Congress. The program has been arranged by Mrs. Aletha W. Barnes, State Supervisor from Massena.

All persons who are now an AJBC Certified Instructor and have not yet attended one of these schools are urged to attend this school for advanced training. All other persons interested in becoming qualified instructors are invited. The format of the schools has been changed to provide a more thorough training to the AJBC Instructors and one must atend the full two and one half days.

For all presently certified instructors, there is a small registration fee which covers cost of a new emblem and materials. All RCIs certified prior to September 1, 1960, will be required to attend one of these schools prior to Sept. 1, 1963, to maintain their certification.

For all new people interested in becoming a Certified Instructor for the first time, the registration fee will be slightly higher, covering costs of a manual, instructor's plaque and emblem.

All new candidates must be recommended or sponsored by a men's or women's bowling association, a proprietor, school, club or organization.

Minimum age for attendance is 19. Registrations will be accepted at the school. On completion of the school, the AJBC will notify all individuals recommended for certification as resident or certified instructors. Candidates are asked to bring bowling ball and shoes.

Six Local Leagues

Kingston currently has six AJBC leagues with a total membership of more than 600 teams, Mrs. Barnes said. There are now more than 590 coaches and instructors and 37,000 participants in the AJBC program in New York State.

The program follows:

Wednesday, March 28 — Demonstration and participation in mass teaching, 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Thursday — Practice teaching and perfection of teaching method, 9 a. m. to 12 noon; luncheon break, 12-1; Advanced teaching techniques (1:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.) covering: proper stance, proper finish, mechanics of ball action, fundamental ways of rolling a hook, how to increase or decrease the speed of a ball, timing, release of ball, spot bowling.

3:30-4 p. m. — How to get youngsters into the bowling lanes through: schools, service organizations, youth organizations, recreation departments, fraternal organizations, community programs.

4 p. m. to 5 p. m.—Forum on all phases of school to this point.

Friday, 9 a. m. - 12 noon—Practice teaching with a group of youngsters; 12-1 p. m., lunch; 1 p. m.-3 p. m., lecture on the program of the AJBC and a display of all of its awards, materials, emblems, etc.

3 p. m.-4 p. m.—Final examination.

17th Wehle Fishing Contest To Run April 1-October 31

For the seventeenth consecutive year Louis A. Wehle, Chairman of the Board of The Genesee Brewing Company of Rochester, and former New York State Conservation Commissioner, will sponsor the New York State Fishing Contest which offers $5,135.00 in cash prizes during the fishing season starting April 1st and closing October 31st.

As in past years, twelve classifications of fish are eligible for the contest: Largemouth Bass, Smallmouth Bass, Northern Pike, Walleyed Pike, Muskalonge, Perch, Pickerel, Rock Bass, Brook Trout, Brown Trout, Rainbow Trout and Lake Trout.

Monthly Prizes

Monthly prizes are awarded for the three top fish entered in each of these classifications and three Grand Prizes are awarded at the end of the contest for the largest fish of each species caught during the seven month season. Special Guide Prizes are awarded for winning Grand Prize fish in each classification.

A privately printed 24 page Fishing Guide has been offered by Mr. Wehle for the guidance of anglers who fish New York State waters. The guide contains the names of last year's winners together with such information as a digest of prize winning lures, the best fishing month of the year for each of the species, based on the percentage of total entries in last year's contest, past records of prize winning fish, and many suggestions used by expert anglers to lure the big ones.

Copies of the 1962 edition of the fishing guide may be obtained from bait shops, boat liveries, sporting goods stores and similar places where fishermen gather, or by writing to Mr. Wehle at 100 National St., Rochester 5, New York. There is no charge for the fishing guide nor is any entry fee required to submit eligible fish for the contest.

Rangers Seeking 1st Stanley Cup Since Back in '40

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The defending champion Chicago Black Hawks tangle with the revenge-minded Montreal Canadiens and the New York Rangers meet the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight as the Stanley Cup semi-finals get under way on two National Hockey League fonts.

The Hawks, who carted home the cup last year after the Canadiens had won it five years in a row, are in Montreal for the first two games. The Rangers, who haven't won the cup since 1940 and haven't made the playoffs since 1958, and the Leafs, whose last Stanley Cup triumph was in 1951, will play their first two games in Toronto.

The semifinals are best-of-seven events.

Despite finishing third in the regular-season race, the Hawks are given a chance to whip the Canadiens because they have the greater size (important in a short series), the league's top goal-getter (Bobby Hull) and one of the most effective goalies (Glenn Hall).

The Canadiens' big problem will be to stop Hull, the 23-year-old whiz who scored his 50th goal of the season Sunday to tie the record of most goals in a single campaign held by Rocket Richard and Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion.

Hull has scored 35 goals in the last 31 games, a fantastic pace, and said when he arrived in Montreal:

"I don't see any reason why I can't keep up the pace. I'll sure be shooting."

The Rangers, who barely squeezed into the playoffs, finished in fourth place, 21 points behind the Maple Leafs. To make their picture even blacker, they lost all seven of their games at Maple Leaf Gardens last season.

St. Gregory's Will Repeat Showing Of Morality Play

Residents of this area will have the opportunity to see one of the truly great medieval morality plays, "Everyman," presented by the St. Mark's Players of Mt. Kisco at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church in Woodstock, Saturday, March 31, at 8 p. m.

The play is presented as part of the church's Lenten program. There is no admission fee, but the vicar, the Rev. Lloyd H Uyeki, requests that guests be seated by 7:45 p. m., since the play is in one act and action cannot be interrupted.

This is a repeat request performance, "Everyman" having been presented in 1960 to a crowded house. St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church in New York is also giving this play by its own cast several evenings in April.

A morality play is a moral allegory in play form. In the 15th century, this type of play was presented in churches and on the steps of churches. Preceded by liturigcal and miracle type plays, these three types — liturgical, miracle and morality — are thought to have been the inspiration for the play form that flowered in the Elizabethan era.

Authorship of "Everyman" is obscure, but it is believed to have been written by a Dutch monk prior to 1493, when the first English translation and adaptation appeared. It has since been performed in many languages and is the most celebrated play of this type.

The Story of Death

The play tells how the High Father of Heaven sends Death to summon every creature to give an account of himself in this world. "Everyman," a gay fellow with no thought of the morrow, is summoned but wins a short reprieve, during which he attempts to find a companion to accompany him on his journey. Finally, having been deserted by all but one, and with full repentence, he starts on his long journey.

The cast is amateur but the performance is highly professional and the characters varied, colorful and convincing.

Costuming is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Alonzo Clarke, III. Miss Paula Athey is responsible for the authenticity of costume fashions of the 15th century, faithfully reproduced, with color differentiating the 15 characters.

Set design, construction, properties and stage crews are under the direction of Dr. Theodore Geiger. Mrs. Geiger directs the production with skill and success, as she has done for many years. She has also taught drama in the Dalton School of New York.

Music will be by Edgar Hilliar, organist and choirmaster of St. John's Church in Mt. Kisco, one of the best known organists in this country. He has recorded many albums and is instructor of organ at Manhattanville College.

Father Uyeki extends a cordial invitation to all to attend.

Comments About The Beatnik Poem By Eda Crist

The following comments on the celebrated beatnik-poem incident at Onteora Central school has been submitted by Eda Crist of Woodstock:

"I regretted, as much as anyone, the wide publicity given Onteora Central School District's controversial-poem incident. Now, however, I believe the publicity may be rendering us a great service. It has evoked discussion; it has made us think; out of this thinking and exchange of views may come the healthy atmosphere in which "grass roots democracy" can really flourish—especially where education for our children is concerned. For instance:

"1) We think about that "angry chorus of boos" so graciously hurled at Rev. Phillips. We wonder if the "booers" consider themselves qualified to discuss matters of education. Doesn't an educated person always act respectfully toward a man devoted to religious service? And doesn't an educated, mature person exercise self-control and self-restraint at heated moments? At such moments, isn't it wise to remember the celebrated words—"I detest your views, but am prepared to die for your right to express them?" or:

"To speak his thoughts is every free man's right, in peace and war, in council and in fight?"

"Have we permitted our public meetings and open discussions to degenerate into free-for-alls, where minority voices are silenced by recrimination, intimidation and humiliation?

Do we believe in the power of persuasion?

2) We think about criticism: To err is human: error becomes increasingly and alarmingly evident in the actions of "expert" men; therefore why stifle criticism. In fact, the laymen are urged to be critical of education by such eminent and experienced men as Vice-Admiral Hyman George Rickover and Educator Robert M. Hutchins. Mr. Hutchins says we must realize that "an uncriticized culture cannot long endure."

It's strange that those who see the great message in Mr. Ferlinghetti's poem, don't put that message to work. They should be the first to applaud criticism in every area, including the schools; after all, what has created the world which the "beats" reject, if it isn't faulty education—at home, in school, in the community — everywhere?

3) As for all the endorsements of the poem "A Coney Island of the Mind No. 5," one 16-year-old student may be right; he said, "It's not worth all the fuss; why's everybody so excited!"

We do not agree that the poem is written in common slang; it is not in the vernacular of our day. Didn't the poem require "translation" at that celebrated meeting?

The Beats are not writing for the people; they write for themselves and for each other, and for those who are fascinated with them.

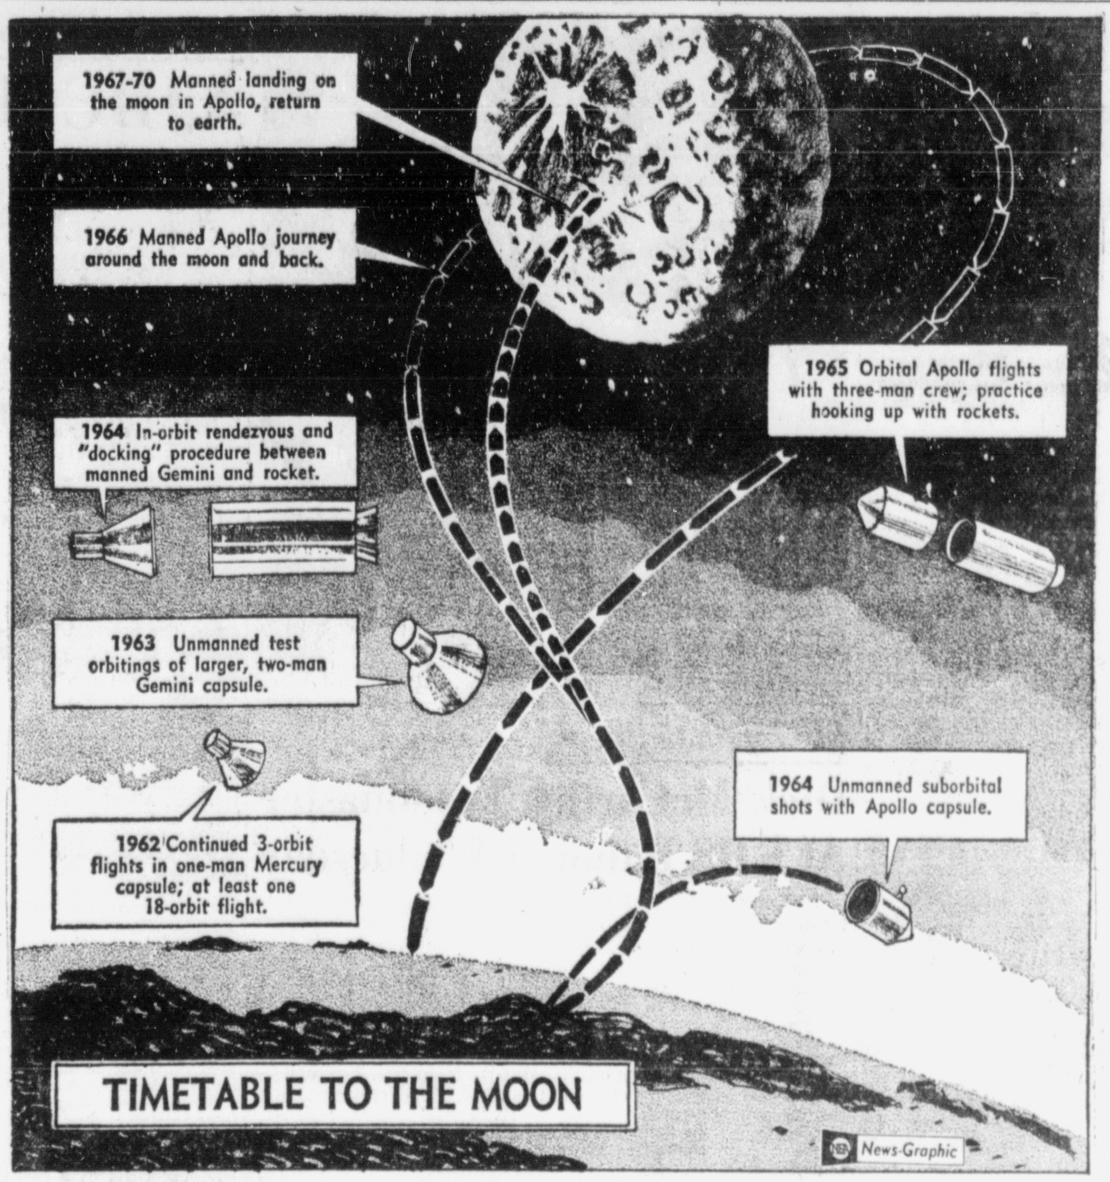

So, all the protestations of the poem's worth make me wonder if we shouldn't re-read a literary gem, Hans Christian Anderson's "The Emperor's New Clothes." . . . You will recall that only a child—among a multitude of people — saw truly and blurted out the truth that the emperor had no clothes on. Perhaps, we might all be the wiser if we, too, listen to the "voice of innocence." Maybe this poem isn't all so many are trying so hard to believe.

4) Isn't it true that introduction to something naturally leads into more of the same? I have just read the book, "Coney Island of the Mind" which contains "No. 5". I believe that young people should not be encouraged to dip into it.

5) Now, consider this next point calmly — I have no wish to stir up a hornet's nest.

I wager that those, who favor our children's studying the feverish jargon of the Beats, will not permit the reading of the Bible (St. James' Version) in our public schools. Yet, liberal-minded and well-read as they are, they must know that the Bible is still the greatest of great books by virtue of its beautiful language and its great wisdom; they must know that it has inspired and effected the style of writers who, in turn, created great books.

So, if public education can rob my child of what I feel is the best in literature, then that education must not give my child what I consider the worst; and I consider Beat works just that, where children are concerned. EDA CRIST.

TOMORROW THE MOON—With the successful orbiting of John Glenn, the U.S. space program shifts into a higher gear in a bid to land the first men on the moon no later than 1970. News-Graphic sketches the major milestones that must be passed on this decade-long journey. After Mercury and the orbiting of a two-man Gemini capsule, the most important step will be perfecting the rendezvous and hook-up in space between a capsule and a rocket put into orbit by itself. Until the large Saturn and Nova rockets are ready, a direct flight from earth to moon is impractical. Thus the necessary boost must be picked up in orbit. Weight of the Mercury capsule, about 1½ tons; the Apollo moon ship: 75 tons. Cost of Mercury to date: $400 million; cost of reaching the moon: $20 billion-plus.

Baptismal Is Held At St. Gregory's

Following the Sunday morning services at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, March 18, Robert Andrew Wagner, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Wagner of West Hurley, received the Sacrament of Holy Baptism from the Rev. Vincent F. Pottle, guest preacher. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew A. Sawers of Ramsey, N. J. and Robert Chatterton of Greenville, N. Y., were the baby's sponsors. Among the baptism party guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Scheuerman of Peekskill.

Guild Shop Closes

As is customary, the Guild Shop of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen will be closed during the month of April, reopening Tuesday, May 1, with the usual hours of 1 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. daily.

Scouts Awards At Shady Church Service April 1

Communion Sunday will be observed at the Methodist Church of Shady on April 1, at the regular 7:30 p. m. church service. The Rev. H. Chase Page will deliver a communion message.

The April 1st service will also feature the awarding of the God and Country Award of the Boy Scouts of America to Scout Douglas Eighmey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey. Scout Eighmey has been working on this national award for the past three years. It will be presented to him on Sunday evening by the Rev. H. Chase Page, pastor of the church, Robert Hensel, Field Scout Executive of the Rip Van Winkle Council Boy Scouts of America, and Edward E. Safford, scoutmaster of Troop 6 in which young Eighmey serves as a Junior Assistant Scoutmaster.

Following the evening church service, the usual coffee and fellowship hour will be observed, with the congregation invited to attend.

Sunday school is held every Sunday morning at 10:30, under the direction of Superintendent Arthur MacDaniel. Classes are held for all ages, with visitors welcome.

Firemen at Banquet Called Out on Alarm

Firemen and their wives from the village of Woodstock, Wittenberg, Shady, Lake Hill, Willow and Zena, were present.

Following the serving of dinner, the firemen enjoyed dancing to the music of the Freddie Schrader band.

During the banquet an alarm of fire was sounded, taking men and equipment to the corner of the Glasco Turnpike and the Saugerties Road. It was determined that a reflection of the moon in a house was mistaken for a fire, causing the alarm to be sounded.

Fire Company No. 3 Stages Fire Drill

Woodstock Fire Company No. 3, of the Shady-Lake Hill-Willow area, held a fire drill Sunday afternoon under the direction of Captain Alfred Ostrander.

About 15 men responded to the drill, with the apparatus and men going to the four corners in Willow to take care of a mythical fire.

Education Leader To Speak to P-TA Of Talmud Torah

PHILIP ARIAN

The education director of Temple Israel in Albany, Philip Arian, will speak to the Parent-Teacher Association of Talmud Torah of Kingston.

The meeting will be held Thursday at 8:30 p. m. in Congregation Agudas Achim.

Mr. Arian is a graduate of Yeshiva University and has earned a Master's Degree in religious education from the Jewish Theological Seminary.

Aaron Klein is chairman of the program. Members of the faculty and Rabbis H. Z. Rappaport and Jacob Rubenstein will be available for conference at the meeting.

Alaska, which ranks first among states of the Union in area, ranks last in population with only 226,913 people.

According to a survey, Catholic population of the United States is about 24 per cent.

Unfair Practices Curb to Be Topic Of Poultry Series

New York State Poultry Industry Coordinated Effort (SPICE), of Ithaca, plans to hold a series of meetings throughout the state to discuss an "action program to curb unfair practices in integration."

The association believes that federal legislation or amendments to existing federal statutes will be necessary to keep egg production from following in the path of broiler production which would mean financial ruin for many.

A meeting is scheduled for April 4, at Accord Grade School, off Route 209. The meeting will be held at 8 p. m., and will be chaired by S. Cohen and the speaker will be C. S. Perkins.

Other area meetings will be at Hudson on April 3, at 8 p. m., in the supervisors' room in Columbia County Court House with P. Seidel as chairman and J. C. Huttar as speaker. On April 5, at 8 p. m., a meeting will be held at Liberty Central School cafeteria at 8 p. m., with M. Brender as chairman and C. S. Perkins as speaker.

To present its thinking on the alleged unfair practices and to get ideas, the regional producer meetings have been scheduled throughout the state. There will be other matters discussed at these meetings, such as zoning ordinances.

FELLER IN CAMP

By BOB FELLER
As told to
HARRY GRAYSON
Newspaper Enterprise Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (NEA) — The Cardinals training at Al Lang Field on the St. Petersburg waterfront are a curious mixture.

You can begin with Johnny Keane, embarking on his first full season as a major league manager, though this is his 25th year in the organization. Keane, a superior minor league skipper for years, well liked and respected by his players, is a late starter, just as the St. Louis club was in 1961.

Keane succeeded Solly Hemus last July 6, and the Red Birds compiled a 47.33 record for the second half of the campaign, the best in the National League for that period.

"The club has momentum," stressed Keane, seated in the dugout, his sharp eyes darting all over the place as the Cards worked out before an exhibition game with the Phillies. "We also have more room for improvement in the standings than any other contending club."

Gussie Buschs outfit figures to have more attack with Minnie Minoso in the batting order, but the Cardinals are depending heavily on two oldsters in the outfield. Keane says he won't be surprised to see Stanley Musial play 120 games. I hope he does because Stan's a great guy, but even players who were so richly endowed as Musial and Minoso more often than not require time out at their age. Musial is 41. The records show Minoso to be 39.

If both remain in the thick of things, it will mean that Curt Flood, in between them, will have to run farther, faster and oftener than Jim Beatty.

* * *

THERE IS AN AIR of optimism around the camp, however, especially since the Cardinals are now one big happy family living together in harmony at the Skyway Motel at the base of the Sunshine Skyway to Palmetto, Bradenton and Sarasoto.

They're real high on Julio (Hoolio) Gotay (Ho-tie), who batted .307 in the American Association, to play shortstop and team with Julian (Hool-y-an) Javier (Hahv-ee-air). Jerry Buchek, not yet 20 and up from the Pacific Coast League, makes the plays.

The chances are, however, that the 35-year-old Alex Grammas will open the season at shortstop to relieve the pressure on Gotay, who is expected to take over after a month or so.

* * *

THE TWO SOLID GUYS on the club are Ken Boyer at third base and Bill White at first.

I have to call the Cardinals on the weak side defensively behind the plate, depending on Carl Sawatski and Gene Oliver, a big converted first baseman who hit 36 home runs driving in 100 runs and batting .302 for the Portland Pacific Coast League club.

There are question marks in connection with the pitching, too, mainly hinging on the return to 20-game form of Ernie Broglio and Lindy McDaniel snapping back as a star reliever. Unless Broglie bounces back, the closest thing the Cardinals have to a stopper is Larry Jackson, who won 11 of his 12 in 1961.

It will take all of the managerial skill Johnny Keane acquired in his long service in the minors to keep these Red Birds flying.

Halas Reveals Early Plans by National League

BALTIMORE (AP) — The National Football League, nearing the end of its defense in a $10 million antitrust suit, was expected to call George Preston Marshall to the stand today.

The American Football League, which filed its suit in U.S. District Court, contends the NFL moved into Dallas and Minneapolis-St. Paul to undermine the formation of the new league.

George Halas, majority owner, general manager and coach of the Chicago Bears, testified Monday that the NFL planned its move into Dallas long before the AFL was founded.

Halas said he was named chairman in 1958 of an expansion committee charged with exploring a move into the South and West.

"Houston and Dallas were the leading cities in the Southwest, and we were heading in that direction," Halas testified before Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, who is hearing the case without a jury.

PaulHogue First Pick By Knicks

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Donovan, coach of the downtrodden New York Knickerbockers, said today that the NCAA basketball final last Saturday erased any doubts in his mind that big Paul Hogue might not be fast enough.

Hogue, 6-foot-9 and 235 pounds, was the sparkplug of Cincinnati's victory over Ohio State for the NCAA championship in Louisville. He was drafted by the Knicks, who finished last in the Eastern Division, at the National Basketball Association draft Monday.

"I would have picked Hogue over anybody in the country after what he showed me Saturday night in Louisville," enthused Donovan. "He was our first choice all the way."

Hogue, who held three-time All-America Jerry Lucas to 11 points in the final game and was voted the most valuable player in the tournament, was a surprise choice by the Knicks. Before he changed his mind, Donovan had deemed Hogue too slow for the Knicks' needs.

Offeed $100,000

Lucas, who is cool on the idea of playing professional basketball, was drafted by the Cincinnati Royals as a territorial selection. Royals' President Tom Grace tabbed Lucas as a "future" when he was graduated from high school four years ago.

He hopes to lure Lucas into the fold with a 3-year, $100,000 contract.

Billy (The Hill) McGill of Utah, the nation's top scorer, was the first choice in the draft. The Chicago Packers got him because they had the worst record in the league.

The Packers also selected Purdue's 6-7 Terry Dischinger.

Dave Debusschere of the University of Detroit was the only other territorial pick. The Detroit Pistons plucked him, but they will have to pull him away from the Detroit Tigers.

He is a top pitching prospect and the Tigers have offered him a fat bonus with a "no basketball" clause attached. The Piston management says he has promised that any baseball contract he signs will have to have a clause permitting him to play in the NBA.

Casper Winner As Rookie Ace Folds in Doral

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—It was right there for the taking—a bundle of cash bigger than he had yet dared to dream of, and an upset golf victory of major proportions.

Paul Bondeson, a remarkable young player at 22, but still a bit gun-shy in the company of the great, had it right in his hands in Monday's final round of the $50,000 Doral Country Club Open.

But when the showdown came on the final holes and the $9,000 winner's purse rode with every stroke the tournament-tested veteran, Bill Casper, pushed through to win in dramatic fashion over the nervous rookie.

Leading Casper by four strokes through the 11th, Bondeson finally got the jitters and lost his entire margin on two straight double bogies.

Casper wound up with a 71 for a four-round total of 283, five under par, and one stroke ahead of Bondeson, who slipped to a 73.

The green youngster still won $4,600 for second place, however—sufficient money to keep him on the tour at a time when he was about to give up for lack of funds and return to Northbrook, Ill., where he is a teaching pro.

Jack Nicklaus, another bright young star who has competed in only 10 tournaments, took third in the Doral at 285 and won $3,000, the biggest purse of his career.

The old master, Ben Hogan, tied with Ted Kroll for fourth at 286.

Lucky Dream Is the Winner

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Rocketing through the stretch from fifth place, Lucky Dream scored a length victory over Alix Byrd Monday night in the featured pace at Roosevelt Raceway. The time for the mile was 2:02 1-5.

John Edmunds drove the 5-year-old gelding for owners Percy and Jerry Gray of East Providence, R.I. Lucky Dream, beaten by a head in his seasonal debut last week, returned $10.80.

Paul Bryant Ordered To Curtail Activity

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Paul Bryant, University of Alabama football coach, has canceled all away-from-home engagements for about three months on his doctor's advice.

Bryant said Monday that he had a checkup two weeks ago and that his doctor told him he was run down.

"He said there's nothing wrong that work won't cure but to do it at home," Bryant added. "So I've canceled all engagements for a while."

Set Deadline For HVL Match

The Hudson Valley Bowling League has set two deadlines for the rolloff of the postponed match between Jones Dairy and Miron Lumber.

The regular season ended last Saturday night, but the teams were unable to agree to a date for the rolloff. The matter was then turned over to the league for action.

The two deadlines set are tonight (Tuesday) by 10:30 p. m. or Wednesday by 10:45 p. m. If Miron Lumber does not appear for either of the two dates, it will forfeit three games.

Birds Rap Jay Hook For 17 Runs

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Facing the Baltimore Orioles Monday before a meager turnout of 736 spectators at Miami Stadium, Hook was belted with abandon as the American League club bombed the new National League entry 18-8.

The Orioles rocked Hook for six innings, clipping him for 17 of their 21 hits and 16 of their runs, with a finishing burst of 9 hits and 8 runs in the sixth. They collected two more runs and four hits against rookie Evans Killeen.

Included in the outburst against Hook were two homers by Dave Nicholson, and one each by Brooks Robinson, John Powell and Russ Snyder.

Hook, a $125,000 premier player drafted by the Mets from Cincinnati, was distraught at the pounding but emphasized he held no grudge against Stengel for leaving him in.

The manager said, "I left him in there because I want to make him a starting pitcher — a nine inning pitcher — and he worked the equivalent of nine innings. Anyway, I don't think it hurt him. And it might make a better pitcher of him."

Elsewhere in exhibition action —the streaking St. Louis Cardinals made it eight in a row, shading the Cincinnati Reds 7-6; the New York Yankees tripped the Detroit Tigers 6-5 in 10 innings in the first meeting of the two American League contenders this spring; the Houston Colts trounced the Los Angeles Angels 7-0; the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Milwaukee Braves 7-3; the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Chicago White Sox 10-9; and the Chicago Cubs hammered the Cleveland Indians 10-4.

A seven-run explosion in the fourth inning, started by Ken Boyer's bases-empty homer and climaxed by Minnie Minoso's homer with two on, enabled the Cards to top the Reds. Cincinnati had jumped ahead 5-0 against Curt Simmons before the Cards found the range against Jim Maloney.

Pedro Gonzales, who was optioned to Richmond by the Yankees just before game time, bid farewell with a 10th-inning triple that drove in the winner against Detroit. John Blanchard, who singled before Gonzales' hit, also homered for the Yanks, as did Mickey Mantle. Rocky Colavito socked two for the Tigers.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS

"The Best Years of Our Lives," a brilliant study of postwar America.

"Henry V," the best Shakespeare film ever made.

"The Razor's Edge," well-produced Maugham and metaphysics.

... of these films brought best-actor nominations—for Frederic March, Laurence Olivier. They were joined by Larry Parks of the immensely entertaining "The Jolson Story."

Most of the ladies were nominated for love stories; Olivia de Havilland for "To Each His Own," Celia Johnson for "Brief Encounter," Jennifer Jones for "Duel in the Sun," Jane Wyman for "The Yearling." Plus Rosalind Russell for her brave portrait of "Sister Kenny."

The supporting actors came from veteran ranks: Charles Coburn ("The Green Years"); William Demarest ("Jolson") Claude Rains "Notorious"); Clifton Webb (Razor's Edge"); plus the handless veteran in his only film, Harold Russell ("Best Years").

The supporting actresses: Ethel Barrymore ("Spiral Staircase"); Anne Baxter ("Razor's Edge"); Flora Robson ("Saratoga Trunk"); Lillian Gish ("Duel in the Sun"); Gale Sondergaard ("Anna and the King of Siam").

The winners that year were "Best Years," March, de Havilland, Russell and Baxter.

The nominees this year?

Audrey Hepburn in "Breadfast at Tiffany's" plays a girl who gets tips of $50 a night from her many men friends; she falls in love with the boy upstairs—he's being kept by a wealthy female.

Piper Laurie in "The Hustler" is a crippled alcoholic who takes in Paul Newman, an unreformed pool shooter. Sophia Loren in "Two Women" is an Italian refugee who is notably free with her charms.

Geraldine Page is the "Summer and Smoke" spinster who sees folly in her chaste ways and picks up the first salesman who comes along. Natalie Wood is sent to the nut house in "Splendor in the Grass," apparently from the strain of having refused sex with her sweetheart, Warren Beatty. Stuart Whitman plays a rehabilitated child-molester in "The Mark."

12 Quintets Scheduled to Play In 9th Kingston Cage Tourney

CHAMPIONS—Chicago bowlers Inez Brown and J. Wilbert Sims cart home the trophies gained with championship victories in the 1962 National Bowling Assn. tournament. The pair topped an all-star field of the country's top Negro bowlers. It was the fourth straight NBA title Sims, a member of the Brunswick Advisory Staff and a finalist on two of the nationally-televised tournaments on the current winter tour. The tourney was conducted in Cleveland's United Recreation.

In the 7:15 opener, Augustine Insurance will tangle with the Albany Athletic Club. Then at 8:30, Mary's Pizza Shop of Bridgeport, Conn., and Rhinehook Plains are slated to collide.

Two other first round games are slated for Tuesday, April 3. In the 7:15 attraction, Doxsey-NSO quintet of Poughkeepsie meets the Dutchess Falcons, another Bridge City club. Then at 8:30, McLean Well Drillers of Germantown tangle with Byrne Chevrolet of Kingston.

Four teams have drawn byes. Trailways Cafeteria of Kingston will play the winner of the Augustine Insurance - Albany Athletic Club game on Thursday, April 5. Ray's Tackle Shop will meet the Mary's Pizza Shop-Rhinehook Plains victor the same night in the second attraction.

In the bottom bracket, Van Voorhis Lumber of Fishkill will play the NSO-Dutchess Falcons on Sunday, Apr. 8 and the Pine Plains Bombardiers, defending champions, will clash with the McLean-Byrne victor on April 8.

Semi-finals are slated for April 12 and the finals will be held Sunday, April 15.

St. Mary's Varsity Cagers Honored at Annual Banquet

About 125 persons attended the fifth annual St. Mary's athletic banquet, held Sunday at the school hall. Honored was the varsity squad, which captured the upstate CYO championship.

Andrew T. Gilday, master of ceremonies, introduced Joseph Bouchard, assistant director of the basketball program. Bouchard presented certificates to the boys in recognition of loyal and satisfactory participation in the program.

John W. Sullivan, parish basketball director, congratulated the teams for winning three of the Ulster County championships for the second straight season. Tyro, jayvee and varsity clubs were unbeaten.

The cage director told of several highlights of the season. He stated that seven teams at St. Mary's completed 135 games in regular competition as well as non-league tilts. He thanked those who made the program possible and also praised the coaching staff of G. Knute Beichert, Vince Fisher, Lou Getty, Bill Tomaseski and Bud Munson.

Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, Ulster County CYO moderator, gave individual medals to members of the county championship teams and plaques to the managers. Varsity players received plaques for their upstate honors and a trophy for winning the Beacon Invitational tournament.

Awards were also presented to the boys from the parish who participated in the annual county foul shoot and captured eight of 12 prizes.

Father Farrelly cited Getty for going an outstanding job on the basketball committee and presented him with a plaque.

Leo A. Schupp, county CYO director, spoke to the athletes. He thanked the recreation department and local school boards for making facilities available for the expanding basketball program and he congratulated the boys of St. Mary's for their fine conduct while using the gym facilities.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel J. Shea, dean of Ulster County and honorary chairman of the county CYO, congratulated the teams for outstanding records and he cited the time and effort put in by the coaching staff.

Those attending the dinner were served by members of the St. Mary's Rosary Society and World Series movies were shown at the conclusion of the dinner and speeches.

KBA Committee To Hear Protest By Dick Howard

Dick Waltman, secretary of the Kingston Bowling Assn., confirmed that he has received a letter of protest from Dick Howard concerning Angelo Fondino's city record for 1961-62 of 761, rolled March 14 in the Bowlero Major league.

Members of the KBA executive committee will hear Howard's complaint at the next scheduled meeting on Tuesday, April 3, at the YMCA. Waltman said that a decision will probably be rendered that evening as to whether an alleged foul by Fondino will erase his record shattering score or whether the score will stand.

Prior to Fondino's 761, Howard had held the previous high record this season, a 748 series back in December.

Olivets Compile Excellent Score In Bridge Play

Dr. and Mrs. John Olivet posted an exceptionally high 71½ per cent game to win first place in the fractional point tournament of the Glenerie Bridge Club.

The game was the second highest posted at the club this year and one of the relatively rare 70-plus efforts in area bridge play. The Olivets finished several points ahead of the runnerup tandem of Mrs. Joan Madden, Ellenville, and I. H. Wheatcroft, Kingston, who had 58 per cent.

Other leaders included: Dr. Paul Perlman and Laszlo Sima of Woodstock, 56 per cent; Joseph Zahtila, Hyde Park, and John Chapman, Poughkeepsie, 55 per cent; Mr. and Mrs. A. Black, Kerhonkson, 54 per cent.

Havana Radio Blames Rackets In Paret Case

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Havana Radio said the critical injury of welterweight champion Benny Paret was a result of what it called criminal methods of professional boxing in the United States.

Havana, Radio, monitored here Monday, said professional boxing in the United States "is being run by real gangsters who are interested only in filling their bags with dollars and do not have the least regard for the lives of the fighters."

The broadcast also scored referee Ruby Goldstein, saying he was negligent in not stopping the fight earlier.

AT PARET'S BEDSIDE — His wife, Lucy, and his manager, Manuel Alvaro, keep vigil at bedside of unconscious boxer Benny (Kid) Paret at New York's Roosevelt Hospital. The 25-year-old Cuban fighter is in critical condition as a result of injuries received in bout with Emile Griffith in which he lost his welterweight title. He underwent brain surgery shortly after being battered unconscious. A tracheotomy was also performed to aid his breathing. (AP Wirephoto)

Bobby Hull Hockey Leader

MONTREAL (AP)—Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks is the National Hockey League's official scoring champion for the 1961-62 season, although he and Andy Bathgate of the New York Rangers tied with 84 points.

The league office, reporting the final statistics today, said Hull will receive the scoring trophy because he scored 50 goals to 28 for Bathgate, but each will receive a $1,000 bonus that goes to the scoring leader.

The Vezina Trophy, for the goalie of the league's least scored-on team, will go to Jacques Plante of Montreal for the sixth time. Plante allowed 166 goals in 70 games, an average of 2.37 goals per game. In addition to the trophy, Plante also gets a $1,000 bonus.

Hull—also champion in 1960—wound up with 50 goals—matching the season record set by Rocket Richard and matched later by Boom Boom Geoffrion. Bathgate was the leader with 56 assists.

NBA Playoffs Resume On 2 Fronts Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Lakers and the Boston Celtics both move into enemy territory tonight in an effot to fatten their leads in the National Basketball Association semifinal playoffs.

The Lakers, after running up a 2-0 bulge in Los Angeles, take on the Detroit Pistons in Detroit in the third game of their best-of-seven Western Division series.

The Celtics, holding a 1-0 advantage, move into Philadelphia for the second game of the Eastern Division semifinals against the Warriors.

AJBC Plans Local Certified Bowling Instructors School

Session Opens On Wednesday

The American Junior Bowling Congress will conduct a two and one-half day Certified Instructors School at Ferraro's Bowlerama, starting Wednesday at 1 p. m.

Dates for the school are Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, March 28-29-30.

Conducting the school will be Bill Seirup, Director of Field Services, and Ted Hoffman, Eastern Field Representative of the American Junior Bowling Congress. The program has been arranged by Mrs. Aletha W. Barnes, State Supervisor from Massena.

All persons who are now an AJBC Certified Instructor and have not yet attended one of these schools are urged to attend this school for advanced training. All other persons interested in becoming qualified instructors are invited. The format of the schools has been changed to provide a more thorough training to the AJBC Instructors and one must atend the full two and one half days.

For all presently certified instructors, there is a small registration fee which covers cost of a new emblem and materials. All RCIs certified prior to September 1, 1960, will be required to attend one of these schools prior to Sept. 1, 1963, to maintain their certification.

For all new people interested in becoming a Certified Instructor for the first time, the registration fee will be slightly higher, covering costs of a manual, instructor's plaque and emblem.

All new candidates must be recommended or sponsored by a men's or women's bowling association, a proprietor, school, club or organization.

Minimum age for attendance is 19. Registrations will be accepted at the school. On completion of the school, the AJBC will notify all individuals recommended for certification as resident or certified instructors. Candidates are asked to bring bowling ball and shoes.

Six Local Leagues

Kingston currently has six AJBC leagues with a total membership of more than 600 teams, Mrs. Barnes said. There are now more than 590 coaches and instructors and 37,000 participants in the AJBC program in New York State.

The program follows:

Wednesday, March 28 — Demonstration and participation in mass teaching, 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Thursday — Practice teaching and perfection of teaching method, 9 a. m. to 12 noon; luncheon break, 12-1; Advanced teaching techniques (1:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.) covering: proper stance, proper finish, mechanics of ball action, fundamental ways of rolling a hook, how to increase or decrease the speed of a ball, timing, release of ball, spot bowling.

3:30-4 p. m. — How to get youngsters into the bowling lanes through: schools, service organizations, youth organizations, recreation departments, fraternal organizations, community programs.

4 p. m. to 5 p. m.—Forum on all phases of school to this point.

Friday, 9 a. m. - 12 noon—Practice teaching with a group of youngsters; 12-1 p. m., lunch; 1 p. m.-3 p. m., lecture on the program of the AJBC and a display of all of its awards, materials, emblems, etc.

3 p. m.-4 p. m.—Final examination.

17th Wehle Fishing Contest To Run April 1-October 31

For the seventeenth consecutive year Louis A. Wehle, Chairman of the Board of The Genesee Brewing Company of Rochester, and former New York State Conservation Commissioner, will sponsor the New York State Fishing Contest which offers $5,135.00 in cash prizes during the fishing season starting April 1st and closing October 31st.

As in past years, twelve classifications of fish are eligible for the contest: Largemouth Bass, Smallmouth Bass, Northern Pike, Walleyed Pike, Muskalonge, Perch, Pickerel, Rock Bass, Brook Trout, Brown Trout, Rainbow Trout and Lake Trout.

Monthly Prizes

Monthly prizes are awarded for the three top fish entered in each of these classifications and three Grand Prizes are awarded at the end of the contest for the largest fish of each species caught during the seven month season. Special Guide Prizes are awarded for winning Grand Prize fish in each classification.

A privately printed 24 page Fishing Guide has been offered by Mr. Wehle for the guidance of anglers who fish New York State waters. The guide contains the names of last year's winners together with such information as a digest of prize winning lures, the best fishing month of the year for each of the species, based on the percentage of total entries in last year's contest, past records of prize winning fish, and many suggestions used by expert anglers to lure the big ones.

Copies of the 1962 edition of the fishing guide may be obtained from bait shops, boat liveries, sporting goods stores and similar places where fishermen gather, or by writing to Mr. Wehle at 100 National St., Rochester 5, New York. There is no charge for the fishing guide nor is any entry fee required to submit eligible fish for the contest.

Rangers Seeking 1st Stanley Cup Since Back in '40

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The defending champion Chicago Black Hawks tangle with the revenge-minded Montreal Canadiens and the New York Rangers meet the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight as the Stanley Cup semifinals get under way on two National Hockey League fonts.

The Hawks, who carted home the cup last year after the Canadiens had won it five years in a row, are in Montreal for the first two games. The Rangers, who haven't won the cup since 1940 and haven't made the playoffs since 1958, and the Leafs, whose last Stanley Cup triumph was in 1951, will play their first two games in Toronto.

The semifinals are best-of-seven events.

Despite finishing third in the regular-season race, the Hawks are given a chance to whip the Canadiens because they have the greater size (important in a short series), the league's top goal-getter (Bobby Hull) and one of the most effective goalies (Glenn Hall).

The Canadiens' big problem will be to stop Hull, the 23-year-old whiz who scored his 50th goal of the season Sunday to tie the record of most goals in a single campaign held by Rocket Richard and Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion.

Hull has scored 35 goals in the last 31 games, a fantastic pace, and said when he arrived in Montreal:

"I don't see any reason why I can't keep up the pace. I'll sure be shooting."

The Rangers, who barely squeezed into the playoffs, finished in fourth place, 21 points behind the Maple Leafs. To make their picture even blacker, they lost all seven of their games at Maple Leaf Gardens last season.

FELLER IN CAMP

By BOB FELLER
As told to
HARRY GRAYSON
Newspaper Enterprise Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (NEA) — The Cardinals training at Al Lang Field on the St. Petersburg waterfront are a curious mixture.

You can begin with Johnny Keane, embarking on his first full season as a major league manager, though this is his 25th year in the organization. Keane, a superior minor league skipper for years, well liked and respected by his players, is a late starter, just as the St. Louis club was in 1961.

Keane succeeded Solly Hemus last July 6, and the Red Birds compiled a 47.33 record for the second half of the campaign, the best in the National League for that period.

"The club has momentum," stressed Keane, seated in the dugout, his sharp eyes darting all over the place as the Cards worked out before an exhibition game with the Phillies. "We also have more room for improvement in the standings than any other contending club."

Gussie Buschs outfit figures to have more attack with Minnie Minoso in the batting order, but the Cardinals are depending heavily on two oldsters in the outfield. Keane says he won't be surprised to see Stanley Musial play 120 games. I hope he does because Stan's a great guy, but even players who were so richly endowed as Musial and Minoso more often than not require time out at their age. Musial is 41. The records show Minoso to be 39.

If both remain in the thick of things, it will mean that Curt Flood, in between them, will have to run farther, faster and oftener than Jim Beatty.

* * *

THERE IS AN AIR of optimism around the camp, however, especially since the Cardinals are now one big happy family living together in harmony at the Skyway Motel at the base of the Sunshine Skyway to Palmetto, Bradenton and Sarasoto.

They're real high on Julio (Hoolio) Gotay (Ho-tie), who batted .307 in the American Association, to play shortstop and team with Julian (Hool-y-an) Javier (Hahv-ee-air). Jerry Buchek, not yet 20 and up from the Pacific Coast League, makes the plays.

The chances are, however, that the 35-year-old Alex Grammas will open the season at shortstop to relieve the pressure on Gotay, who is expected to take over after a month or so.

* * *

THE TWO SOLID GUYS on the club are Ken Boyer at third base and Bill White at first.

I have to call the Cardinals on the weak side defensively behind the plate, depending on Carl Sawatski and Gene Oliver, a big converted first baseman who hit 36 home runs driving in 100 runs and batting .302 for the Portland Pacific Coast League club.

There are question marks in connection with the pitching, too, mainly hinging on the return to 20-game form of Ernie Broglio and Lindy McDaniel snapping back as a star reliever. Unless Broglie bounces back, the closest thing the Cardinals have to a stopper is Larry Jackson, who won 11 of his 12 in 1961.

It will take all of the managerial skill Johnny Keane acquired in his long service in the minors to keep these Red Birds flying.

Halas Reveals Early Plans by National League

BALTIMORE (AP) — The National Football League, nearing the end of its defense in a $10 million antitrust suit, was expected to call George Preston Marshall to the stand today.

The American Football League, which filed its suit in U.S. District Court, contends the NFL moved into Dallas and Minneapolis-St. Paul to undermine the formation of the new league.

George Halas, majority owner, general manager and coach of the Chicago Bears, testified Monday that the NFL planned its move into Dallas long before the AFL was founded.

Halas said he was named chairman in 1958 of an expansion committee charged with exploring a move into the South and West.

"Houston and Dallas were the leading cities in the Southwest, and we were heading in that direction," Halas testified before Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, who is hearing the case without a jury.

PaulHogue First Pick By Knicks

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Donovan, coach of the downtrodden New York Knickerbockers, said today that the NCAA basketball final last Saturday erased any doubts in his mind that big Paul Hogue might not be fast enough.

Hogue, 6-foot-9 and 235 pounds, was the sparkplug of Cincinnati's victory over Ohio State for the NCAA championship in Louisville. He was drafted by the Knicks, who finished last in the Eastern Division, at the National Basketball Association draft Monday.

"I would have picked Hogue over anybody in the country after what he showed me Saturday night in Louisville," enthused Donovan. "He was our first choice all the way."

Hogue, who held three-time All-America Jerry Lucas to 11 points in the final game and was voted the most valuable player in the tournament, was a surprise choice by the Knicks. Before he changed his mind, Donovan had deemed Hogue too slow for the Knicks' needs.

Offeed $100,000

Lucas, who is cool on the idea of playing professional basketball, was drafted by the Cincinnati Royals as a territorial selection. Royals' President Tom Grace tabbed Lucas as a "future" when he was graduated from high school four years ago.

He hopes to lure Lucas into the fold with a 3-year, $100,000 contract.

Billy (The Hill) McGill of Utah, the nation's top scorer, was the first choice in the draft. The Chicago Packers got him because they had the worst record in the league.

The Packers also selected Purdue's 6-7 Terry Dischinger.

Dave Debusschere of the University of Detroit was the only other territorial pick. The Detroit Pistons plucked him, but they will have to pull him away from the Detroit Tigers.

He is a top pitching prospect and the Tigers have offered him a fat bonus with a "no basketball" clause attached. The Piston management says he has promised that any baseball contract he signs will have to have a clause permitting him to play in the NBA.

Casper Winner As Rookie Ace Folds in Doral

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—It was right there for the taking—a bundle of cash bigger than he had yet dared to dream of, and an upset golf victory of major proportions.

Paul Bondeson, a remarkable young player at 22, but still a bit gun-shy in the company of the great, had it right in his hands in Monday's final round of the $50,000 Doral Country Club Open.

But when the showdown came on the final holes and the $9,000 winner's purse rode with every stroke the tournament-tested veteran, Bill Casper, pushed through to win in dramatic fashion over the nervous rookie.

Leading Casper by four strokes through the 11th, Bondeson finally got the jitters and lost his entire margin on two straight double bogies.

Casper wound up with a 71 for a four-round total of 283, five under par, and one stroke ahead of Bondeson, who slipped to a 73.

The green youngster still won $1,600 for second place, however—sufficient money to keep him on the tour at a time when he was about to give up for lack of funds and return to Northbrook, Ill., where he is a teaching pro.

Jack Nicklaus, another bright young star who has competed in only 10 tournaments, took third in the Doral at 285 and won $3,000, the biggest purse of his career.

The old master, Ben Hogan, tied with Ted Kroll for fourth at 286.

Lucky Dream Is the Winner

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Rocketing through the stretch from fifth place, Lucky Dream scored a length victory over Alix Byrd Monday night in the featured pace at Roosevelt Raceway. The time for the mile was 2:02 1-5.

John Edmunds drove the 5-year-old gelding for owners Percy and Jerry Gray of East Providence, R.I. Lucky Dream, beaten by a head in his seasonal debut last week, returned $10.80.

Paul Bryant Ordered To Curtail Activity

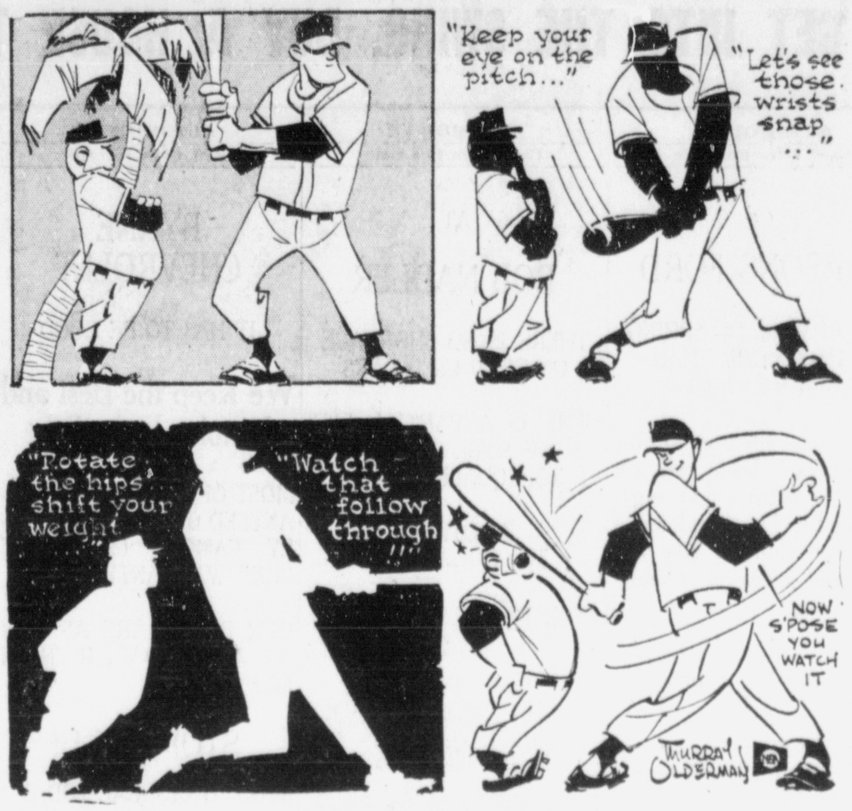

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Paul Bryant, University of Alabama football coach, has canceled all away-from-home engagements for about three months on his doctor's advice.

Bryant said Monday that he had a checkup two weeks ago and that his doctor told him he was run down.

"He said there's nothing wrong that work won't cure but to do it at home," Bryant added. "So I've canceled all engagements for a while."

Set Deadline For HVL Match

The Hudson Valley Bowling League has set two deadlines for the rolloff of the postponed match between Jones Dairy and Miron Lumber.

The regular season ended last Saturday night, but the teams were unable to agree to a date for the rolloff. The matter was then turned over to the league for action.

The two deadlines set are tonight (Tuesday) by 10:30 p. m. or Wednesday by 10:45 p. m. If Miron Lumber does not appear for either of the two dates, it will forfeit three games.

Birds Rap Jay Hook For 17 Runs

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Facing the Baltimore Orioles Monday before a meager turnout of 736 spectators at Miami Stadium, Hook was belted with abandon as the American League club bombed the new National League entry 18-8.

The Orioles rocked Hook for six innings, clipping him for 17 of their 21 hits and 16 of their runs, with a finishing burst of 9 hits and 8 runs in the sixth. They collected two more runs and four hits against rookie Evans Killeen.

Hook, a $125,000 premier player drafted by the Mets from Cincinnati, was distraught at the pounding but emphasized he held no grudge against Stengel for leaving him in.

The manager said, "I left him in there because I want to make him a starting pitcher — a nine inning pitcher — and he worked the equivalent of nine innings. Anyway, I don't think it hurt him. And it might make a better pitcher of him."

Elsewhere in exhibition action —the streaking St. Louis Cardinals made it eight in a row, shading the Cincinnati Reds 7-6; the New York Yankees tripped the Detroit Tigers 6-5 in 10 innings in the first meeting of the two American League contenders this spring; the Houston Colts trounced the Los Angeles Angels 7-0; the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Milwaukee Braves 7-3; the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Chicago White Sox 10-9; and the Chicago Cubs hammered the Cleveland Indians 10-4.

A seven-run explosion in the fourth inning, started by Ken Boyer's bases-empty homer and climaxed by Minnie Minoso's homer with two on, enabled the Cards to top the Reds. Cincinnati had jumped ahead 5-0 against Curt Simmons before the Cards found the range against Jim Maloney.

Pedro Gonzales, who was optioned to Richmond by the Yankees just before game time, bid farewell with a 10th-inning triple that drove in the winner against Detroit. John Blanchard, who singled before Gonzales' hit, also homered for the Yanks, as did Mickey Mantle. Rocky Colavito socked two for the Tigers.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS

"The Best Years of Our Lives," a brilliant study of postwar America.

"Henry V," the best Shakespeare film ever made.

Most of the ladies were nominated for love stories; Olivia de Havilland for "To Each His Own," Celia Johnson for "Brief Encounter," Jennifer Jones for "Duel in the Sun," Jane Wyman for "The Yearling." Plus Rosalind Russell for her brave portrait of "Sister Kenny."

The supporting actresses: Ethel Barrymore ("Spiral Staircase"); Anne Baxter ("Razor's Edge"); Flora Robson ("Saratoga Trunk"); Lillian Gish ("Duel in the Sun"); Gale Sondergaard ("Anna and the King of Siam").

The winners that year were "Best Years," March, de Havilland, Russell and Baxter.

The nominees this year?

Audrey Hepburn in "Breadfast at Tiffany's" plays a girl who gets tips of $50 a night from her many men friends; she falls in love with the boy upstairs—he's being kept by a wealthy female.

Piper Laurie in "The Hustler" is a crippled alcoholic who takes in Paul Newman, an unreformed pool shooter. Sophia Loren in "Two Women" is an Italian refugee who is notably free with her charms.

Action Begins After Decision

Many Suits May Be Filed On Legislatures' Balance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Supreme Court ruling that a citizen may ask a federal court to decide if his state's legislature is out of balance between city and rural representatives appears likely to set off court suits and special legislative sessions in many states.

One suit was filed within two hours after the decision was handed down Monday. A taxpayer in Atlanta asked that Georgia's county unit system be thrown out. Under the system, he argued, a man's vote in cities is worth much less than that of a country voter.

His argument is an old one. Many states have such suits pending. But the city voters had a new weapon in hand today in their long fight to prod rural representatives out of some of their seats in state capitols and get more representation for themselves.

Hopes Are Higher

In 1946 the Supreme Court said that "courts ought not to enter the political thicket. The remedy for unfairness in districting is to secure state legislatures that will apportion properly, or to invoke the ample powers of Congress."

Monday the court decided 6 to 2 a federal court can step in and determine whether city voters are unconstitutionally discriminated against in the apportionment of legislative seats.

The case had to do with Tennessee where there has been no reapportionment in 61 years. The decision had meaning in many other states.

In Pennsylvania, a watchdog group called the Committee of Seventy, declared it would bring suit unless the legislature redistricts during its session which begins in January.

May Call Session

Gov. John Patterson of Alabama said he may call a special session of the legislature. Last summer a group of Alabama voters sued in Montgomery, asking the district court to compel the legislature to reapportion itself. Their pending suit requested the court to force candidates for House and Senate to run at large this year unless the legislature was reapportioned.

In Topeka, Kan., Dist. Judge Marion Beatty said any action on a pending suit seeking to force reapportionment of the legislature would be delayed to permit all concerned to study the Supreme Court decision. Briefs had been due Friday.

In its decision in the Tennessee case, the Supreme Court said it would be improper for it to consider now what remedy would be most appropriate if the city voters prove their case at the trial.

Supreme Court sources, however, said this would be the follow-up on the ruling.

Will Hold Trial

After 25 days of the Supreme Court clerk notifies the special three-judge federal court in Nashville that it has authority to act on complaints. The special court will hold a trial to give complaining voters an opportunity to try to prove their claims.

If the special court decides that urban voters' rights to equal protection under the 14th Amendment have been denied, it will determine what remedies to order.

Solicitor General Archibald Cox, arguing before the Supreme Court in support of urban voters, suggested a simple declaration by the special court that present Tennessee districts are unconstitutional would probably lead to action by the Tennessee Legislature to correct inequities.

An election at large.

The value of votes of state senators and representatives be reduced by an amount necessary to offset over-representation — giving legislators fractional rather than full votes.

Democrats May Fight

In Albany, N.Y., observers said the Supreme Court decision foreshadows new court contests in Nev. York by Democrats seeking to end Republican control of the legislature.

The 1962 legislature had considered reapportioning seats this year and moving some from Democratic-controlled New York City to the predominantly Republican suburbs. Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller came out against the plan. Rockefeller, seeking re-election this year, was said to feel the Democrats might effectively charge discrimination and have a strong campaign weapon in New York City.

Points Way

In Maryland, the chief counsel of the Maryland Committee for Fair Representation, Alfred L. Scanlan, said the decision "points the way in the long run to doing away with this gross malapportionment of the legislature."

The citizens group is now pressing its case before the state's highest court.

Maryland hasn't been reapportioned in this century. This year the House passed a bill to give a majority of the seats to metropolitan areas but the Senate killed it.

Two suits are on file in Oklahoma and attorneys said they would press for decisions as soon as the Supreme Court decision can be studied.

WALLKILL NEWS

Woman's Club Elects Officers

WALLKILL — Mrs. Clare Ostrander was re-elected to her second one year term as president of the Wallkill Woman's Club Wednesday.

The club, meeting in the Community Hall, also celebrated the 50th anniversary of Girl Scouting and heard talks on scouting by Mrs. David Ennis, president of the Ulster County Council and Miss Frances Lynch, a Wallkill Senior who was area representative at the Colorado comporee last year and is an assistant at Camp Wendy, Wallkill.

Elected along with Mrs. Ostrander were Mrs. Laverne Hastings, first vice president who succeeds Mrs. Frederick Jansen who moved to Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Madalyn Witherel, second vice president; Miss Alice Sloan,recording secretary who succeeds Mrs. George Wildrick; Mrs. William McKinney, treaser; Mrs. Richard G. Schoonmaker corresponding secretary; and Mrs. John B. Sloan and Mrs. C. E. Penney, directors.

Mrs. Ennis gave a history of Girl Scouting in Ulster County and said the movement was led by Miss Mary Borden of Wallkill, who also donated 30-acres of land to start Camp Wendy in Wallkill. The camp is the official one for Ulster County Girl Scouts.

Community Notes

The Women's Republican Club of Wallkill will hold its regular meeting Wednesday, 7:30 p. m. at the Community Room of the Valley National Bank.

Mrs. Ernest Bell will show slides of her European trip. All Republican women may attend.

Mrs. John Scarzello, chairman of the Heart Fund Drive announced this week that further returns for the Heart Sunday campaign bring the total to $669.36. This still does not include Walker Valley contributions.

Friday evening, April 6, at 7:45 p. m., the teachers and officers of the Wallkill Reformed Sunday school will hold a meeting in the church hall of the Reformed Church. Superintendent Harry Vogt will preside.

Hope Choir Concert

The Hope College Chapel Choir of Holland, Mich., will present a sacred concert Thursday, April 5, at 8 p. m. in the Wallkill Reformed Church according to the Rev. Walter N. Van Popering, pastor.

The sixty-four voice choir, under the direction of Dr. Robert W. Cavenaugh, will appear in Wallkill, as part of its annual spring tour.

This year the choir will perform in Michigan, New York, New Jersey and Ontario, Canada. It marks the sixth year that the choir has made this extensive eastern trip. The choir has also made four western tours during the last ten years.

The music sung at the concert will consist entirely of sacred compositions and has been in preparation since last September. The variety of composers, styles and periods will make the concert appeal to both young and old.

The Chapel Choir was organized in 1929 and began its annual tours in 1953. Under the leadership of Dr. Cavenaugh it has become recognized as one of the outstanding college choirs in the country.

Of particular interest to Wallkill residents is the fact that a member of the choir is Miss Betty Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Cooper of Wallkill. She is a graduate of Wallkill Central School, and a member of the Wallkill Reformed Church.

The average American has to see his doctor about five times annually.

Assembly Votes Wilson Bill on Tax Installment

A bill sponsored by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R), providing for property and school tax collection by installments outside the cities, was passed today by the New York State Assembly.

In announcing passage of his bill, Assemblyman Wilson pointed out that the bill is permissive legislation and permits the collection of real property and school taxes in installments rather than in one payment.

Wilson said that for some years he has

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

Patrolman Moves For Reinstatement In Poughkeepsie

Arguments on a motion by former Poughkeepsie patrolman Frank M. O'Shea, seeking reinstatement on that city's police department, are scheduled for Monday, April 2 before Supreme Court Justice Clare Hoyt at Newburgh.

O'Shea was dismissed from the police department after the Poughkeepsie City Trial board found him guilty of departmental charges which accused him of "conduct not becoming an officer and a gentleman, and conduct subversive of good order and discipline of the police department."

Pleasant Spring Weather Over Most of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There were a few sections hit by light rain or snow but skies generally were fair and temperatures comparatively mild.

The only wet spots during the night were in parts of New England, with drizzle and light snow; the Pacific Northwest with showers and occasional rain, and in the eastern Carolinas which reported showers.

In Iowa, floods threatened Sioux City and Spencer as the melt of the heavy snow covering sent rivers out of their banks. Sioux City was threatened by overflows from the Floyd River on the east side of the city and by the Big Sioux River on the west side.

In Nebraska, West Point and Valley, in the northeast section, were hardest hit by the flooding Elkhorn River. Ten blocks of West Point, a town of about 2,600, were flooded, forcing the evacuation on Sunday of some 200 persons. An ice jam broke again Monday pouring more water over the inundated section.

Temperatures were in the 40s and 50s during the early morning most of the country. Below freezing marks were confined to most sections of the Great Lakes region, the upper Mississippi Valley and eastern South Dakota.

Challenges Sales Tax in Warren

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—An attorney for a citizens' group is challenging the legality of sales taxes scheduled to be imposed July 1 in Warren County.

His contention is another sign of spreading opposition to sales taxes adopted this month in Warren and in neighboring Washington and Essex counties.

The boards of supervisors of the three counties decided to impose a 3 per cent tax on motel and hotel bills and on restaurant checks of more than $1, and a 2 per cent tax on most retail sales.

John Hall of Warrensburg, speaking for Warren County residents who oppose the tax, said Monday night the minutes of the March 12 meeting at which the Warren County board purportedly acted did not show that a motion to levy the tax was introduced or seconded, or that it was voted on.

"Nowhere in these minutes is it shown that there was ever a vote taken on this important issue," he declared at a rally against the taxes. About 600 persons attended the rally.

Supervisor John J. Goetz of Glens Falls, chairman of the board, said later at his home that he had not inspected the minutes but that he was certain they would show the sales taxes had been adopted legally. He did not attend the rally.

Hall said the minutes recorded a 12-4 vote against a motion to table the sales-tax resolution, but nothing on the resolution's passage.

Broome Man Is Cleared of Charge In Stabbing Case

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—A 20-year-old man was cleared Monday night of a charge of first-degree manslaughter in the stabbing of a young father whose estranged wife he had been dating.

A Broome County Court jury acquitted Robert L. Sprague of Johnson City.

Police said Sprague had stabbed Robert A. Borgeson, 24, of Binghamton, four times with a three-inch pen knife last Nov. 28 during a fight in the rooming house where Sprague lived.

Borgeson had gone there with his wife, Carolyn, 20, to discuss personal problems, police said. The couple, parents of three, then had been separated for three months.

Senate Approves Choice of Boyle As SLA Member

Also approved Monday night was the reappointment of Dr. Finla C. Crawford of Andover to the State Power Authority.

The Liquor Commission post pays $19,500 annually and the Power Authority $10,000.

The Senate also confirmed these appointments to unsalaried positions

Mrs. George Buchanan of Hagaman, board of trustees, Guy Park House and Grounds, Amsterdam.

More Arguments Put Forth Against Abandoning Road

MALONE, N.Y. (AP)—Further arguments against abandonment of the strikebound Rutland Railroad were marshalled today as an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing continued.

The line has been idle since it was struck Sept. 25 by 400 employes.

Rep. Carleton King, R-N.Y., in a statement read at the hearing, said abandonment would harm the economy of Northern New York, which already was suffering from unemployment.

The abandonment, he said, would eliminate one of the factors that could attract needed industrial development.

Louis H. Wolters of San Francisco, treasurer of Foremost Dairies Inc., said his firm's plant at Heuvelton would be closed unless rail shipment was restored.

This, he said, would work a hardship on cheese-manufacturing concerns that supply the plant with whey.

Ralph Davis, of Malone, district manager of nine GLF stores in Franklin and Clinton counties, reported that $48,000 in higher shipping costs had been passed on to 1,045 customers since the strike began.

After today's session, the hearing moves to Rutland, Vt. Wednesday.

Nehru's Daughter In Forced Landing

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—A jet airliner carrying Mrs. Indira Gandhi daughter of India's Prime Minister Nehru, was forced to make an unscheduled landing here Monday night.

Northwest Airlines said the Boeing 720, carrying Mrs. Gandhi from Washington, D.C., to Seattle, showed unusually high oil consumption, and the pilot decided to land.

State Department personnel accompanying Mrs. Gandhi resumed their flight within an hour, but Mrs. Gandhi remained in Spokane overnight.

Word Due Friday On Reduction of Dairy Supports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has called a news conference Friday to announce a reduction in dairy price supports—undoubtedly to the minimum level permitted by law.

The new supports will go into effect April 1, the beginning of the 1962-63 dairy marketing year. At $3.40 a hundred pounds now for milk for manufacturing purposes, the new milk support probably will be set at $3.11. The rate for butterfat will be around 57.2 cents a pound compared with the present 60.4 cents.

President Kennedy and Freeman have told Congress that such a reduction will be necessary under the law. But they asked Congress to authorize, by resolution, continuation of the present rates through 1962. This extension would be designed to give Congress and dairymen time to come up with a dairy production control program.

But the House Agriculture Committee refused recently to approve such an extension. Administration leaders had hoped that the Senate might pass a resolution and give the full House an opportunity to vote on it. But this hope no longer exists.

The lower supports could be expected to be reflected in reductions of a few cents a pound in consumer prices of butter, cheese and non-fat dry milk and eventually in fluid milk.

Lancer Firm Is Going West, Out Of Shelter Trade

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Lancer Industries Inc. says it is quitting the fall-out shelter business and moving to California.

The Long Island firm was involved in the conflict-of-interest controversy concerning State Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, who for a time was a director of the firm.

Carlino, a Republican, was exonerated by the Assembly Committee on Ethics and Guidance.

Alfred Dallago, chairman of Lancer, announced Monday that the firm left the fallout-shelter business because of public and governmental apathy toward "the need for residential fallout shelters."

He said the company would move its headquarters to Lynwood, Calif., within the next few weeks.

Be Prepared for Skunks

The daily bulletin, issued to Redstone employes, cited a case of a near-collision on the reservation because a driver of a vehicle swerved to avoid a skunk crossing the road.

"Every driver should prepare himself mentally to avoid such emergencies," the daily bulletin said.

Traister Called Before Jury in Onondaga County

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—George L. Traister, former chairman of the Onondaga County Republican Committee, was under subpoena today to appear before a grand jury with GOP contribution records.

Traister, a former county treasurer, was subpoenaed Monday when he appeared for arraignment as a material witness in a vice case.

Traister resigned as county chairman and treasurer last year after he pleaded guilty to a charge of third-degree sodomy. He was placed on probation.

The subpoena ordered Traister to provide any records he has of contributions to the GOP county committee by William Hess, the Allied Chemical Corp., or any division or subsidiary of Allied, and four other companies.

Ruling Reopens Legislative Suit On Redistricting

NEW YORK (AP)—A U.S. Supreme Court ruling has led to reopening of a suit to have New York State's system of apportioning legislative seats declared unconstitutional.

In addition, Mayor Robert F. Wagner says he will have Corporation Counsel Leo A. Larkin examine the Supreme Court decision to determine what further action can be taken in behalf of New York City residents.

The high court, ruling Monday in a case brought by Tennessee city dwellers, held that the distribution of seats in state legislatures is subject to the constitutional scrutiny of federal courts.

The suits being reopened here was dismissed last January by a special three-judge federal court. The court held that the 14th amendment to the U.S. Constitution did not restrict the power of a state to—in effect—discriminate against geographical areas with respect to voting.

Plaintiffs in the suit—on the basis of the Supreme Court's departure from its traditional reluctance to get into questions of fairness in state legislative districting—will file a new brief this week. The brief will ask the Supreme Court to reverse the court that dismissed the suit.

The suit was filed May 1, 1961, by radio station WMCA, Peter Straus, its president, and five other individuals. The suit named state and city officials as defendants. Officials of the Republican-controlled state opposed it, but the Democratic city administration admitted the allegations of districting unfair to city areas. The city authorities—in effect—asked for the relief sought in the suit.

Program Listed To Train Jobless In Amsterdam

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A bill requested by Gov. Rockefeller to develop job skills in potential school-dropouts was before the Senate today.

In another development, the state education commissioner announced a $12,000, federally financed program to retrain jobless workers in Amsterdam, a chronic unemployment area.

The Rockefeller bill would appropriate $200,000, to be used to set up a part-time school program and part-time work program for youths 15 and over who are considered unlikely to finish school.

Education commissioner James E. Allen Jr. would allocate the money to public school districts participating in the program. Pilot programs now are underway in Buffalo, Rochester, Yonkers, Syracuse and Ithaca.

The Amsterdam Board of Education will conduct the program through its vocational - training program.

The project is the first in the state under the federal redevelopment act, which was designed to revitalize economically depressed areas.

Surveys for similar projects are under way in Franklin, Jefferson and Fulton counties, areas of chronic unemployment.

Given Life Term For 1959 Slaying

TANGIER, Morocco (AP) — William Edward Moore, a 29-year-old Englishman, was found guilty of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment Monday night for the 1959 slaying of Barbara Helen Mueller of New York City.

Miss Mueller, 19, disappeared after she checked out of her Tangier hotel room Nov. 20, 1959 preparing to return to the United States. Three weeks later her body was found bound in a sack in a nearby forest. Police checking her acquaintances said they found a number of her possessions in Moore's apartment and that he admitted clubbing her on the head and strangling her there.

Miss Mueller was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mueller of New York. Moore is a native of Wallasey, England.

Red Hook Takes First Steps About Planning Board

Initial steps toward a planning board in the Town of Red Hook have been taken, according to Town Supervisor William Moore, who stated a town board meeting is planned for April 4.

Twelve names have been selected for potential candidates for the planning board, and five will be selected to serve either at the next town board session or soon thereafter.

Contending that a planning board is a definite need for the town of Red Hook, Moore said, "if we want to attract industry, we are going to need action toward a planning board and then a zoning ordinance."

The supervisor stated that it is planned to select men for the planning board representing agriculture, business and other interests in the town. A board representing all sections of the town is planned.

Scientist Would Return to Soviet

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Alexei Golub, the Soviet biochemist whose defection last fall led to an airport fight between Dutch and Soviet officials, wants to return to the Soviet Union, the Foreign Ministry announced today.

The Foreign Ministry said Golub is in the Soviet Embassy and has asked for his passport.

Women May Be Answer to Acute EngineerProblem

NEW YORK (AP)—A government recruiter says that women may provide the ultimate answer to the acute shortage of engineers for aerospace and missile work.

William Howe, chief regional recruiter for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said in an interview, "We're definitely trying to interest high school and college girls in engineering.

"Without interesting women, we just can't see how we're going to meet our long range personnel objectives."

Action Begins After Decision

Many Suits May Be Filed On Legislatures' Balance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Supreme Court ruling that a citizen may ask a federal court to decide if his state's legislature is out of balance between city and rural representatives appears likely to set off court suits and special legislative sessions in many states.

One suit was filed within two hours after the decision was handed down Monday. A taxpayer in Atlanta asked that Georgia's county unit system be thrown out. Under the system, he argued, a man's vote in cities is worth much less than that of a country voter.

His argument is an old one. Many states have such suits pending. But the city voters had a new weapon in hand today in their long fight to prod rural representatives out of some of their seats in state capitols and get more representation for themselves.

Hopes Are Higher

Because of Monday's decision, their hopes were higher.

In 1946 the Supreme Court said that "courts ought not to enter the political thicket. The remedy for unfairness in districting is to secure state legislatures that will apportion properly, or to invoke the ample powers of Congress."

Monday the court decided 6 to 2 a federal court can step in and determine whether city voters are unconstitutionally discriminated against in the apportionment of legislative seats.

The case had to do with Tennessee where there has been no reapportionment in 61 years. The decision had meaning in many other states.

In Pennsylvania, a watchdog group called the Committee of Seventy, declared it would bring suit unless the legislature redistricts during its session which begins in January.

May Call Session

Gov. John Patterson of Alabama said he may call a special session of the legislature. Last summer a group of Alabama voters sued in Montgomery, asking the district court to compel the legislature to reapportion itself. Their pending suit requested the court to force candidates for House and Senate to run at large this year unless the legislature was reapportioned.

In Topeka, Kan., Dist. Judge Marion Beatty said any action on a pending suit seeking to force reapportionment of the legislature would be delayed to permit all concerned to study the Supreme Court decision. Briefs had been due Friday.

In its decision in the Tennessee case, the Supreme Court said it would be improper for it to consider now what remedy would be most appropriate if the city voters prove their case at the trial.

Supreme Court sources, however, said this would be the follow-up on the ruling.

Will Hold Trial

After 25 days of the Supreme Court clerk notifies the special three-judge federal court in Nashville that it has authority to act on complaints. The special court will hold a trial to give complaining voters an opportunity to try to prove their claims.

If the special court decides that urban voters' rights to equal protection under the 14th Amendment have been denied, it will determine what remedies to order.

Solicitor General Archibald Cox, arguing before the Supreme Court in support of urban voters, suggested a simple declaration by the special court that present Tennessee districts are unconstitutional would probably lead to action by the Tennessee Legislature to correct inequities.

An election at large.

The value of votes of state senators and representatives be reduced by an amount necessary to offset over-representation — giving legislators fractional rather than full votes.

Simple changes in legislative districts.

Opponents of such orders could appeal to the Supreme Court.

Democrats May Fight

In Albany, N.Y., observers said the Supreme Court decision foreshadows new court contests in Nev. York by Democrats seeking to end Republican control of the legislature.

The 1962 legislature had considered reapportioning seats this year and moving some from Democratic-controlled New York City to the predominantly Republican suburbs. Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller came out against the plan. Rockefeller, seeking re-election this year, was said to feel the Democrats might effectively charge discrimination and have a strong campaign weapon in New York City.

Points Way

In Maryland, the chief counsel of the Maryland Committee for Fair Representation, Alfred L. Scanlan, said the decision "points the way in the long run to doing away with this gross malapportionment of the legislature."

The citizens group is now pressing its case before the state's highest court.

Maryland hasn't been reapportioned in this century. This year the House passed a bill to give a majority of the seats to metropolitan areas but the Senate killed it.

Two suits are on file in Oklahoma and attorneys said they would press for decisions as soon as the Supreme Court decision can be studied.

Assembly Votes Wilson Bill on Tax Installment

A bill sponsored by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R), providing for property and school tax collection by installments outside the cities, was passed today by the New York State Assembly.

In announcing passage of his bill, Assemblyman Wilson pointed out that the bill is permissive legislation and permits the collection of real property and school taxes in installments rather than in one payment.

Wilson said that for some years he has expressed concern over the increasing burden of single annual payments of real property and school taxes. It is expected, he said, that this bill will help a great many taxpayers to make payments on time, thus, avoiding penalties and interest charges.

Assemblyman Wilson began actual preparation of the bill in August 1961. He conferred with Assemblyman Preller, chairman of the powerful Ways and Means Committee of the Assembly relative to his concern over the heavy burden imposed on many taxpayers by the single payment of taxes. Preller encouraged Assemblyman Wilson in his quest for relief.

Suggesting immediate study of the matter, Assemblyman Wilson began the preparation of his bill which at the time he said he hoped to have ready for the 1962 legislative session. The bill was drafted and presented to the Assembly in February of 1962, which body acted upon and passed the measure today.

It was pointed out by Assemblyman Wilson that taxes may still, under his bill, be paid in one installment by anyone so desiring, and he further pointed out that his bill should in no wise eliminate the position of the tax collector in the various towns.

WALLKILL NEWS

Woman's Club Elects Officers

WALLKILL — Mrs. Clare Ostrander was re-elected to her second one year term as president of the Wallkill Woman's Club Wednesday.

The club, meeting in the Community Hall, also celebrated the 50th anniversary of Girl Scouting and heard talks on scouting by Mrs. David Ennis, president of the Ulster County Council and Miss Frances Lynch, a Wallkill Senior who was area representative at the Colorado comporee last year and is an assistant at Camp Wendy, Wallkill.

Elected along with Mrs. Ostrander were Mrs. Laverne Hastings, first vice president who succeeds Mrs. Frederick Jansen who moved to Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Madalyn Witherel, second vice president; Miss Alice Sloan,recording secretary who succeeds Mrs. George Wildrick; Mrs. William McKinney, treaser; Mrs. Richard G. Schoonmaker corresponding secretary; and Mrs. John B. Sloan and Mrs. C. E. Penney, directors.

Mrs. Ennis gave a history of Girl Scouting in Ulster County and said the movement was led by Miss Mary Borden of Wallkill, who also donated 30-acres of land to start Camp Wendy in Wallkill. The camp is the official one for Ulster County Girl Scouts.

Community Notes

The Women's Republican Club of Wallkill will hold its regular meeting Wednesday, 7:30 p. m. at the Community Room of the Valley National Bank.

Mrs. Ernest Bell will show slides of her European trip. All Republican women may attend.

Mrs. John Scarzello, chairman of the Heart Fund Drive announced this week that further returns for the Heart Sunday campaign bring the total to $669.36. This still does not include Walker Valley contributions.

Patrolman Moves For Reinstatement In Poughkeepsie

Arguments on a motion by former Poughkeepsie patrolman Frank M. O'Shea, seeking reinstatement on that city's police department, are scheduled for Monday, April 2 before Supreme Court Justice Clare Hoyt at Newburgh.

O'Shea was dismissed from the police department after the Poughkeepsie City Trial board found him guilty of departmental charges which accused him of "conduct not becoming an officer and a gentleman, and conduct subversive of good order and discipline of the police department."

Pleasant Spring Weather Over Most of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There were a few sections hit by light rain or snow but skies generally were fair and temperatures comparatively mild.

The only wet spots during the night were in parts of New England, with drizzle and light snow; the Pacific Northwest with showers and occasional rain, and in the eastern Carolinas which reported showers.

In Iowa, floods threatened Sioux City and Spencer as the melt of the heavy snow covering sent rivers out of their banks. Sioux City was threatened by overflows from the Floyd River on the east side of the city and by the Big Sioux River on the west side.

In Nebraska, West Point and Valley, in the northeast section, were hardest hit by the flooding Elkhorn River. Ten blocks of West Point, a town of about 2,600, were flooded, forcing the evacuation on Sunday of some 200 persons. An ice jam broke again Monday pouring more water over the inundated section.

In Valley, where 90 per cent of the village had been flooded Monday, the water began flowing out late in the day.

Temperatures were in the 40s and 50s during the early morning most of the country. Below freezing marks were confined to most sections of the Great Lakes region, the upper Mississippi Valley and eastern South Dakota.

Challenges Sales Tax in Warren

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—An attorney for a citizens' group is challenging the legality of sales taxes scheduled to be imposed July 1 in Warren County.

His contention is another sign of spreading opposition to sales taxes adopted this month in Warren and in neighboring Washington and Essex counties.

The boards of supervisors of the three counties decided to impose a 3 per cent tax on motel and hotel bills and on restaurant checks of more than $1, and a 2 per cent tax on most retail sales.

John Hall of Warrensburg, speaking for Warren County residents who oppose the tax, said Monday night the minutes of the March 12 meeting at which the Warren County board purportedly acted did not show that a motion to levy the tax was introduced or seconded, or that it was voted on.

"Nowhere in these minutes is it shown that there was ever a vote taken on this important issue," he declared at a rally against the taxes. About 600 persons attended the rally.

Supervisor John J. Goetz of Glens Falls, chairman of the board, said later at his home that he had not inspected the minutes but that he was certain they would show the sales taxes had been adopted legally. He did not attend the rally.

Hall said the minutes recorded a 12-4 vote against a motion to table the sales-tax resolution, but nothing on the resolution's passage.

Broome Man Is Cleared of Charge In Stabbing Case

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—A 20-year-old man was cleared Monday night of a charge of first-degree manslaughter in the stabbing of a young father whose estranged wife he had been dating.

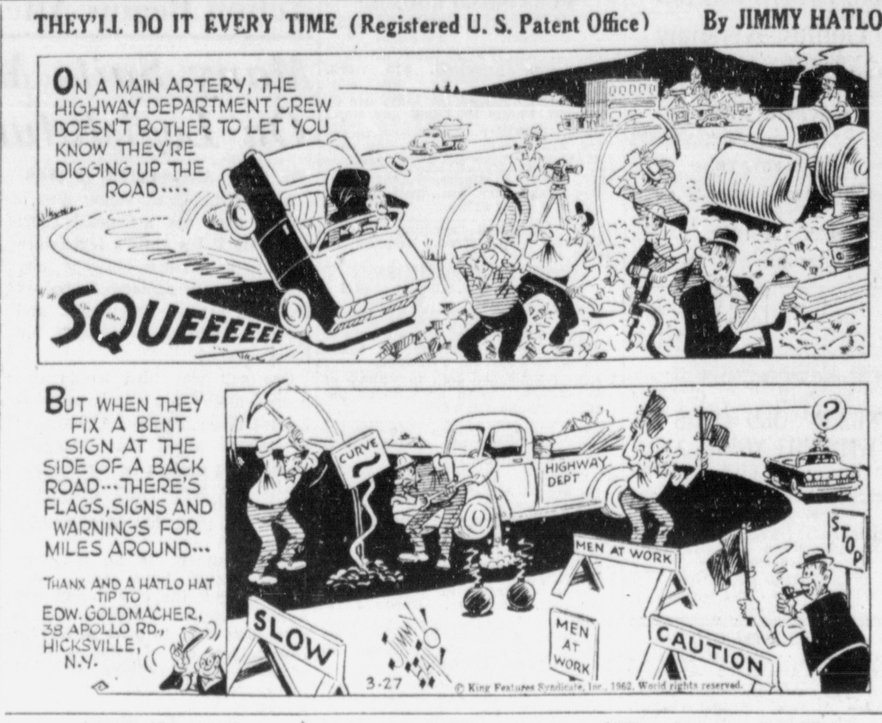

A Broome County Court jury acquitted Robert L. Sprague of Johnson City.

Police said Sprague had stabbed Robert A. Borgeson, 24, of Binghamton, four times with a three-inch pen knife last Nov. 28 during a fight in the rooming house where Sprague lived.

Borgeson had gone there with his wife, Carolyn, 20, to discuss personal problems, police said. The couple, parents of three, then had been separated for three months.

Senate Approves Choice of Boyle As SLA Member

Also approved Monday night was the reappointment of Dr. Finla C. Crawford of Andover to the State Power Authority.

The Liquor Commission post pays $19,500 annually and the Power Authority $10,000.

The Senate also confirmed these appointments to unsalaried positions

Mrs. George Buchanan of Hagaman, board of trustees, Guy Park House and Grounds, Amsterdam.

Dr. Eric S. Green of Rush and John H. Klitgord of Lima, board of visitors, State Agricultural and Industrial School at Industry.

More Arguments Put Forth Against Abandoning Road

MALONE, N.Y. (AP)—Further arguments against abandonment of the strikebound Rutland Railroad were marshalled today as an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing continued.

Opponents of the proposed abandonment of the line argued Monday that Northern New York farmers and businessmen would be hurt by increased transportation costs.

The line has been idle since it was struck Sept. 25 by 400 employes.

Rep. Carleton King, R-N.Y., in a statement read at the hearing, said abandonment would harm the economy of Northern New York, which already was suffering from unemployment.

The abandonment, he said, would eliminate one of the factors that could attract needed industrial development.

Louis H. Wolters of San Francisco, treasurer of Foremost Dairies Inc., said his firm's plant at Heuvelton would be closed unless rail shipment was restored.

This, he said, would work a hardship on cheese-manufacturing concerns that supply the plant with whey.

Ralph Davis, of Malone, district manager of nine GLF stores in Franklin and Clinton counties, reported that $48,000 in higher shipping costs had been passed on to 1,045 customers since the strike began.

After today's session, the hearing moves to Rutland, Vt. Wednesday.

Nehru's Daughter In Forced Landing

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—A jet airliner carrying Mrs. Indira Gandhi daughter of India's Prime Minister Nehru, was forced to make an unscheduled landing here Monday night.

Northwest Airlines said the Boeing 720, carrying Mrs. Gandhi from Washington, D.C., to Seattle, showed unusually high oil consumption, and the pilot decided to land.

State Department personnel accompanying Mrs. Gandhi resumed their flight within an hour, but Mrs. Gandhi remained in Spokane overnight.

Word Due Friday On Reduction of Dairy Supports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has called a news conference Friday to announce a reduction in dairy price supports—undoubtedly to the minimum level permitted by law.

The new supports will go into effect April 1, the beginning of the 1962-63 dairy marketing year. At $3.40 a hundred pounds now for milk for manufacturing purposes, the new milk support probably will be set at $3.11. The rate for butterfat will be around 57.2 cents a pound compared with the present 60.4 cents.

President Kennedy and Freeman have told Congress that such a reduction will be necessary under the law. But they asked Congress to authorize, by resolution, continuation of the present rates through 1962. This extension would be designed to give Congress and dairymen time to come up with a dairy production control program.

But the House Agriculture Committee refused recently to approve such an extension. Administration leaders had hoped that the Senate might pass a resolution and give the full House an opportunity to vote on it. But this hope no longer exists.

The lower supports could be expected to be reflected in reductions of a few cents a pound in consumer prices of butter, cheese and non-fat dry milk and eventually in fluid milk.

Lancer Firm Is Going West, Out Of Shelter Trade

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Lancer Industries Inc. says it is quitting the fall-out shelter business and moving to California.

The Long Island firm was involved in the conflict-of-interest controversy concerning State Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, who for a time was a director of the firm.

Carlino, a Republican, was exonerated by the Assembly Committee on Ethics and Guidance.

Alfred Dallago, chairman of Lancer, announced Monday that the firm left the fallout-shelter business because of public and governmental apathy toward "the need for residential fallout shelters."

He said the company would move its headquarters to Lynwood, Calif., within the next few weeks.

Be Prepared for Skunks

The daily bulletin, issued to Redstone employes, cited a case of a near-collision on the reservation because a driver of a vehicle swerved to avoid a skunk crossing the road.

"Every driver should prepare himself mentally to avoid such emergencies," the daily bulletin said.

Traister Called Before Jury in Onondaga County

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—George L. Traister, former chairman of the Onondaga County Republican Committee, was under subpoena today to appear before a grand jury with GOP contribution records.

Traister, a former county treasurer, was subpoenaed Monday when he appeared for arraignment as a material witness in a vice case.

Traister resigned as county chairman and treasurer last year after he pleaded guilty to a charge of third-degree sodomy. He was placed on probation.

The subpoena ordered Traister to provide any records he has of contributions to the GOP county committee by William Hess, the Allied Chemical Corp., or any division or subsidiary of Allied, and four other companies.

The subject of the grand jury inquiry was not revealed.

Ruling Reopens Legislative Suit On Redistricting

NEW YORK (AP)—A U.S. Supreme Court ruling has led to reopening of a suit to have New York State's system of apportioning legislative seats declared unconstitutional.

In addition, Mayor Robert F. Wagner says he will have Corporation Counsel Leo A. Larkin examine the Supreme Court decision to determine what further action can be taken in behalf of New York City residents.

The high court, ruling Monday in a case brought by Tennessee city dwellers, held that the distribution of seats in state legislatures is subject to the constitutional scrutiny of federal courts.

The suits being reopened here was dismissed last January by a special three-judge federal court. The court held that the 14th amendment to the U.S. Constitution did not restrict the power of a state to—in effect—discriminate against geographical areas with respect to voting.

Plaintiffs in the suit—on the basis of the Supreme Court's departure from its traditional reluctance to get into questions of fairness in state legislative districting—will file a new brief this week. The brief will ask the Supreme Court to reverse the court that dismissed the suit.

The suit was filed May 1, 1961, by radio station WMCA, Peter Straus, its president, and five other individuals. The suit named state and city officials as defendants. Officials of the Republican-controlled state opposed it, but the Democratic city administration admitted the allegations of districting unfair to city areas. The city authorities—in effect—asked for the relief sought in the suit.

Papers in the suit, giving an example of the things the plaintiffs sought to correct, noted that:

Program Listed To Train Jobless In Amsterdam

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A bill requested by Gov. Rockefeller to develop job skills in potential school-dropouts was before the Senate today.

In another development, the state education commissioner announced a $12,000, federally financed program to retrain jobless workers in Amsterdam, a chronic unemployment area.

The Rockefeller bill would appropriate $200,000, to be used to set up a part-time school program and part-time work program for youths 15 and over who are considered unlikely to finish school.

Education commissioner James E. Allen Jr. would allocate the money to public school districts participating in the program. Pilot programs now are underway in Buffalo, Rochester, Yonkers, Syracuse and Ithaca.

Allen said 120 persons would be trained to operate industrial sewing machines in the federal project at Amsterdam.

A state survey showed that 135 sewing machine operators were needed in that Mohawk Valley city.

The Amsterdam Board of Education will conduct the program through its vocational - training program.

The project is the first in the state under the federal redevelopment act, which was designed to revitalize economically depressed areas.

Given Life Term For 1959 Slaying

Miss Mueller, 19, disappeared after she checked out of her Tangier hotel room Nov. 20, 1959 preparing to return to the United States. Three weeks later her body was found bound in a sack in a nearby forest. Police checking her acquaintances said they found a number of her possessions in Moore's apartment and that he admitted clubbing her on the head and strangling her there.

Miss Mueller was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mueller of New York. Moore is a native of Wallasey, England.

Red Hook Takes First Steps About Planning Board

Initial steps toward a planning board in the Town of Red Hook have been taken, according to Town Supervisor William Moore, who stated a town board meeting is planned for April 4.

Twelve names have been selected for potential candidates for the planning board, and five will be selected to serve either at the next town board session or soon thereafter.

Contending that a planning board is a definite need for the town of Red Hook, Moore said, "if we want to attract industry, we are going to need action toward a planning board and then a zoning ordinance."

The supervisor stated that it is planned to select men for the planning board representing agriculture, business and other interests in the town. A board representing all sections of the town is planned.

Scientist Would Return to Soviet

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Alexei Golub, the Soviet biochemist whose defection last fall led to an airport fight between Dutch and Soviet officials, wants to return to the Soviet Union, the Foreign Ministry announced today.

The Foreign Ministry said Golub is in the Soviet Embassy and has asked for his passport.

The ministry ordered an investigation to make sure that Golub wanted to return home of his own free will.

A spokesman for the Soviet Embassy refused to comment but confirmed that Golub was in the embassy building.

Women May Be Answer to Acute Engineer Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—A government recruiter says that women may provide the ultimate answer to the acute shortage of engineers for aerospace and missile work.

William Howe, chief regional recruiter for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said in an interview, "We're definitely trying to interest high school and college girls in engineering.

"Without interesting women, we just can't see how we're going to meet our long range personnel objectives."

Howe joined scores of talent hunters from private segments of the aerospace and electronics industries in an elaborate project for interviewing engineers assembled here for the 1962 convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers.
